To Permit
Jerusalem
Yule Visit

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP) — Despite tension along the armistice line between Jordan and Israel, Arab officials are preparing to open the barbed wire Friday and let more than 5,000 Israelis into the holy city of Jerusalem for Christmas.

These are the Arab Christians of Israel, cut off from their relatives in the Arab world for the past 18 years of Arab-Israeli conflict.

Usually Closed

Throughout the year the armistice lines are closed except to diplomats, U.N. officials and some tourists, and no Arab or Israeli can cross through the Mandelbaum Gate, the only authorized passage through the no-man's land. As at the Berlin Wall, anyone who tries to cross illegally runs the risk of getting shot.

Since 1950, however, under a U.N. agreement, the red and white striped barrier of Mandelbaum has been raised at Christmas to let a selected list of Christian Arabs cross. Each year the number has grown. No matter how high the tension between the two sides, the Christmas crossing has taken place every year.

5,276 Applied

Jordanian officials in the U.N. liaison office said 5,276 applicants would walk across the truce lines Friday morning — a record number — and stay in Jordan until Christmas night.

Despite the recent crisis in Jordan, with riots and demonstrations sweeping the western part of the country, the Holy Land returned to tranquility as thousands of visitors were expected to converge from around the world for the sacred rites at Christ's birthplace in Bethlehem.

Indicate Mayes,
Kellerman to Get
BPW Promotions

Two promotions in Kingston's public works department are expected to become effective after Jan. 1, it was learned today.

Emerson Mayes, of 117 Clinton Avenue, who has been with the department since the administration of former Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman in the 1930's is expected to be named supervisor of foremen and John V. Kellerman, of 199 Gross Street, is due to become a foreman.

In his new post Mayes will assist Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, and Cole's assistant Max Oppenheimer. Kellerman, who has been with the department about eight years, is now a motor vehicle operator.

'Pitiful Sight,' Witness Declares
As Mishap Claims Eight Youngsters

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Tons of sand spilled from a tractor-trailer onto a school bus loaded with 30 children Wednesday, crushing the bus, killing eight youngsters and injuring 13.

The 10 tons of wet sand cascaded onto the bus as the trailer flipped over after turning a corner and scraping the side of the bus at an intersection near

City Budget for 1966

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghian today estimated that a complete 1967 city budget will fix a tax rate 47 cents under the $70.95 per $1,000 of assessed valuation in 1966.

This slightly lower rate, he said, appears possible despite "figures in the 1967 budget for better city government which were not in the 1966 budget." They total $113,675.

Proposes 18 New Sums
Among the 18 proposed additional sums in the new budget is one of $8,000 to be included for the Kingston City Library bringing its total for next year to $38,000. This sum, the mayor indicated, is to be included only for next year because he feels the library should get assistance from school and county sources.

Another item of $6,000 is to be included to cover city costs (one-third) for demolition of city-owned structures most of which are in the Seventh Ward. They are to be razed, he noted, because if the city expects individual property owners to adhere to building code provisions, it must do its share.

Among downtown landmarks to be razed is the former Orpheum Theatre.

Listed Increases
Listed increases include $15,000 for the state retirement plan, $7,000 for social security, and a contingent fund increase of $1,650.

Land purchase for the John F. Kennedy Park planned for Kingston Point will cost $7,425, and a proposed new parking area near City Hall is estimated to cost $11,600.

It was also planned to build a playground in the Summer Street area to be known as Bloom Park at an estimated cost of $7,000 and to make other park improvements at $2,000, and improvements at the Kingston Point Beach at $2,000.

All Budget Items
The parking, park and beach improvements are all new budget items and not just increases in regular budget provisions.

Others included are $3,600 for a new recreation department tractor, an increase in garbage collection contracts of $10,950, new street lights on a section of Broadway, $11,000, improvements at police headquarters, $2,000, a new inspector for the Housing Code Commission, $6,000, Human Relations Commission, $6,500, and election cost increase of $2,450, and assessor's office equipment, $3,500.

Other minor improvements, the mayor said, "have been taken care of," and city capital improvement bonds have been reduced by $268,041.43 in 1966, and general city notes were reduced by $84,672.

Reports Surplus
After noting city deficits as reported in his annual message, he reported a 1967 budget surplus of $17,114.20. This, he said, "is a true surplus and there are no old deficits to be taken care of."

Totals for the 1967 budget were not available for release today. The 1966 total was $2,942,503.21 with $2,792,648.21 to be raised by taxes.

Double Blow Dealt
Enemy Strongholds

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Long-range U.S. B52 bombers delivered a double blow at Communist strongholds in Vietnam today.

One formation of the heavy bombers flew in from Guam to strike before dawn at Viet Cong bunkers and fortifications in War Zone C about 45 miles northwest of Saigon.

Slam Infiltrators
A second wave hit late in the afternoon at infiltrating North Vietnamese troops in the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Vietnam.

Amplifying an earlier report, the U.S. Navy reported that two Phantom jets from the carrier Kitty Hawk shot down two slow-moving enemy planes over the Gulf of Tonkin Tuesday night and the pilots saw them explode.

An earlier announcement said only that the enemy planes had disappeared from radar detection screens. The announcement today said the planes were detected as they were heading in the direction of the nuclear-powered U.S. cruiser Long Beach but did not say they were trying to attack her.

In other developments: Aussies Sending More — Prime Minister Harold Holt announced in Canberra that Australia is beefing up its 4,500-man contingent in Vietnam to 6,300 men early next year. He said Australia will send 900 more soldiers, the guided-missile destroyer Hobart and a squadron of eight Canberra jet bombers.

Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, North Vietnam's defense minister, pledged to fight on until complete victory for the Communists, declaring in Hanoi that the Communists "are determined to fight and are sure to defeat" the Americans.

Koreans Note Toll
— The Korean Military Command, in a weekend summary, announced that its troops have killed 5,559 of the enemy and captured 1,529 in the past year. The Korean force of 45,000 men lost 539 killed and 1,442 wounded, the summary said.

U.S. headquarters, in its weekly casualty report, said 88 Americans were killed and 433 wounded in combat last week, compared with 83 killed and 559 wounded the previous week.

Vietnamese headquarters said 190 government soldiers were killed in the week ending last Saturday, compared with 216 the previous week. U.S. headquarters reported 825 enemy killed and 88 captured; the week before the report was 589 killed and 235 captured.

U.S. headquarters also reported American troop strength in Vietnam reached 371,000 men last Saturday, an increase of 3,000 over the previous week. Since Saturday, elements of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division have arrived and the total strength is now close to 375,000 men.

The U.S. Military Command reported scattered small-scale ground fighting in South Vietnam but no major engagements.

American pilots flew 81 bombing missions over North Vietnam Wednesday, and U.S. headquarters said generally poor weather limited most of the strikes to the southern part of the country.

Skyhawk Downed
The headquarters said one Navy A4 Skyhawk jet was shot down by ground fire and the pilot is missing. It was the 451st U.S. plane reported downed over North Vietnam in the war.

Today was the eighth day of B52 raids inside or around the Demilitarized Zone. The repeated raids are designed to smash a buildup of North Vietnamese troops who U.S. authorities believe will be sent south.

Will Air Cave Plans
For Usage by County

BY WALTER S. CLARK JR.
Freeman Staff Writer

Proposals for locating the Ulster County Fire Control Center in the new ultra-modern top security underground vault planned for Rosendale and using a section of the old cave project for storage of vital county, town and village records and for an alternate government seat in event of disaster, have been advanced by Supervisor Gerard DeFelicis (R-Rosendale).

Discusses Possibilities
The Rosendale supervisor after attending a luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Wednesday, during which executives of the National Storage Co., Inc., of Boyers, Pa., announced plans of the firm for the planned top security vault services, discussed the possibilities of area governmental uses of the facility.

Supervisor DeFelicis told The Freeman today that "after the holidays" he plans to meet with the Building and Sites Committee of the Board of Supervisors to arrange meetings with Larry Yont, president of the National Storage, and A. Dougless Walker, executive vice-president of the firm, to discuss those proposals involving the control center, alternate seat of county government and storage of vital records.

Tells of Operations
During his remarks yesterday to public officials, bankers, service club representatives, businessmen and press and radio Yont told of the operations of the company at the Boyers, Pa. facility which represents 80 acres of overhead protective storage and services some 600 accounts.

He outlined plans of the company to construct the underground vault in the old cement caves at Rosendale on property leased for 99 years from the present owner, A. J. Snyder, owner of Century Cement Company. Yont noted that the caves or mines have a ground level entrance of 26 feet in height, and a total underground area comprising about two million square feet and up to 200 feet of solid limestone cover.

Tremendous Responsibility
"We are engaged in a tremendous responsibility of safeguarding vital records," Yont said. He emphasized the importance of protecting governmental and other important records and cited instances where disaster struck in many areas and wiped out records that forced companies out of business.

Yont noted that in the Boyers facility 150 people report five days each week for work in the underground facility of their company.

companies in safeguarding records.

Yont said that one of the company's largest clients in the Pennsylvania facility is the Westinghouse Electric, which occupies 60,000 square feet of floor space 220 feet below the ground level. Westinghouse stores about 200,000 cartons of records in the Boyers vault, in addition to 70,000 rolls of micro-film. The company executive explained the operations to speed up contact to get information by the companies using the vault from distant offices of the individual firms.

Asked if the Rosendale vault could be used to protect Hudson Valley residents in the event of disaster, Yont replied, "We couldn't lock them out, but we are not developing space for such purposes."

National Storage's executive vice-president, Walker, explained future plans of the company in developing the 32 acres of old cement caves at Rosendale, and said work already has started on steadily increasing in "surprise tactics, the means of warfare used, and the damage inflicted."

Called Key to End
Stressing his belief that good will was the key to end the conflict, the Pope went on:

"We would like to think that this miracle of good will is still possible. So, respectfully and fervently, we appeal to both contending parties and to all who lend support to either side."

A few hours earlier, in Geneva, the World Council of Churches, which groups more than 200 Protestant, Anglican, Orthodox and Old Catholic churches in more than 80 nations, renewed its plea for peace in Vietnam. An appeal signed by general secretary Eugene Carson Blake, and Franklin Clark Fry, chairman of the

Empty Victory Possible
"We are impelled to plead once more for an end to the mounting strife which at most could lead to an empty victory. We earnestly hope that, in proposing or agreeing to a Christmas and New Year cease-fire, the combatants may be indicating a readiness for some form of negotiation. We cannot pray worthily this Christmas unless at the same time we press all parties to cease their violence now and to seek an early peace."

As the Vatican completed preparations to broadcast the message around much of the world through its own radio facilities and foreign networks, sources said the Pope was certain to repeat his oft-stated desire that the Asian war be ended.

The Vatican also was making final arrangements for the Pope's historic auto trip to Florence Saturday to celebrate Christmas Eve midnight Mass and demonstrate his sympathy for the flood-stricken center of Renaissance art and science.

In his last peace appeal Dec. 8, the Pope asked that the holiday truces in Vietnam be extended into a lasting armistice.

Message Recorded
Pope Paul recorded his Christmas message for radio and television Wednesday at his desk in the private study next to his apartment. Vatican short-wave radio commentators prepared translations in 33 languages, including those of the European Communist countries.

Usually, the pontiff celebrates Christmas Eve midnight Mass in the Sistine Chapel a few yards from his apartment. Pope Paul decided to go to Florence this year to comfort victims of Italy's disastrous November floods and to focus attention on their urgent needs.

He reportedly will deliver in person part of the $1.6 million donated for flood relief by Roman Catholics in other countries.

Bell Weighing Court Test on
At-Large Names

H. Clark Bell, District Constitutional Convention Delegate from the 38th District of Dutchess and Ulster Counties, said today he is considering challenging the constitutionality of the special law passed in 1965 which set up the method of voting for Delegates-At-Large to the Constitutional Convention.

Last week, Bell wrote to Secretary of State, John P. Lorenzo, requesting that he conduct a state-wide investigation to determine if the method of voting for Delegates-At-Large resulted in voting irregularities and inequities on a state-wide basis similar to those complained of in the 38th District of Dutchess and Ulster Counties.

Bell said many citizens called him complaining that they had been robbed of their right to cast an effective ballot on the office of Delegate-At-Large be-

He said the Vietnam war was reached Wednesday in New York City at a meeting between officials of the company, representatives of Local 301, International Union of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, and Assistant Labor Secretary James Reynolds.

The terms were not made public immediately.

To Study Proposal
John Shambo, business agent for the local, said the proposal would be submitted to the executive board today. If approved, he said, the peace formula would be submitted to rank-and-file for approval or rejection.

Shambo said he was offering the proposal because "progress has been made and I'll heed the recommendations of the secretary" (Reynolds).

The union struck Oct. 17 in a dispute over what its leaders have called local issues.

At the conclusion of Wednesday's session, Reynolds said the negotiators had reached "a basis for understanding that hopefully will conclude the dispute."

Hopes for Return
"I cherish the hope that work at the plant will be resumed at an early date in a climate of good will," Reynolds said before returning to Washington.

Reynolds invited the company and union representatives to talks last week after discussions in Schenectady broke down.

A long session ended about 2:30 a.m. Wednesday and the negotiators were back at the table by mid-morning. Announcement of the settlement came about three hours later.

Fonald E. Craig, a GE vice president, said in Schenectady for the proposal was announced that "all of us...should be deeply grateful for the effort, hard work and overall effectiveness demonstrated by secretary Reynolds."

GREETINGS

Hints from Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:
I just read about the lady who said she froze her angel food cake so she could cut it in nice slices. Tell her just to try using her electric knife. . . .
She can get perfect slices, even from a very fresh cake.
Mrs. J. Corder

Who would ever have thought it? It really works!
Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Some time ago I needed a bath mat.
The thought struck me to cut up an old mattress pad. By cutting the good material out of the old pad, I made a nice bath mat.

Sacked-Out at Laundry

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—Police were dispatched recently to a self-service laundry to investigate a report that a man's body had been stuffed into a clothes dryer.
Officers found a man in the machine. He told them he was "looking for some place warm to sleep."

50 inches long and 21 inches wide. It is nicely padded, easily laundered.

Since mine came out of a corner of the mattress cover it is bound on three sides, this left only one side to be handstitched. Wonderful for a bathroom.
Mrs. E. Schuster

Dear Heloise:
One day after completing a dress I'd made, I found I'd neglected to purchase a belt kit.

So I rummaged through my older things and found a "store-made" fabric-covered belt, which I did not use any more.
I removed the old cloth cover and put on the new material.
I did a buttonhole stitch around the eyes in the belt and it turned out perfectly.
I saved buying a belt kit and I really find these belts more durable.
Bertha Mae

Dear Heloise:
If you freeze water in a large milk carton for 24 hours, it will have an "unfrozen" center filled with water. Remove the carton, puncture and drain the water out of the soft center.

without breaking the ice.
Refill the center with colored water or bits of canned fruit—and rewrap the ice block with foil and freeze solidly.

This makes an attractive chunk of ice to float in a punch bowl.
Mrs. Clyde Richardson

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:
If people who have changed their address, would put their new address on their Christmas cards (as well as the envelopes) . . . they would hear from more people at Christmas time.
Mrs. Stubblefield

Dear Heloise:
If you or your daughters like pill box hats and can't afford a one, I found a way to make them for almost nothing!
I cut the bottom off a plastic bleach jug about 2 1/2 inches high. This makes the base for a darling pill box hat. Then cover this base with scraps of material by gluing them on.
Buy bits of netting, lace, flowers and a hat band. Holes can be punched in the plastic to at-

To Art Center Board

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Assembly Majority Leader Moses Weinstein and William Pfeiffer, former Republican state campaign director, have been appointed to the board of directors of the Saratoga Performing Arts Center.

Gene Robb, president of the Center and publisher of Albany newspapers, announced the selections Wednesday.

Pfeiffer, now an executive vice president of the Albany Savings Bank, served as Gov. Rockefeller's campaign manager in 1962 and 1966.

Weinstein, of Queens, is the second-ranking Democrat in the Assembly, following Speaker Anthony J. Travia.

tach decorations and hat band. You have a new pill box hat that cost so little.

I made several in different colors to match my dresses.
Helen Bishop

Dear Heloise:
To dry toddlers pajamas thoroughly they should be turned inside out, especially those with plastic soles. Otherwise the pajamas may feel dry but be damp under the plastic sole.
This should be done even when pajamas are dried in dryers.
Mildred McKenzie

Dear Heloise:
Discarded Christmas card boxes with the clear plastic tops can be utilized as cute cookie containers for gifts.

The paper bottom part can be covered with adhesive-backed paper. After cookies are packed in the box, a piece of clear plastic wrap covers the top and the plastic cover is placed back in place.
Small containers of homemade cookies or candy are always welcome on visits to hospitals, homes and at church bazaars.
W. M. Sokol

Dear Heloise:
Men who use kits for their shaving gear and toilet articles will find that lining the bottom of it with paper towels will help absorb the moisture of the articles placed therein.

The kits will hold up much longer and metal articles will not rust as quickly.
Frank J. Hafner

Dear Heloise:
I've got a good one for those who ruin their postage stamps. My brother Mike always accepted my postage stamps that didn't have any glue on them.
He simply licked the flap of the envelope that he was using . . . carefully licked the stamp and rubbed it on the glued part of the envelope. He then pasted it on the envelope.
Instantly the once-ruined stamp becomes good again.
Cost me a few stamps to learn—but he will not get them any more—I'm going to use them.
R. M.

Dear Heloise:
Attach notebook rings to the zipper of your youngster's boots. This not only gives a better grip, but permits the boots to be hooked together at school.

Conduct Takes Strange Turn

Experts Avoid Predicting What LBJ Will Do in 1967

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It looks new, what's been happening, but then it doesn't because a whiff of the past comes through. But underneath it all there is something really new with a deep difference, President Johnson.

Take that tax increase, for instance. Right now Johnson is supposed to be deciding whether to ask Congress for one. Just at this time last year he was trying to decide the same thing. He decided no.

Nothing Expected Again

In the past week the Johnson administration began its annual peace attempt, asked U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, to see what he could do about getting peace negotiations on Vietnam started.

The Communist world hooted. Phony, it said. That's what it said last year when Johnson sent peace emissaries around the world. Nothing came of it then, nothing is expected to come of it now.

Then there's the phrase which irritates Johnson vastly: the "credibility gap." Just about this time last year Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made a confession: "We have a great problem here maintaining our credibility."

He meant with foreigners and with Americans at home.

These widespread doubts, he explained, deal with whether the United States can be trusted to tell the truth about one or another private peace feeler with whoever its leaders "really are pursuing what has been said is a path of peace."

The story behind this was a rumor about a peace feeler from the North Vietnamese Communists. It got all complex and mixed up.

Last week American credibility got involved again when Red China charged that U.S. planes bombed residential areas in Hanoi, the capital of North Vietnam. Government officials here denied it, saying military targets had been bombed.

This came just as the credibility of the Johnson administration in general was being assailed.

Almost Like Same Old Thing

But even a thing like the President's operation and recuperation isn't new. On Oct. 8, 1965 he had his gall bladder and a kidney stone removed, then went to his Texas ranch to recuperate. There he prepared his budget and messages for the Congress returning in 1966.

This year, on Nov. 16, he had some minor surgery, went to his Texas ranch to recuperate, and there has been working on his programs for the Congress coming back in 1967.

Up to this point everything looks like the same old thing all over again. But not quite.

When Johnson went to the hospital in October 1965, he had behind him the most miraculous performance in peacetime legislation that any Congress in history had ever achieved. It was a stunning job.

It was more than that. It was tremendous testimony to Johnson's extraordinary leadership in dealing with Congress.

But he had no such luck in 1966 and may never have again. The road was down this year, in influence and in politics. He failed to do his full share in the

Research Doubts Theory of Dreams Generated by TV

NEW YORK—A new report on scientific research into sleep showed that children had "more bad dreams" after watching a baseball documentary on television than they did after they watched "a violent western melodrama," according to an article in the current issue of Redbook, released today.

The study, conducted by Dr. David Foulkes and his associates at University of Wyoming among children aged six to 12, led the scientists to theorize that television violence possibly served "as a kind of emotional catharsis." The results put into question the assumptions of many parents who "have blamed gruesome television programs for the bad dreams of their children."

Explode Theory

Other studies indicated that parents may be wrong to wake a child during nightmares. "It would seem that if a child didn't happen to awaken spontaneously from a nightmare, he probably would never remember it," the article said. "When a dreaming child moans in anguish or terror, an adult feels an impulse to awaken and comfort him; but intervention may not be helpful."

The authors, Dr. Julius Segal, a psychologist, and Gay Luce, reported some scientific evidence suggested that even unborn babies, still in the womb, dream. "Perhaps the first and most important purposes of the dream state are to stimulate this preparation for life," Redbook said. Pre-natal sleep "provides the infant with a substitute for outside experience by exercising the nervous system," an activity necessary for brain development.

Express Doubt

Redbook's report expressed doubt concerning the assertions of commercial recording companies "that a sleeper can learn French or benefit from a course in salesmanship while asleep."

"Scientists in this country have never been able to demonstrate that such complex learning is possible, and their experiments make it seem doubtful indeed," the article said.

Too Many Projects

WILLIAMSBURG, Mass. (AP)—That was a fine-looking quilt the Congregational Church women sold at their bazaar. Trouble was, it wasn't theirs. The blanket had been mailed in as a project for a quilting bee and accidentally got mixed up with the bazaar goods. Now the church women are trying to find the lucky buyer so they can return the quilt to its rightful owner.

political campaigns and the Republicans, made gains in the elections.

For a man as outgoing, backslapping and talkative as Johnson, his conduct took a strange turn: He has talked practically not at all since the elections, he has stayed cooped up in his ranch, he has remained silent as criticism piled up on him.

This is a brand new Johnson. Johnson in these past few months has become a kind of huge puzzle with no one venturing a prediction of what he will do or even what he will be like in the coming year.

Hopeful of Pact This Weekend in Mohawk Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for a machinists union on strike against Mohawk Airlines has expressed hope that the dispute can be settled by this weekend.

William Scherl, president of the Mohawk branch of the International Union of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, offered that comment Wednesday night after talks here ground to a standstill.

The discussions were to resume again this morning.

Scherl said that despite the failure to reach agreement

Wednesday he was "hopeful" some decision could be reached soon.

Representatives of the National Mediation Board are attending the meetings.

About 500 mechanics have been on strike since Dec. 9 in a dispute over pension plans.

CLEAR HEAD IS VITAL

In a message to the motoring public, State Police Superintendent Arthur Cornelius Jr. warns that even under normal driving conditions a fuzzy mind, fogged by lack of sleep or drinking, can quickly result in trouble on the highway, where today's heavy traffic often demands split-second decisions to avoid a tragic accident.

A clear head is even more important now when winter weather conditions can add to the normal hazards of driving.

Experience tells us that some drivers will be on the highways with their alertness impaired by alcohol or lack of sleep. Your chances of employing defensive measures effectively against such drivers, should the occasion arise, will be increased greatly if your own facilities are not similarly impaired.

You can't control the weather, but you can contribute to traffic safety over the coming holiday period by keeping "mental fog" off the highways.

SEASON TO BE WARY

Beware of the Christmas tree.

Is this Scrooge speaking?

Hardly. It is the voice of caution and common sense.

The daily trimmed Christmas tree is the symbol of holiday cheer. But it is a potential killer unless it is treated with respect.

So keep the tree well moistened, away from heat or flames. Don't overload electrical circuits in lighting it. Turn out the lights when you leave the room for any length of time.

If your tree is metal, never string lights on it. A single bare wire can cause trouble. Remember, no Christmas can be merry if there is a fire or accident.

Play it safe and keep it merry.

Barry Goldwater hops on the Lyndon-may-not-run-in-'68 bandwagon — which has quite a few passengers but not much of an engine.

A Navy jet took off from the naval air station at Los Alamitos, Calif., in mid-afternoon and crashed among houses in the densely populated residential community of Rossmore. No one was injured — not even the pilot, who parachuted to safety.

Figure the odds on that. Figure the odds that not one living soul in the four houses extensively damaged, and several others less so, would be so much as scratched when tons of howling metal hurtled down from the sky.

The chances are that at the same moment, someone, somewhere, slipped in the bathtub and cracked his skull, or fell from a ladder and broke his back, or perished screaming in a fire, or choked to death on a piece of meat. Fate has always provided an unending supply of such explicable twists and turns. But figure the odds, when that jet came plummeting down on those houses in Rossmore.

German Chancellor Kiesinger says he'll work with France for a united Europe. The first step will be to agree with De Gaulle on a definition of "united."

THE AUTOMATIC AUTO

Either the pace of automotive research has been speeded up of late, or it has been receiving more publicity. In either case, a spate of news stories suggests that much is afoot which may radically change the automotive picture in a few years.

An apparent breakthrough in development of an electric car for both street and highway driving is an important case in point. There are indications that such cars may be on the market in a decade or so.

But changes even more striking than that are in the wind. At Ohio State University, work is well along on developing a practical automatic car. The present model may be the prototype of vehicles which, on special highways, could some day be programmed to move along without the driver's immediate attention.

At this stage, such a car may seem to far-out for serious consideration. The idea of adding the necessary $400 or so per mile

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
THE NEW POWER IN NEW YORK STATE

A kingdom, so the old fable tells us, was once lost for want of a horseshoe nail, and maybe the 1968 Republican Presidential convention will hinge on the recent news from Albany, New York, that the New York Conservative Party has wrested "Row C" on the ballot away from the Liberal Party, which had held it for a quarter of a century.

It may take a little time for the national significance of what has happened in New York State to sink in. Ever since 1950 it has been assumed that the balance of power in New York has been held by the Liberals in alliance with the garment trade labor unions. Governor Nelson Rockefeller, Senator Jacob Javits and Mayor John Lindsay, all of them Republicans, have believed this just as fervently as have Democrats like Bobby Kennedy. So there was gloom in the local Democratic ranks last September when the Liberal Party, refusing to endorse Democrat Frank O'Connor for governor, nominated a person with a great name, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., to be its gubernatorial candidate on a separate Liberal ticket. Nelson Rockefeller, as a candidate to succeed himself, was correspondingly overjoyed to think that the liberal swing vote would be diverted from his main enemy, Mr. O'Connor. And Senator Jacob Javits, as Rockefeller's manager, was also very happy. As a candidate for the Vice Presidential nomination in 1968, Javits needed a Republican governor in Albany in order to give him a one-up position as a "favorite son" at the national convention.

Superficially considered, all went well in November for Rockefeller. Although he got only forty-six per cent of the popular vote as to fifty-three per cent in his 1958 showing, he still managed to pull an upset and defeat Frank O'Connor. And the unofficial vote count showed that the Liberal Party's Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. had come in third in the race, presumably taking enough votes away from O'Connor to guarantee Rocky his victory. The Conservative Party, so the first State-wide tally showed, had made a good showing, but it was still the fourth place party which made its "Row D" swing position less important than the Liberals' spot on "Row C."

The final recount, however, has changed all this. For, as it turns out, the Conservatives got 510,023 votes statewide for their candidate for governor, the relatively unknown Paul Adams, as compared to the Liberal Party's 507,234 votes for Franklin Roosevelt Jr. This gives "Row C" to the Conservatives and suddenly makes them the most important balance of power group in the State.

What this means is that Rockefeller-Javits liberalism can no longer be counted on to have things in New York all its own way. Conservative endorsement has become just as desirable as Liberal endorsement, if not a little more so.

The proof of this is to be found in the licking that Senator Javits has taken in his campaign to become a delegate-at-large to the forthcoming State constitutional convention. Running with Liberal endorsement for this, Javits lost. Putting a wet finger to the wind, Republican State Chairman Carl Spad recently went out of his way to speak good things about certain planks in the Conservative Party platform.

Rockefeller, as New York's Governor, will certainly have some voice at the 1968 Republican Presidential convention. But, as a minority governor with an increasingly powerful Conservative Party lurking in the wings, ready to give or withhold its endorsements, what will be Rocky's power to make a Vice Presidential deal for Javits? Powerful Republican governors such as Rhodes of Ohio and Reagan of California, and even Romney of Michigan, will surely have been warned by then that a Conservative defection in New York State might mean the loss of the State for any ticket "balanced" by a super-liberal.

Finally, what will Dick Nixon be doing now that the New York Conservative Party is the swing element to court in Nixon's new "home state"? As a resident of New York City since 1963, Nixon is in a position to seek unofficially friendly delegates to the 1968 convention even though Rocky and Javits remain the big bosses. Custom has it that a State delegation must be unanimously behind a "favorite son" for President. But Javits is only a "favorite son" for the Vice Presidency. Does this give Nixon scope for an offensive?

The DOCTOR SAYS

Both Syphilis, Gonorrhea
Curable in Early Stages

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Gonorrhea, although usually less dangerous than syphilis, is far more widespread (more than one million new cases in the United States per year) and it may interfere with the recognition of syphilis. It, too, may have serious consequences (gonorrheal arthritis, pelvic inflammatory disease in women with its resulting sterility, heart disease and hepatitis).

The first sign of this disease in men, occurring five or six days after exposure, is a severe burning on urination and a discharge of pus from the urinary outlet especially noticeable on arising in the morning. In women the disease may exist without producing any symptoms at all. The legal requirement that a drop of silver nitrate or penicillin solution be placed in the eyes of every newborn baby to prevent gonorrheal eye infection has practically eliminated this disease as a cause of blindness.

Although both syphilis and gonorrhea can be cured in their early stages with penicillin, a variety of reasons keep the victim away from the doctor. The disease may have caused only mild symptoms, the victim may believe (as is erroneously stated by some teen-agers) that the disease is no worse than a slight cold with a victim may be ashamed to consult a family doctor with a suspected venereal disease or he may be ignorant of the essential facts about these diseases.

Venereal disease can be wiped out only if every person who suspects he or she has had intimate personal contact with an infected person seeks an examination by a reputable doctor immediately.

Q—I contracted syphilis during World War II and was given 10 shots of penicillin. The blood test then was negative. How can I tell whether I am still cured? What would the symptoms be after 25 years?

A—The symptoms of latent or hidden syphilis five to 25 years after the initial exposure are too variable to list. They depend on the part of the body under attack but, in any case, the best test for syphilis in this stage is the routine serologic (blood) test.

Q—if a person picked up syphilis five years ago and didn't know it, would he still have it?

A—if the disease has not been treated or was inadequately treated it would still be present in the body but might not manifest itself for several more years.

to the cost of highways, just to permit automatic auto travel, is not attractive. Yet when one reflects on how auto traffic and its attendant hazards have increased, automatic traffic control appears to be a sensible and perhaps even an essential goal. At the present rate of development, some such system may come sooner than we think.

Any Old Port in a Storm

Washington News

BY RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SAIGON (NEA)—The Philippine colonel I met in Manila was blunt: "We're not going to win this war by military action alone regardless of how many men we put into Vietnam. There's no use kidding ourselves."

"We have to have troops to stop the Viet Cong battalions. But civic action is what will win the war."

That thought has been shared by many others—U. S., Vietnamese, South Korean, Thai, Australian and New Zealand officials—to whom this writer has talked on his current tour of Southeast Asia. They have agreed that "revolutionary development"—improving local government, schools, living standards, ways of farming, justice and the police system—is crucial.

Unless these changes are made, the Viet Cong underground cannot be defeated even if the military war is won. If these things are accomplished, the VC cannot win.

Agreeing on this principle was easy. Travel through the rural areas of 13 South Vietnam provinces convinced this reporter that accomplishing this aim will be exceedingly difficult.

When there's a war going on, the inevitable emphasis is on shooting. Military priorities take precedence over civilian priorities. Military commanders in a province give orders to civilian officials.

Laws are suspended to meet military needs. Freedom of the press is suspended for military censorship. Private property is subject to military confiscation. In practice, local military men set key prices, determined who gets scarce commodities.

Military justice takes precedence over civilian justice in many localities. Technically, a police officer can arrest a military man. In practice, the few police officials who have tried to arrest military men charged with criminal actions in neighborhoods this reporter has been in have not been able to make those arrests stick.

Almost every provincial governor and district chief is a military officer. A fistful of the assembly set up to write a new constitution for South Vietnam are military officers.

It is now considered likely that when national elections are held next year under the new constitution, the new chief of state will be Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu and the new prime minister Air Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, the same men who now hold these posts.

The military can and does do civic action. It's become military doctrine. But the United States has learned that even in areas under complete military control, large doses of civic action do not take root in the creation of a community willing to defend itself against the Viet Cong unless freedom and democratic civilian rule go along with the economic, political and educational help.

This freedom and democratic rule are proving exceedingly difficult to accomplish in the middle of the Vietnam war.

Quick Quiz

Q—Why was the Progressive party in 1912 popularly called the "Bull Moose Party?"

A—The name originated from Theodore Roosevelt's remark, "I feel as fit as a bull moose." The bull moose was taken up as the emblem of the party and the party itself came to be so-called.

Q—How did the television quiz shows come to be called "jackpot shows?"

A—It comes from the game of draw poker where stakes accumulate until a player is able to "open the pot" to his hand, demonstrating that among the cards he has drawn he has a pair of "jacks or better."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I received an interesting letter from the Rev. Osterhout Phillips, minister of the Shokan Reformed Church, Shokan. He writes that I mentioned in the Dec. 14 column, a boat named Augustus J. Phillips which sailed on the Hudson, many years ago. I was given some billheads covering the steamer, A. J. Phillips, which ran between Rondout and Poughkeepsie, which had two daily trips from Rondout, and two daily trips from Poughkeepsie. The letter head is dated 1900's.

The Rev. Mr. Phillips writes that the boat named August J. Phillips was named after his father. The reverend was born in 1894 and he remembers his father and mother speaking about the boat, so he would appreciate any information any reader may have of this boat.

According to the Master, Mate and Pilot, the Augustus J. Phillips, was a 129 gross ton boat, and the hull built in 1903 in Rondout. No doubt there are pictures of her around here. The Rev. Mr. Phillips also mentions a column I wrote some time ago about the first automobile in Ulster County, and it making news in a trip from New York City to Kingston. That auto, he writes, was his father's car. A. J. Phillips, bought the car and drove it to Kingston.

The reverend remembers riding in that car with his mother. It was a steam operated Locomobile. When the car would "blow off steam" the horses along the streets would really cut up. Often times his mother would stop the car when she saw a horse and wagon approaching and allow the driver to get out of his wagon and take the horse by the bridle to calm him down. He ends up by saying, how times have changed.

I am wondering what a horse would do if he was caught in the traffic tie-ups from the various shopping centers, like at Neighborhood road, while traffic is going in a steady stream on Albany Avenue Extension. They have many lights and many intersections in that section leading to all the large business enterprises, and every car seems to want to go somewhere, so they move bumper to bumper even after they reach Albany Avenue. No doubt anyone living in that area has to plan to be out of the house a half hour ahead to get on his way.

I have a book before me called "Local Laws of the Cities in the State of New York, enacted during the year 1935." One item for the City of Hudson reads in part: "The mayor shall receive a salary of five hundred dollars." The president of the common council of Hudson Jan. 1, 1936 was to receive an annual salary of three hundred dollars. City of Lackawanna in this book tells that no person shall be elected or appointed to office of mayor, councilman, city treasurer, supervisor or city assessor, unless at the time he is owner of property in said city, and on last assessment roll.

The City of Mount Vernon authorized the comptroller to accept during 1935, from time to time, payment on account of past due and current taxes on real estate in sums of not less than one-fifth of the annual tax and the interest thereon, and to credit such payments on account to the taxes due on lots, pieces or parcels of land to which they are respectively applicable.

Perhaps someday they will allow such freedom of paying school and general taxes in Kingston and Ulster County, with modern bookkeeping machines, it should be simple to record as they do in banks, or perhaps banks could take charge of it.

Precedent Favors Mrs. JFK In Court Battle Over Book

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Irrespective of whether the much-talked-about book containing conversations with Mrs. John F. Kennedy is or is not published, many people may be surprised to learn that this same question has arisen before between members of a President's family and book publishers. In almost every case, publication of the text of communications has been prevented.

Once a President wrote a series of letters to a woman friend. They were the subject of much unfounded gossip, and a book company got permission from the recipient to publish them in full. The letters themselves were concerned entirely with public events and were not really personal. But lawyers for the widow of the President who wrote the communications intervened, and the book was never published.

In another instance, the editor of a daily newspaper, who had retired and was writing a book of recollections, included a single letter that happened to be of no nationwide interest but was a part of his biography. Lawyers, however, for the widow of the President who had written the original letter served notice that, to give permission to publish would lead other persons to do the same thing. The text was then omitted.

The theory applied in these instances is based on age-old Common Law. The writer of a letter has a "right of property" in the letter superior to that of the person to whom the letter is sent and is entitled to a remedy against unauthorized publication, especially if the letter has any "literary value." This doesn't mean that it has to meet a particular standard of quality, but merely that any letter which it could be financially remunerative for someone else to publish in a book or in any other way remains the property of the writer who signed the missive. The recipient can still retain property rights in the manuscript itself and can sell it to someone else as an antique or memento, but even then nobody can publish it without the consent of the person who signed the original letter.

What then, it may be asked, is the right of an individual who provides personal but historical information on a tape, rather than on paper? The tape itself is the property of the person for whom the recording was made, but the words are owned by whoever spoke them in the recording. While a tape or letter sent through the mails or delivered in person remains the physical property of the recipient, the writer or speaker retains a property right in the words themselves.

In the case of the tape made by the widow of the late President Kennedy, the legal controversy may turn on what was permitted by the contractual arrangement between Mrs. Kennedy and the author of the book. If all property rights have been waived, the publishers would be free to issue their book or magazine articles. When a dispute arises as to whether approval was or was not actually given, the courts must decide the case on the basis of sworn testimony to the facts.

A legal point that could come up is whether Senator Robert F. Kennedy at any time said to the author of the book that "the family" wouldn't object to its publication and whether such a statement constituted an approval of the manuscript and also covered all the words spoken in the tape recording participated in by Mrs. Kennedy.

What is not quite so clear, on the other hand, is the legal problem that arises when the press learns of the content of a newsworthy letter, especially one written by a President of the United States or by a member of his family. Lawyers familiar with this aspect have usually advised clients that, if the content of a letter is to be mentioned in the press, it has to be in such a form that it doesn't repeat the exact language used. The points that make news can be revealed, but not the phrases or the wording, lest this be the basis for a charge of plagiarism or of alleged theft of "literary property."

Newspapers presumably could publish the gist of such letters or communications, but would run the risk of denials that the whole truth wasn't being set forth. Such publicity could impair the reader's confidence in the published report.

Red Cross Says: Be a Good Skater; Heed Safety Rules

With the onset of winter, the ponds and lakes of Ulster County will soon be ready for the annual invasion of ice skating enthusiasts.

J. Brian Steeves, water safety chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, joined local officials in cautioning winter sports lovers against going on the ice prematurely.

"The key to skating safety is to know when and where to skate," Steeves said.

New Ice Dangerous

The first ice of the season, known as "new ice," is attractive to skaters because it is normally very smooth, he said. But it can also be a menace because it is deceptively thin and not uniform in thickness. It is quite likely to be weaker toward the center of the area, over springs welling up from the bottom, and over swift current. Rivers are especially dangerous.

New ice is not really safe for skating until it has frozen to at least two or three inches. Even then, skaters should venture cautiously staying reasonably close to shore, when new ice reaches a depth of four inches, it will support a large number of skaters.

Steeves listed these additional safety rules for ice skaters:

Skate in supervised areas, preferably a shallow pond or lake in which the water is no more than waist deep.

Join Companies

Skate with a companion in case of an accident but avoid congregating in large groups.

Build your fires on the bank, not on the ice.

Warn other skaters of dangerous ice conditions when you know about such hazards.

Remember that ice is especially dangerous during thawing spells and as winter nears its end.

In case of accident, keep simple rescue equipment handy at skating areas — ropes, poles, ladders or planks. Steeves recommended. This is the safest method of rescuing someone who has fallen through the ice: Lie flat on the ice, edge forward, and reach the rescue device toward the victim, then pull him to safety when he has grasped it securely. Do not stand up on the ice.

In the absence of rescue equipment, form a human chain by lying flat on the ice, holding on the ankles or skates of the person in front. Grasp the wrists of the victim and wiggle back to safety.

Ban Paper Dresses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fire department has ordered a department store chain to stop selling paper dresses, priced from $2 to $40, because they failed to pass fire-resistance tests.

Certain other paper garments were approved, however, and tests are continuing, the department said.

Trooper Leader Warns Mental Fog Can Prove Deadly

You can't control the weather, but you can contribute to traffic safety over the coming holiday period by keeping "mental fog" off the highways, according to State Police Superintendent Arthur Cornelius Jr.

In a message to the motoring public, the official warned:

"Even under normal conditions, a fuzzy mind, fogged by lack of sleep or drinking, can quickly result in trouble on the highway, where today's heavy traffic often demands split-second decisions to avoid a tragic accident."

"A clear head is even more important now when winter weather conditions can add to the normal hazards of driving."

"Experience tells us that some drivers will be on the highways with their alertness impaired by alcohol or lack of sleep. Your chances of employing defensive measures effectively against such drivers, should the occasion arise, will be greatly increased if your own faculties are not similarly impaired."

St. Francis Slates Cancer Symposium

Sister M. Ann Elizabeth, administrator of St. Francis Hospital, has announced the hospital's fifth annual symposium devoted to oral cancer will be held on Wednesday, April 19.

The luncheon speaker will be Dr. Paul S. Ingrassia, president-elect of the New York State Division of the American Cancer Society who will discuss the Division's professional education program.

Rome Woman Killed

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Rita Burgess, 27, of Rome, was injured fatally Wednesday when the automobile in which she was riding struck a utility pole.

Mrs. Burgess, wife of Tech. Sgt. Oscar Burgess, died in Griffiths Air Force Base Hospital. Burgess was reported in fair condition. He is stationed at Griffiths.

Mrs. Burgess was born in Germany. She was the mother of two children.

Cagle Conducts Toastmasters' Recent Meeting

"Tarnation, kid! You look like you've been sorting wildcats."

"Boy, you look like you've been spitting tobacco juice. Into the wind."

To show how lively the speech of rural people can be, Lowell Cagle recalled hearing those expressions during his childhood in Arkansas.

Serving as toastmaster, Cagle conducted the regular twice-monthly meeting of the Kingston Toastmasters. It was attended by 18 men at the Amberlight Restaurant on Route 28. The theme of the meeting was Picture Words.

Among those present were three guests: George Thompson, James Myers, an attorney in Kingston; and James O'Hara, general supervisor of Central Hudson. The last two are members of the Woodstock Rotary Club.

Christmas was very much in the minds of those who took part in the main speaking program. In the Holy Land, said Fred Snyder, "they have uncovered jances and other weapons used by the soldiers of Siseria, the tyrant in the story of Deborah."

Dan Sickles, the second speaker, elaborated on several theories explaining the appearance of the Christmas Star. He concluded with these words: "These explanations are interesting, but what's more important is what the Star symbolizes: Peace on earth. Good will toward men."

Fred Martin, an IBMer, spoke on the new math being taught the children today, why parents should take an interest in it, and how it prepares these children for the coming age of computers. "Numbers are the one thing you can count on."

At the end of the speaking program, Joe Whitaker evaluated the proceedings. "As good Toastmasters," he said, "we must always be prepared to speak — without notice and in all kinds of situations."

The next meeting of Kingston Toastmasters will be held Jan. 5, at the Amberlight Restaurant. Its theme will be Parliamentary Procedure.

Local President Dr. Harry McNamara said guests are always welcome.

One Child Injured In Red Hook Area School Bus Crash

One child was slightly injured and several others were reported unhurt Wednesday afternoon, following a collision involving a school bus and a car on Route 9 at Rokebey Road, Town of Red Hook.

State Police Sergeant W. F. Urey of the Rhinebeck-Hyde Park substation, reported the bus, owned by the Rhinebeck Bus Co. and operated by Ferdinand Sator, 58, of Rhinebeck, was traveling south on Route 9 when a car operated by Patricia McNulty, 22, of Rhinebeck, pulled out of Rokebey Road after stopping.

Sator, Sergeant Urey said, swerved to the left to avoid a collision with the car and the bus struck an embankment.

Leslie Beeby, 9, a student of Rhinebeck, sustained bruises of the hip. The other children escaped injury. The girl was treated for the slight injuries.

Miss McNulty was cited by state police for failure to yield the right of way.

Dear Abby . . .

Hair Today — Gone Tomorrow

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, Nancy, became engaged recently so she and I have been shopping for her wedding gown and veil.

Well, you know how these young girls look nowadays with their little boy Sassoon hair-cuts and that pale-faced makeup with white lipstick! When Nancy tried on those white bridal gowns and veils I didn't know whether to laugh or cry!

Should we try to get her to wear a wig for the wedding? A wedding veil looks ridiculous over a little boy hair-cut. And while you're at it, Abby, please say something to the young girls about how ugly they look in the name of fashion.

NANCY'S MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Nancy must have been doing SOMETHING right or she wouldn't be shopping for a bridal outfit. But for what it's worth, I agree. Girls look much prettier with hair and makeup that suggests a living, breathing person is underneath it all. Forget the wig. Hair today and gone tomorrow.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a 7-year-old boy, and my husband and I would like to adopt a little girl, but one day while I was shopping I took something from a store and was arrested. My husband knows nothing of this, and I just don't have the heart to tell him.

We are hard-working people and would have no trouble getting a child, but I am afraid to put in an application. Would they check for a record? Please put your answer in the paper.

DEAR DESPERATE: Some do and some don't. And some that do, will not hold it against you. Inquire of the adoption agency or institution in which you are interested. If you don't wish to identify yourself, ask a lawyer to make the inquiry for you.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl with a story to tell. Last night about 9 p. m. I was walking home alone from the public library. (I live 10 blocks from there.) The wind was blowing hard, and it was very cold. Besides, I had a load of books under my arm.

A car pulled up alongside the curb, and a nice looking man opened the door and asked, "Want a ride?" He looked O. K. and was about my father's age, and my feet were about to drop off with freezing so I said yes, and hopped in.

He asked me where I was going and I told him and he drove me there, but before he let me out he said, "Young lady, I want you to promise me that you will NEVER again accept a ride with a stranger, no matter how 'nice' he appears to be. I happen to be a decent man, lucky for you, but you took an awful chance."

"You can't tell ANYTHING about a man by the way he looks. I had a 14-year-old niece who accepted a ride with a strange man, and four days later they found her beaten lifeless body in a swamp two miles from her home."

I promised that man I would never get into a car with a stranger again. And I never will.

Mental Health Office Closed for Holidays

The office of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, 27 East O'Reilly Street, will be closed the week between Christmas and New Year.

The association is a voluntary agency, primarily concerned with community education and the promotion of good mental health. It also works to promote understanding of local treatment services, and the need for further developing these. In addition it provides an information and referral service. The office is normally open three days a week — Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

Membership is open to anyone in sympathy with its purposes. The association is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Enquiries are invited concerning the educational materials available for both children and adults, including films, and special materials for teachers.

Seek More School Aid

NEW YORK (AP)—Increased state aid for special education programs for the culturally disadvantaged and physically and mentally handicapped in metropolitan areas is sought by a group of 20 educators in the large city boards of education of New York State.

The educators urged Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Tuesday to raise the share the state underwrites in such city school programs. The increase sought was from 17½ to 26 per cent, or an increase to $2.9 million for a program.

Report Hartford Mayor's Home Is Arsonist Target

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) —

The homes of the mayor and other civic leaders of Hartford have been the targets of arsonists the past two months. The latest attack occurred Wednesday night.

Mayor George B. Kinsella says the incidents can be related to the city's experimental program to bus Negro and Puerto Rican children from the city to suburban schools.

Other targets have been the homes of the police captain in charge of the detective bureau, the publisher of The Hartford Times, the city manager, as well as two schools, the Urban League office and the house where Harriet Beecher Stowe — author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" — once lived.

The arsonist's tactics are simple and unsuccessful so far. A wad of burning newspapers weighted with a stone crashes through a window or lands on a porch, a car speeds off into the night.

In almost every case, the papers burned out without setting anything afire.

The home of Hartford Times Publisher Kenneth A. Burke presumably was singled out because of the newspaper's editorial support of the busing program.

Under the program, about 270 inner-city youngsters, most of them Negroes and Puerto Ricans, attend schools in predominantly white suburbs. The program was approved by the board of education in each town and is scheduled to run for two years. It began in September.

To Probe Newspaper Rates of Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is going to investigate newspaper advertising rates to see if any are discriminatory.

The Federal Trade Commission said Wednesday it will check, among other things, whether some newspapers charge local and national clients different rates and if so, whether it is an antitrust violation.

"Any type of discrimination will be investigated," said a FTC spokesman. "If some large advertiser is given a special rate, we'd be interested in looking at that."

The FTC indicated its probe would be related to a previously disclosed check of television advertising rates.

Announcement of the newspaper phase came in a letter from FTC Chairman Paul R. Dixon to Rep. Clarence Brown Jr., R-Ohio, who sent a constituent's complaint to the FTC.

Touching Tale Yule Story One Of Big Ones for Stage 67 Series

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It would come, a bright November day when the little boy's friend would cry with delight, "My, it's fruitcake weather."

Together, the little fellow and a distant cousin, a woman old in years but with the heart and mind of a child, slipped under the barbed wire of Callahan's peacan grove, past the "no trespassing" sign to gather the windfalls. Then they counted their money — pennies, dimes, even an occasional dollar — for the candied pineapple, ginger, cherries, raisins, eggs and even the bootleg whiskey for 30 beautiful cakes.

Through Eyes of Boy

So began Wednesday night's "A Christmas Memory," with Truman Capote, the author and narrator, looking back with love to this brief and warm relationship in his lonely childhood.

The dramatization of the memoir was handled as if seen through the eyes of a little boy. "My friend," as Capote called the childlike eccentric, and the boy treated their holiday like a precious secret kept from the world — "the other people in the house," they were called.

She called him "Buddy," after another little boy she had known. Together they mailed their cakes to "people who struck our fancy" — President Roosevelt, a missionary couple in Borneo they had met once, a California couple whose car had broken down in front of their farm house.

Then, as Buddy and friend were celebrating with a sip of the left-over fruitcake whiskey, "the other people" — a pair of stern, hard-eyed spinsters walked in, were furious and made Buddy's friend cry. But not for long — she suddenly thought of pine cones and a distant grove of evergreens.

So they went there and cut a tree, so tall that a boy could not steal the star from the top, and they decorated it with paper cutouts.

On Christmas morning, after opening the usual gifts of the other people — socks, a Sunday shirt, a subscription to a religious magazine — they opened their real presents — kites they had made for each other.

Laughing, they ran into the open fields and flew their new kites in the winter Alabama sky.

Capote, in a personal postscript, noted that it was their last Christmas together. He was shipped off to a military school and her mind became more and more confused and, finally, she slipped away.

Ignores Warning in North's Bid

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

West opened the king of diamonds and shifted to the ten of hearts. Eventually South lost a diamond, a spade and two trumps.

The damages ran to 800 points and south was bitter about the whole thing. Strangely, he blamed his partner.

"How could you possibly double two diamonds without an ace or king in your hand? How could you possibly bid three no-trump with only a singleton club? What were you doing anyway?"

North was too busy wondering if he could kill South and claim justifiable homicide to bother to answer but we will answer for North.

He doubled two diamonds because he expected to set that contract several tricks. If South had just left in the double, West would have gone down four or five tricks and North and South would have picked up at least 1,100 points.

North bid three no-trump because he expected to make it and would have done so, provided he played the hand fairly well. Expert play would not have been necessary but with really bad play he might have managed to go down.

As for the double of two diamonds promising any aces or kings, it meant quite the op-

If South had bothered to think he might have reasoned that North's bidding was designed to stop South from going to a slam.

In no sense could it have been considered to be encouraging.

E-J Reports Four Executive Promotions

ENDICOTT — Four top management promotions were announced today by Endicott Johnson Corporation.

Felix M. Weisiger, formerly senior vice president, has been elected executive vice president, a member of Endicott Johnson's Executive Committee, and chairman of the corporation's Operating Committee.

O. Russell Kennedy, Harold P. McGowan, and Sherman E. Rose have been elected corporate group vice presidents and will head up newly-formed separate operating companies within the E-J corporate structure.

Kennedy, formerly vice president—manufacturing, will direct NASCO, Endicott Johnson's national sales company. Divisions within NASCO include wholesale sales, marketing services, industrial relations, purchasing, and manufacturing.

McGowan will administer the specialty sales division, the all-weather and leisure footwear sales and manufacturing units, and the administrative services division, including the corporate systems and procedures department. This group will be known as NADCO, national distributing company. Mr. McGowan had been assistant to the president.

The company's nationwide retail store operations will be directed by Mr. Rose, previously vice president—Retail, under the name NARCO, national retail company.

Father of 12 Killed

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — George B. Quinlan, a 47-year-old father of 12, was killed Wednesday in the collision of his car and an empty schoolbus at an intersection near his home in nearby La Fayette.

Quinlan, an Agway Inc. employee, was en route to work when the accident occurred at Jamesville-Apulia and Coy roads. The bus-driver was uninjured, police said.

Quinlan lived on Bowl Hill Road.

Business Mirror ReflectionsStock Delisting Tough; Moves, Approval Rare

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A company wishing to withdraw its stock from trading on a major stock exchange may find the delisting requirements tougher than the listing standards.

The various exchanges frequently delist companies that do not meet their standards, generally because the company has a very poor earnings record, is too closely held or because its shares are too inactive.

For a company to seek delisting is rare. Even more rare is the accomplishment of the wish.

When Rockwell-Standard Corp. was reported this week as considering the idea of leaving the New York Stock Exchange for the over-the-counter market, researchers at the Big Board went through records for previous delistings.

They found that the most recent voluntary withdrawal was in 1939, when Dominion Stores decided it could better promote its Canadian image by delisting.

For a listed company to leave the Big Board requires the approval of two-thirds of the outstanding shares. In addition, the delisting process is defeated if objections arise from 10 per cent or more of the shareholders.

Action Angers Chief

Rockwell's complaint arose from the heavy selling of its stock by three mutual funds, thus driving down the price. This action angered Willard F. Rockwell Jr., the president, just as similar selling has irritated officials of other companies.

Rockwell was quoted as saying delisting might be a way to keep fund people away. He is said to have reasoned that funds show less interest in over-the-counter stocks.

A resolution by the board is assumed before the issue is put to the stockholders. The American Stock Exchange, the nation's second largest, specifically requires that, as the first step, a resolution to delist must be passed by the requesting firm's board.

A certified copy of this resolution then must be sent to the exchange with a statement backing the facts in the resolution. The exchange then studies the material and notifies the company if it accepts or rejects the application.

If it accepts, the exchange then requires that each registered shareholder be given 15 days notice prior to its delisting notification to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Most companies simply do not wish to delist. To be listed on a reputable exchange offers possibilities for broader share ownership, more active trading with some security from erratic price movements, also prestige and advertising.

Report Nonfarm Employment Rose To 13,270,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Nonfarm employment in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania rose by 45,000 to a record 13,270,000 in October, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reports.

But the rise lagged behind the national trend.

The bureau's report Wednesday said the region's increase in October was 0.3 per cent, while the national rise was 0.4 per cent.

Over a year, the three-state Middle Atlantic Region's employment increase was 2.9 per cent and the nation's 4.8 per cent.

The region's largest increase in October was in nonmanufacturing jobs—up 37,000 to a total of 8,903,000.

Service employment was down 12,000 and construction was down 8,900.

Manufacturing jobs—in their first September-to-October increase in five years—went up 8,000 to a total of 4,367,000.

Average weekly earnings of factory production workers rose in New York and New Jersey. This reflected a longer work week in both states and higher hourly earnings in New Jersey.

The bureau listed these average weekly earnings in October: New York, $112.44, up $1.12; New Jersey, $118.53, up $0.70; Pennsylvania, $112.75, unchanged.

Greene GI, Two Others Killed In Viet Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three more New York State men have been reported killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department announced Wednesday.

In addition, Navy Lt. James H. Murphy, 31, whose mother lives in Rochester, was killed Sunday aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt. The carrier was enroute to Vietnam.

Murphy reportedly was struck by a projectile.

Army Pfc Arnold M. Hull, 20, of Oak Hill, Greene County, Marine Lance Corporal Richard C. Marsh, of Central Valley, and Henry McDonald, Flushing, were killed in action.

Hull had been serving with the First Cavalry Division Airborne. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Hull, said he was drafted in February 1965 and sent to Vietnam last July. He attended Greenville Central High School.

Murphy, whose widow and two children live in Norfolk, Va., was the son of Mrs. Howard T. Murphy of Rochester. She said he entered the Navy in 1960. He was an operations officer aboard the Roosevelt, which was sailing in the South China Sea when the accident occurred.

His widow, Susan, is a native

Elected Master Of Local Masons

The executive director of the Kingston Housing Authority, Alexander Yosman, has been elected master of Kingston Lodge No. 10, F and AM, for the coming year.

Yosman joined the Masons in 1946 as a member of Greenpoint Lodge No. 403 in Brooklyn. He moved to Kingston in 1951 and presently lives at 24 Roosevelt Avenue with his wife, Sophie, and their two children, Alexander, 12, and Alice, 16. He is a junior at Kingston High School and Alexander is in the advanced sixth grade at George Washington School.

Yosman is considered an authority on public housing and urban renewal and was credited by then Mayor John J. Swenck in 1963 with saving the city over $500,000 during Yosman's one-year term as urban renewal advisor.

Born in Bayonne, N. J., he lived most of his life in Brooklyn before moving to Kingston. Yosman is a graduate of Textile High School in Brooklyn and attended Hunter College. He is a veteran of the Navy during World War II, volunteering as a seaman apprentice. Yosman's career in public housing, through hard work and study he rose to the rate of chief radioman in less than two years of naval service.

He joined the Kingston Housing Authority as manager and executive director July 26, 1953.

Others Elected

Harry E. Giles Jr., was elected to serve as senior warden, Worshipful Brother Guy P. Baker was elected to serve as junior warden, Worshipful Brother Paul E. Terpening as treasurer and right worshipful Gordon A. Craig Sr. as secretary. Also elected to serve as Lodge Trustee for a

SAUGERTIES NEWS

"NOTHING HAS MADE ME HAPPIER," says Miss Pauline Hommel, "than having this room named in my honor." Miss Hommel, who has earned the respect of the entire Saugerties community for her talents as author, historian and civic leader, was voicing her happiness at the dedication of The Pauline Hommel Children's Room at the Saugerties Public Library. A bright, new, burnished plaque on the door announces to one and all that, inside, children will be able to enjoy classic tales of adventure, new books just off the presses and, of course, Teacup Tales, authored by Miss Hommel, who has been a member of the Library Board. Grades 1 and 2 Face Split Sessions

Hope to Salvage Bond Issue With Future School Voting

Board of Education of Saugerties Central School District at its regular meeting this week discussed affects of the rejection of the $1,585,000 bond issue Nov. 29, but adopted no plans for a future vote. Failure to approve the bond issue needed to carry forward the Board's program for providing sorely needed elementary classrooms has created situations that cause Board members to express serious concern.

At the beginning of the present school year, the school system lacked three elementary classrooms to house the ever-increasing number of pupils. Next September there will be a need for three more elementary classrooms. In order to provide teaching space then, the Board will be forced to place all 375 first grade pupils in the District on split or curtailed sessions. This group would ordinarily require 12 classrooms, but by sending half of the pupils to morning sessions and the other half to an afternoon session in the same classroom, six classrooms will do the job of 12. It is estimated that an additional 400 kindergarteners will enter the system, but only 275 pupils will be moving from the sixth grade to the Junior High School. The Board regrets the necessary action of moving to split sessions as such steps are only stop-gaps and do not solve the problem of growing school populations, members say. The situation can only get worse and, until additional classrooms are provided, it is anticipated that second grade pupils will be placed on split sessions in September 1968, they add. Short changing pupils of school time is not the Board's way of providing a good education and is must also face the added difficulty of hiring teachers to teach split sessions during an acute period of teacher shortage, members note. Parents will be inconvenienced increasingly as split sessions increase and will be forced to adjust family time-tables, it is felt.

Costs Will Increase

The additional cost to taxpayers also disturbs the Board of Education. Split sessions require double transportation routes. Building costs are constantly increasing, making it necessary to raise more money to provide the same number of classrooms. In spite of the defeat of the bond issue, the architect must be paid for the preliminary plans and work. If the same plans are used in the near future, this cost can be salvaged as can the cost of soil tests and borings necessary to building plans. The cost of the option for purchase of land adjacent to the Glasco School will also be wasted unless action is taken prior to its expiration.

The Board of Education is keenly aware of its responsibility to provide for the educational needs of Saugerties children, but it cannot fulfill its responsibility unless the voters of the District provide the financial support through a bond issue, members say.

In other action, the Board accepted the resignation of Miss Bertha Carpenter, English teacher in the Junior High School, who will retire from teaching Feb. 3. Miss Carpenter, who has served in Saugerties Schools since 1936, will be completing 41 years of teaching with previous experience in Vermont and Massachusetts. She holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Boston University.

The resignation of Mrs. Bessie Ross, effective June 30, 1967 was accepted. Mrs. Ross has taught in the Mt. Marion School since 1964. A resident of Athens, N. Y., she began her teaching career in 1934 and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Albany State College.

Lutheran Church Notes Christmas Service, Program

Christmas Eve family service at Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties, will be conducted Saturday at 7 p. m. Included on the program will be organ music, a solo by Janet Canger, the reading of the Christmas story with carols pertaining to the event interspersed, four numbers by the Youth Choir, and the sermon by the Rev. Walter Cowen.

Also, on Saturday, at 11 p. m., the annual candlelight communion service will be conducted by the pastor, Miss Mildred Gippert will be the organist and Mrs. William Goetz will sing a solo. The Order of Confession and Holy Communion will follow and the Senior Choir will sing. There will be no 8 a. m. service and no session of Sunday school on Christmas Day, but a family service will be held at 11 a. m., featuring solos by Donald Fellows and Mrs. William Goetz.

Last Sunday at Atonement Lutheran, a new upright studio type piano was dedicated at services in memory of Mrs. Harry Anders from funds given in her memory by friends, members and organizations in which she was associated, along with other donations and funds given by several confirmation classes over the past two years.

Eighty Attended Lions Yule Fete

The annual Saugerties Lions Club Children's Christmas party was held Monday evening at the Flamingo Restaurant. Over 80 children and Lions attended the gala holiday meeting, which featured a turkey dinner prepared by Lion Sparky Greco's staff.

Highlights of the evening included a visit from Santa Claus, who has always made a pre-Christmas trip to the Saugerties Lions Club to distribute gifts to children in attendance, and an exciting new band called "Santa's Messengers" performing for Lions and their guests—well-received as they had been at Saugerties Lions Club Ulster County Community Chest audio-video-telethon earlier in the month. The group is composed of Dean Rittie, Craig Guthell, Franny Gunn, Bob Garrison and Rusty Brinnier, all Saugerties High School freshmen. F. L. Russell was the announcer. Another group of younger boys, called the "Lions Cubs," presented several skits and acted with the use of records and record players. This group is composed of Robbie Russell, John Cline, Jimmy Redder, George Redder, Billy Maines and Billy Brinnier.

Reformed Church

Christmas Day will be observed Sunday at Reformed Church of Saugerties with one family service combining both regular sessions of Sunday church school and the two church services. This family service will be held at 9:45 a. m. in the church sanctuary.

Sermon for Christmas by the Rev. Orville J. Hine is entitled "Christmas—God's Promise Fulfilled." Music at the service will be under the direction of Howard Houghtaling with the combined choirs singing "Gesu Bambino" by Ringwald. The church has been decorated for the Christmas season under the direction of Mrs. Peter Emerick.

Youth Fellowship which regularly meets Sunday evenings will not meet during Christmas vacation. Girl Scouts also will not meet.

Honor Student

The name of Charles James with an 85 per cent average was omitted from the Kingston High School listing of honor students for the marking period ending Dec. 2.

Many Decorated Vacant Stores

The Public Affairs Committee of the Saugerties Woman's Club has carried through what it considers a fine project for the betterment of the Village of Saugerties.

Last October, members discussed bringing something of the spirit of Christmas to as many of the empty stores in the shopping areas of the village as possible. Through intensive planning and by contacting property owners involved, and with decorative materials supplied by local businesses, industries and private citizens, many stores have been decorated. The results can only be called pleasing to the eye of residents and visitors shopping in the village.

Among the organizations which cooperated in this endeavor were the Monday Club, Saugerties Chapter DAR, Girls Community Club, Garden Club, Saugerties Jaycees, CYO Teenage Federation, seven local Girl Scout troops, Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts and the Woman's Club of Saugerties.

Rebekahs Enjoy Christmas Party

A Christmas party was enjoyed by Agadæ Rebekahs of Queen of the Catskill Mountain Lodge 26 at their meeting last week in the West Saugerties hall. Committee in charge of the Yule event included Herma Potter, Erna Kohler and Noble Grand Augusta Schirmer.

The hall was decorated with Christmas trimmings and colored ribboned sandwiches and other refreshments were served. Gifts were exchanged and many members participated in the hilarious entertainment provided.

Applications have been received for several new members and initiation ceremonies will be held Thursday, Jan. 19. Members voted a donation to the Tuberculosis Association and Noble Grand Augusta Schirmer reported on the School of Instruction held at Bearsville earlier this month. Members will also remember shut-ins during the holidays and learned that the fruit cake project was a great success.

Named to the next refreshment committee were Anna Krohm, Katherine Higgins and Theresa Wasserbach.

Candlelight Service

The annual Christmas Eve service of Reformed Church of Saugerties will be held Saturday at 8 p. m. in the sanctuary of the church.

The service will be by candlelight with the significant events of the birth of Christ portrayed in word and music by the pastor, the Rev. Orville Jay Hine, and the Senior Choir under the direction of Howard Houghtaling. The choir will sing the musical portrayal of Christmas entitled, "The Incarnate Word." As the service concludes, candles throughout the church will be lighted while the congregation sings "Silent Night, Holy Night."

Members of the community are cordially invited to attend the Christmas Eve service. Attendance as a family is especially encouraged so that boys and girls may also participate in the significant observance of the birth of Christ.

WSCS Yule Luncheon

The Christmas luncheon of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Saugerties Methodist Church was highlighted by a presentation of the play "For This Little Time," directed by Theodore Larson, program chairman. Participants in the play were: Mrs. George Wilde, Mrs. David Cunningham, Mrs. George Sawutz and Mrs. David Jones. Piano accompaniment was played by Mrs. David Cartmell. The setting of the play was the home of Mary on the anniversary of her Son's birth. She reminisces with her friend Mary Magdalene and Sarah and reflects on the meaning of his birth for all time.

The luncheon was served by hostesses, Mrs. Roy Helmsmoortel, Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. Norman Bolinder, Mrs. George Transom and Mrs. Bruce Damerell. The next meeting will be held

Highlight Was Play

Jan. 3, 1967 at 7:45 p. m. in the chapel. The program will be entitled "Open Ends." All women in the church are invited to attend.

PRE-CHRISTMAS CLEARANCE

We figured, "What would be a nicer gift than a portable stereo..." to take great music where the fun is? What would be a better gift for anyone than a portable TV... that can travel to the sick room... the breakfast nook... the sewing room... the porch or patio... Some of the new ones come with their own batteries and play beautifully aboard the Chris Craft, or on a picnic, or at the swimmin' hole.

Sounds logical, doesn't it? Well, we were wrong. Folks have been buying color TV, console stereos, and black & white consoles - but the portables have been overlooked. If you've left the gift for that special someone for the last minute, you're in luck. For we're clearing them out at a few cents over COST! The magnificent makes... the Markle guarantee... a hand picked stock of portable stereos and portable TV's. Come see. Santas who shop Markle's this Thursday or Friday will look like big spenders!

Vague Implication Hold Possibility Of Cong Role in Talks on Vietnam

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States appears to be holding up to the Communists the possibility that representatives of the Viet Cong might be included in their own right in any Vietnamese peace talks.

But the implication is still vague and without government commitment.

No Preconditions

Secretary of State Dean Rusk would tell a news conference Wednesday only that "we are prepared to talk about the problem (of peace in Vietnam) without preconditions of any sort from either side."

In fact, Rusk declared, the United States is prepared to talk about preconditions if the Communists would prefer that — and obviously in such circumstances the United States would be prepared to consider the issue of Viet Cong representation if the other side raised it.

Some authorities here privately believe if there ever is a Vietnamese conference the representatives of North Vietnam may simply turn up with a delegation from the Viet Cong, announce it is there and challenge the United States in effect to accept the delegation or break up the conference.

Given Blank Check

The issue has arisen currently because of the U.S. appeal transmitted to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant last Monday by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg. In his letter, he asked U Thant to do everything possible to get peace talks started.

The letter seemed to give U Thant virtually a blank check on behalf of the United States. It left open the possibility that he might arrange for some direct dealing between U.S. representatives and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Without any commitment on the Viet Cong issue or on specific cease-fire questions raised by newsmen, Rusk supported what he called "a maximum freedom of maneuver" for Thant.

Plan Criminal Prosecution of Powell on Data

WASHINGTON, (AP) — A member of the subcommittee investigating spending by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's offices predicted today that the group would recommend criminal prosecution of the Harlem Democrat.

Rep. William L. Dickinson of Alabama, the senior Republican member of the special subcommittee, said he based this prediction on testimony already received.

In a statement issued by his office here, Dickinson predicted the subcommittee "would recommend criminal prosecution of Congressman Powell in at least three areas." He did not specify the areas.

Dickinson's statement came as Powell was reported to be keeping strategy in his fight to win his congressional seat.

An associate of the New York Negro Democrat said Wednesday that Powell changed his mind about blasting congressmen who want to deny him his seat Jan. 10. Instead, he said, Powell would fight "all the way to the top" to take his House seat.

May Start Drive

The associate also said Powell may announce early next year a drive to satisfy the $164,000 libel judgment which is the root of his present woes.

Powell is at his Bahamas Island retreat, where he rejected contact with newsmen and refused to testify at a House subcommittee hearing into expenditures by his Education and Labor Committee.

He faces jail for contempt of court for failing to pay the libel judgment. Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., has said he will challenge Powell's seating when Congress convenes if the Harlem lawmaker is still in contempt.

Powell ordered withdrawal Wednesday a news release blasting the congressman who are trying to unseat him. The release, which had been scheduled for use today, asked the nation's Negroes to rally to his support.

Withholds Attack

Indications were that Powell decided an attack on his foes would weaken his standing in the House.

Powell also reportedly is now trying to raise enough money to pay the judgment won by a Harlem widow.

The closed hearing of a House subcommittee recessed Wednesday with a declaration by Chairman Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, that more than 75 airline trips had been taken by members of Powell's committee were taken by someone else. The hearing resumes Dec. 29.

Smith Declares Rhodesia Has Republic Status

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith said today Rhodesia has in effect been a republic outside the British Commonwealth since the U.N. Security Council voted against it last weekend.

But Smith told a news conference he does not expect his white minority government to decide whether to declare a republic until after the first of the year and after the question has been referred to the nation's voters.

He indicated most of the four million Africans would be excluded from the referendum.

He said he had given no thought to becoming president if Rhodesia is declared a republic.

Smith said that from the time of the Security Council action, "we were de facto no longer under the control of Britain and no longer a member of the Commonwealth. If that does not mean we are a republic, I do not know what it does mean."

He contended that by its actions at the United Nations, Britain had lost control over Rhodesia and had shelved her responsibilities for the country.

He said even if Britain now tried to call off the sanctions, that would require the consent of the African and Asian countries and he did not believe they would agree.

Smith said if Rhodesia becomes a republic, certain amendments to the 1965 Constitution will be necessary. The 1965 Constitution is the one he applied after seizing independence from Britain Nov. 11, 1965, rather than submit to eventual rule by the African majority.

Admitted to Bar

WENDELL D. HARP

A New Paltz High School graduate, Wendell D. Harp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Harp, New Paltz, was admitted to practice before the New York State Bar and the Federal District Court in ceremonies at Albany, Dec. 13.

Harp is a graduate of New Paltz High, class of 59, of Union College, class of 1963, and Albany Law School, class of 1966. He is a member of the firm of Harp and Hafke and married to the former Florence M. Ferris of New Hampton. The Harps reside at 58 Main Street, New Paltz.

Harp is the fourth member of his family to become an attorney. His father and brothers, Robert and Darrell, are also lawyers. The fourth son in the family, Elwyn, is Product Planning Manager for the typewriter division of I.B.M.

Missing Man Is Found Dead on Rail Property

An 86-year-old Poughkeepsie man, James Pittman of 93 Catherine Street, Poughkeepsie, who had been reported missing from his home since about 2 p. m. Wednesday, was found dead along the West Shore Railroad tracks at Highland today. The body was discovered by Mrs. Katherine Tuttle of Dock Street, Highland.

Coroner William S. Keyser issued a verdict of death from natural causes. Death was due to a coronary insufficiency.

Pittman was reported missing from his home Wednesday afternoon and had apparently wandered across the Mid-Hudson bridge to the Highland shore. The body of the elderly man was found some 200 yards north of the Highland crossing. He had apparently sat down alongside the tracks and was fatally stricken.

An investigation was conducted by Investigator Roger Gardner of the BCI and Troopers Stanley Kowalik and Jerry Hennie of the Highland station.

Identification was made by a grandson, Frank Pittman. Pittman had last been seen about 11 a. m. Wednesday.

Stewart Given Phone Firms' 1st Neighbor Award

An engineer for New York Telephone, Ralph H. Stewart, was given the company's first Good Neighbor Award in Kingston.

The Good Neighbor Award program was established to give recognition to telephone people who are outstanding in their service to the community, according to company manager William J. Pearson.

A telephone man for 26 years, Stewart was one of six candidates nominated by fellow workers and supervisors.

He is presently winding up his second term as president of the YMCA; is co-chairman of the industrial division, Ulster County Community Chest, and is a former director of the Kingston Lions Club.

Stewart designed and built a suspension bridge for the 'Y' Day Camp and was chairman of the grounds committee of the Jaycees-sponsored Little League team.

In 1965 he received an "Outstanding Citizen" award from the Community Chest and, in 1963-64, was the recipient of achievement certificates for his fund-raising efforts.

Children Hardly Remember Saint Started Legend

By JAMES M. LONG
BARI, Italy (AP) — Santa Claus is a forgotten man in his home town.

Hardly a child in all this southern Adriatic city where St. Nicholas is buried will hang up a stocking Christmas Eve.

Bari is still a stronghold of the Befana, the kind-hearted, ugly, old broom-riding witch who used to bring presents to all Italian children. Bari's youngsters still wait for her on the eve of Epiphany, Jan. 6.

Grew Out of Story

The Santa Claus of most of the Western world grew out of the story of San Nicola, the 4th-century bishop of Myra, in Asia Minor, whose body was stolen from the Saracens and brought here by Bari sailors in 1087.

The exultant city proclaimed him its saint and built the gray stone Romanesque Basilica of San Nicola in the crowded old quarter of the city.

The church here never emphasized the saint as a bearer of gifts. He was and still is portrayed more as a symbol of the link between the Western and Eastern Christian churches.

Big Day in May

The big day for St. Nicholas in Bari comes each year in May, on the anniversary of the day the sailors came back with the saint's body.

A symbolic coffin is taken out to sea and brought into port escorted by the entire flag-decorated fishing fleet. There are feasts and religious ceremonies and street parades.

The children who do know about Santa Claus have no idea of the sleigh and reindeer and place. They think the whiskered man in red carries his toys on a pack-laden gray donkey and put them in shoes left at the foot of the bed.

Increase Ability To Find A-Blast Sub-Surface Sites

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials report the United States has significantly increased its ability to identify and locate underground nuclear test blasts inside the Soviet Union and is considering setting up a worldwide network of seismicographic stations.

Officials, revealing this Wednesday, said the increased U.S. capabilities amount to a breakthrough. Government scientists told Congress during hearings three years ago they had been stymied by the location and identification problems since 1961.

Prevents Cheating

Defense Department officials agreed in interviews that the new U.S. information would have the effect of limiting or preventing large-scale cheating by the Soviets in case an underground test ban treaty is signed. But they disagreed when asked what effect the developments would have on any East-West negotiations.

Some officials indicated that the findings could lead the United States to modify its demand for on-site inspection and renew its negotiations with the Soviets on a test ban treaty.

But disarmament experts argued that despite the improvements in detection, a certain amount of on-site inspection would be necessary to make sure there was no cheating.

Notes Position

This has been the U.S. position since test ban talks got underway, although the United States has reduced from 12 to 7 the number of inspection sites it considered necessary before a treaty could be signed. The Soviets have refused inspections.

Some military men are known to believe that under a treaty the Soviets would be able to test small nuclear-tipped ballistic weapons and missiles and continue to perfect them despite improved U.S. capabilities.

Negotiations to expand the 1963 nuclear test ban treaty, which limits all but underground tests, reportedly are under serious consideration in Moscow, Washington and London.

Evacuate Most of Hanoi

MOSCOW (AP) — The mayor of Hanoi said in an interview published today that one-third of the city's population, including almost all school children, has been evacuated.

Mayor Trang Qui Hung told the Hanoi correspondent of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper:

"We consider that at any moment Hanoi can be bombed."

Pravda said the interview was given "some days before the December bombings of Hanoi."

Local Death Record

Infant Perry

Graveside services for the infant daughter of Samuel and Anita Fuscardo Perry Jr., of 19 Stephan Street were held at St. Mary's Cemetery Monday.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by a sister, Dena Marie; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fuscardo; and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Perry Sr., all of Kingston. Arrangements were by the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue.

Infant Wagner

Graveside services for the infant daughter of Lt. James Wagner, USMC, and Mrs. Alice Cullen Wagner, of RD 1, Box 19, Kingston, were held at St. Mary's Cemetery Tuesday.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by a sister, Linda; three brothers, Timothy, Patrick and Curtis; and her paternal grandparents, Mrs. Mary Wagner of Pennsylvania. Lt. Wagner was recruiting officer here in Kingston before going to Vietnam. Arrangements were by the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue.

Mrs. Lola M. Hooston

Mrs. Lola M. Hooston of Palenville died this morning at Benedictine Hospital. She was born in the town of Saugerties, daughter of the late Watson and Carrie Teetsel Maxwell. Surviving are her husband, Chester A. Hooston, and three nieces. The funeral service will be held from the Hartley and Lamoree Funeral Home, Main and Second Streets, Saugerties, Saturday at 1:30 p. m. Burial will be in Jefferson Rural Cemetery, Catskill. Friends may call at the funeral home anytime after 7 o'clock this evening.

Catherine S. Zimmer

The funeral of Catherine Simmons Zimmer, 59, of Queens Village who died at Manhasset Medical Center Dec. 18 was held Wednesday 10 a. m. at St. John's Episcopal Church, Queens Village. Burial was in Woodstock Cemetery. Born in Kingston, she was the daughter of the late Fairfax and Priscilla Simmons. Surviving are her husband, Sigfried Zimmer; a son, Philip of Washington, D. C.; a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Owens of Drayton Plains, Mich.; a brother, John Simmons of Kingston and two sisters, Mrs. Leo (Elizabeth) Helmbold of Kingston and Mrs. Michael (Nettie) Kantroick of Albany.

Book Saugerties Man on Charges

A car reported stolen from Kingston shortly after 9 p. m. Wednesday was located about an hour later in the Town of Saugerties and its driver was booked on two charges.

William C. Plimley Jr., 31, of 126 Elm Street, Saugerties, was charged by local police with second degree grand larceny and by state police with leaving the scene of an accident.

Noted in Accident

Police said the car driven by Plimley, owned by William Skinner, 134 Fair Street, had been involved in an accident at Route 9W and Albany Avenue Extension before Plimley was apprehended at a Town of Saugerties gas station by Trooper James Fitzgerald. A report to local police also indicated damage to a car in the Senate parking lot.

Attorney William D. Brinnier appeared with Plimley before Special City Judge George A. Beck today on local police charges. A plea of innocent was entered and the case was put over to Dec. 29. Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher appeared for The People.

Hearing of the charge lodged by state police is scheduled for Dec. 28 before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, Town of Kingston.

Woman Gave Number

A report to local police at 9:10 p. m. said a woman gave the license number of a car which "just ran through the Senate lot doing damage and continued on."

Officers George Barringer, Douglas Longo, Patrick Cobert and Otto Short were dispatched to check but found no immediate trace of the car which was reported stolen from St. James Street and Broadway.

State police released Plimley to Detectives Gurnsey Burger and Leonard Ellsworth for his arraignment today in city court after which he was released in the custody of his attorney.

In the Town of Ulster accident, state police said Edna M. East, 56, of Dalewood Drive, Town of Ulster, driver of the other car, suffered a back injury.

Order Another Try

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A State Supreme Court justice ordered the Erie County Board of Supervisors today to try for a second time to devise a plan for reapportionment of the board.

Justice Harold P. Kelly, who set Jan. 20 as a deadline, ruled that legislative apportionment was basically a legislative responsibility.

The present board has 54 members. Kelly declared it unconstitutional earlier this year on the ground the board failed to give equal representation to all residents as decreed in the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" ruling.

The board drafted a plan that called for 20 districts and 40 members. It was defeated by the voters in the November election.

A weighted-voting plan, due to expire Dec. 31, 1967, now is in effect as a temporary relief from what Kelly has called malapportionment.

Joseph F. Aiello Dies at Age 48, Restaurant Owner

Joseph F. Aiello, 48, of RFD 1, Box 460, Kingston died suddenly at his home early this morning. He was a well known local restaurateur.

Born in Glasco, the son of Mrs. Angelina DeCicco Aiello and the late Thomas Aiello, he resided in Kingston for the past 16 years.

He was a former partner of the Jo Al Restaurant, and former proprietor of Aiello's Restaurant, on East Chester Street by Pass and Bridge Circle Inn. At the time of his death he owned the By-Pass Tavern at 340 East Chester Street.

Mr. Aiello was a veteran of World War II having served with the United States Navy.

Surviving in addition to his mother are his wife, the former Jennie Davi; a son, Joseph T. Aiello of Kingston; two brothers, Louis of Kingston and Michael of Glasco; five sisters, Mrs. Charles (Rose) Misasi, Mrs. Stephen (Marie) Ryan and Miss Virginia Aiello, all of Glasco.

Harold C. DeGraff

Harold C. DeGraff, 68, of 17 Kenney Street, Forestville, Conn. died at Bristol Hospital Wednesday morning. He was born in Kingston Oct. 6, 1898, the son of the late William H. and Jessie B. Edwards DeGraff. Mr. DeGraff was a resident of Connecticut since 1920 and had 40 years with the New Departure Ball Bearing Company. He retired in 1960. He was a past grand master of Stephen Terry Lodge, IOOF, of Bristol, and a member of Bristol Fish and Game Club, Senior Citizens Club, BPO Elks No. 110 and Prospect Methodist Church. Surviving are his wife the former Amy Anderson; a daughter, Mrs. Jane Pardo; a step-daughter, Mrs. Jane Mattson and a step-son, L. L. Anderson, all of Bristol. He is survived by eight grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held at the FUNK Funeral Home, 35 Bellevue Avenue, Bristol, Friday 2 p. m. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery at the convenience of the family. Local arrangements are by the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue.

Entertain at Children's Fete

The annual children's Christmas party sponsored by the Rondout Valley Lions Club for members and their invited guests was held at the SRS Home, Cottekill, recently.

Lion John Thorton, first vice president, reported that the annual fruitcake sale was doing well and extended his thanks to all of the many area people who support this major fund raising effort so that the club may undertake the programs to which it is dedicated.

The program chairman, Lion Merton Blanchard, provided an entertaining evening by arranging for Maurice the Great, funny man of magic and well known TV and stage performer to mys-tify, challenge, confuse and delight the children present. The youthful participants were reimbursed.

Following the performance, sleigh bells heralded the entrance of Santa Claus and his burden of gifts. After greeting the children, Santa presented each child present with a gift. Among the surprises was a presentation of a gift to last year's president, Lion Al Raymond, in recognition of the leadership provided in making the community activities of the Rondout Valley Lions Club a success.

Lion Bud Winchell, president, extended the seasons greetings to all present and adjourned the Christmas meeting.

Rocky Focuses Attention on 3 Treasuries

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller is focusing attention on conditions in the state, federal and New York City treasuries.

The Republican governor made that clear at a news conference Wednesday as he told newsmen:

— The state has agreed to make up the difference if New York City's tax on commuters fell below original estimates.

— The federal government might not be able to supply promised funds for some projects already approved.

— Until state budget figures are complete he could not commit himself to holding the tax line.

Other Subjects
The three subjects were among nearly a score Rockefeller touched on during the news conference. In clearing the decks before launching his third term in January, the governor also commented on:

ABORTION — Rockefeller said he believed the state's law restricting legal abortions should be "reviewed and reconsidered." In answer to a question, he said it was "correct" that he thought it should be liberalized.

BIRTH CONTROL — He agreed with and expressed approval of the State Social Welfare Board's action Tuesday to allow welfare officials to volunteer birth-control information to welfare recipients. Previously, such information has been restricted to cases where the applicant raised the question.

U.S. SENATE — "No, sir," he replied when asked if he might consider running for the U.S. Senate seat held by Jacob K. Javits should Javits become the Republican vice presidential nominee in 1968. "I am by long experience an administrator and executive, not a legislator."

Ready to Sign Bill
DIRECT PRIMARY — Informed that Democratic U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy had questioned whether a direct primary would be the proper way to select candidates for state wide office, Rockefeller commented, "You're kidding." He said he was prepared to sign a direct-primary bill.

POLLUTION — The governor took exception with federal estimates of how much it will cost to clean up the Hudson and Mohawk Rivers. Rockefeller said the state set the price tag at $835 million, as opposed to the federal estimate of $5 billion. He also said the state's six-year, $1.7 billion anti-pollution program was on schedule. He expressed concern, however, that the federal government would not supply promised funds.

NEW YORK CITY — Rockefeller said there was an agreement to make up the difference if the expected revenue from a communications. The estimate was $16 million and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay said the city expects to receive that amount. Rockefeller was commenting on Lindsay's suggestion that the commuter tax be brought in line with the higher residents' levy.

To Sue Gotham
MIDDELTOWN, N.J. (AP) — A New Jersey woman who commutes across the Hudson River said today she plans to file suit against New York City and State to determine whether commuter taxes on nonresidents are legal.

Bernard Mitzner, a chemist from Middletown, said he heads an organization known as the American Commuters Association which, he said, will seek an injunction to bar the city and state from taxing nonresidents. If the commuter tax is found legal, Mitzner said, his group would demand services from the city and state similar to those offered residents, such as scholarships and pensions.

His action came after Mayor John V. Lindsay was reported to be planning a raise in commuter taxes.

"We feel the tax is illegal," Mitzner said. "Labor is a form of commerce. To be forced to pay tribute to New York for the privilege of working there is a form of obstacle."

Chester Firm Has Low Bid for Work In Wallkill Prison

A Chester firm was the apparent low bidder on replacement work at Wallkill Prison according to the State Department of Public Works. Joseph Fichera, Chester, bid $23,700 as the cost of replacing domestic hot water tanks at the Mess Hall Building of the prison. His was one of two bids received.

A total of $31,831,121.80 in low bids for this and 13 other projects involving construction, repair and alterations to state-owned facilities were opened in Albany Wednesday.

In Poughkeepsie, Roy C. Knapp and Sons, Beacon, was named to construct and provide heating and electrical work at Building 51 of the Hudson River State Hospital. The bid was one of three offered on the job.

One Vote Counts

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — A lone voter is scheduled to cast a ballot Jan. 11 to decide whether this city will annex 41 acres now in suburban New Hartford.

She is Miss Patricia Cannon, 26, the one registered voter living on the 41-acre plot, a part of the campus of Utica College of Syracuse University. Since Miss Cannon's election district would be changed by annexation, state law requires her approval.

The city and New Hartford settled on annexation-sought by the college — as the method to solve problems stemming from building codes and police and fire protection in the area, on the boundary between the two communities.

Four election inspectors will be on hand during the six-hour special election, which was ordered Wednesday night by the New Hartford Town Board.

Miss Cannon, the Utica college housing director, is reported to favor annexation.

Resnick Offers Help of Office To Keep Vassar

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. Joseph Resnick, D-N.Y., offered Wednesday to use "the power, prestige and influence" of his office to persuade Vassar College to remain in Poughkeepsie.

The girls college, established here 106 years ago, has undertaken a study with Yale University to determine the feasibility of moving to New Haven, Conn. The move could take place as early as 1972.

The Ellenville congressman made his offer in a letter to Mayor Richard W. Mitchell of Poughkeepsie.

1,800 Strikers Ordered Back to Work in Kokomo

By STEPHEN M. AUG

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has ordered 1,800 striking steelworkers back to work at a Kokomo, Ind., factory vital to manufacture of warplanes for Vietnam.

But U.S. District Judge Leonard P. Walsh stayed execution of the order until noon today to give the union time to appeal to higher court.

Thus, whether the strikers must return to work for 80 days under the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act is up to the U.S. Court of Appeals. If the order is upheld the strikers must go back to work while bargaining is resumed. They have closed the factory of Union Carbide Corp. since Sept. 30. It is the major U.S. source of a vital metal alloy.

A presidential board of inquiry, appointed Monday, found that the primary issue in the strike is a union desire for coordinated bargaining by three unions — the United Steelworkers of America; Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers, and International Chemical Workers — at 11 company plants.

Although the strike has closed 10 other Union Carbide plants, only the Stellite Division at Kokomo makes the vital alloy — hastalloy-X — and only this plant would be reopened under an injunction.

Press for Injunction

The Justice Department pressed for the injunction against the steelworkers' union on grounds that supplies of hastalloy-X will be exhausted by the end of the month, idling jet engine manufacture and possibly resulting in an acute shortage of replacement parts for aircraft in Vietnam.

In ordering the injunction the judge said a substantial part of an industry had been affected by the strike and that it indeed affected the nation's safety.

The government based much of its argument on a statement from Cyrus R. Vance, deputy secretary of defense.

Vance said hastalloy-X, a special high-temperature alloy, is used to fabricate combustion liners for jet engines on the F4 Phantom. RF4 reconnaissance plane and the F104 high altitude fighter.

Vance said the F4 used by the Navy and Air Force "has been assigned to combat operations in Southeast Asia under the highest priority."

Stellite, he added, is the major producer of the alloy.

U.S. Will Move Ahead to Offset Missile Threats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration plans to move ahead with initial measures to offset Soviet deployment of a new missile defense system without waiting for the outcome of diplomatic efforts to freeze U.S. and Soviet nuclear missile armaments at their present level.

Officials said today that only this double-track plan of action — taking countermeasures and diplomatic steps at the same time — would prudently protect vital U.S. security interests.

To Advise Congress

The administration program will be presented to Congress by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara early next year. Indications are that details of the program have not been fully worked out but will be given final shape by decisions now in process.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned at a news conference Wednesday that the world's two greatest powers are on the verge of a new and costly phase in the nuclear arms race. "We would regret very much the lifting of the arms race to an entirely new plateau of major expenditures," Rusk said.

Seek Ways to Cut

"We would like to see some means developed by which both sides would not have to go into wholly new and unprecedented levels of military expenditures, with perhaps no perceptible result in the total strategic situation."

In plain language, officials said, the Soviet Union and the United States are threatened with having to spend perhaps $30 billion apiece in nuclear weapons development without really changing the strategic balance in the world. The administration's idea is that they should find some way to freeze the present balance and save the money for other uses.

Last month McNamara said at a news conference at President

Johnson's Texas ranch that the Soviet Union had begun deploying a system of defensive missiles designed to destroy attacking missiles.

Countermeasure

His initial countermeasure proposal is to improve U.S. striking power with the production of a multibillion-dollar Poseidon missile as a successor to the present submarine-borne Polaris.

McNamara added that the Soviet deployment so far had not upset the balance between the two powers. But he also made clear that he thought the United States should go forward on new programs.

Extensive research has been done on an American defensive missile system, the Nike-X, and there is considerable favor in the Defense Department for beginning work on production and development.

In recent days U.S. officials disclosed that work was under way on a new approach to the Soviets in the disarmament field to try to control this new stage of the missile race before it got out of hand. This in turn gave rise to general speculation that the administration would delay reaction was known.

Actually, there have been some informal contacts with the Soviets on this problem. Serious talks are not expected, however, until the new U.S. ambassador, Lewellyn E. Thompson, gets to Moscow in January or perhaps until disarmament discussions in the 17-nation group are resumed at Geneva Feb. 21.

Jury Levels Charge At Albany Paper

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An Albany County grand jury Wednesday accused The Knickerbocker News, this city's afternoon newspaper, of making "accusations, innuendos and charges" against county officials and grand jurors "without any foundation or semblance of evidence."

The grand jury leveled the charge in a presentment issued Wednesday.

Veteran court officials here could not recall the last time a presentment had been issued here.

Critical of Regime

A presentment is a statement by a grand jury of any offense or unlawful state of affairs from the jury's own knowledge or observation.

The Knickerbocker News and its morning affiliate in the Hearst Corp., The Times-Union, long have been critical—in their editorial columns—of Albany County's Democratic-controlled administration.

Recently, the grand jury summoned Robert G. Fichenberg, executive editor of The Knickerbocker News, and other editorial staff members to testify.

In its six-paragraph presentment, the grand jury referred to a Knickerbocker News editorial of last Oct. 14 and said it

"castigated the officers of Albany County and the grand jurors of this county...without any basis of fact or evidence, and was completely false."

Called Threat to Rights

"We condemn this type of irresponsible news reporting which casts false inferences. Such forms of journalism are a threat to one of our basic constitutional rights," the presentment said.

"Accusations, innuendos and charges have been made in the newspaper columns without foundation or any semblance of evidence," it continued.

"The grand jury system is a proven, basic protection afforded to citizens and we uphold the system at all times. The citizens of Albany County can be assured of its fairness and uncompromising judgment, and any attack leveled upon this system by anyone is unwarranted."

The presentment said that Albany County officials and grand jurors had "consistently performed their duties loyally, conscientiously and faithfully."

The power to issue presentments was taken away from grand juries several years ago by the Legislature and was restored last year.

SENIOR CITIZENS FETED—A holiday season party for senior citizens of Wiltwyck Gardens, Albany Avenue, was held Tuesday afternoon in the Community Room at the housing site through the efforts of Adrian Kaplan and Lawrence A. Quilty. Slides of the summer picnic held at the Gardens were shown followed by a songfest with Alexander Yosman Jr., accompanying on the piano. Refreshments were served and gifts were presented to each resident of the development. Kaplan and Quilty expressed their intention of making this holiday season party a traditional event each year. (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr.)

Rocky Gives Go-Ahead For Upstate Study

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A five-county regional planning commission has received a go ahead from Gov. Rockefeller to study its assigned area under terms of a federal grant.

The commission embraces Clinton, Essex, Hamilton, Warren and Washington counties. It will study population growth, industrial development and recreational needs.

The State Office of Planning Coordination will assist the group, which will be financed through a $200,000 federal grant and $100,000 in state funds.

The commission is one of the two in the state. The other comprises Nassau and Suffolk counties.

Dies in Fall

DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—The body of a former Plattsburgh, N.Y., youth was recovered Wednesday from the side of a mountain where it had lodged after the youth fell 1,000 feet to his death.

Searchers discovered the body of Grant Trigg, 19, of Fallbrook, on the east face of 10,800-foot Telescope Peak in the Death Valley National Monument. The body was found at the 9,500-foot level.

Park Superintendent John Stratton said Trigg fell Tuesday while hiking with John Schultz, also 19, of Fallbrook. He said the youths had climbed the mountain and were descending when Trigg fell.

Appoint Upstate Woman Head of Consumers Group

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A suburban housewife has been chosen New York State chairman of a consumers' group fighting what it says is the high cost of food.

Mrs. Armand P. Herreras of Williamsville said Wednesday she received word of her appointment to the post from Mrs. Ruth L. Kane of Denver, Colo., president of the National Housewives for Lower Food Prices.

Mrs. Herreras formerly was co-chairman of the group in Western New York. The state chapter includes districts in Buffalo, Rochester, Glens Falls and Ticonderoga.

The housewives gained national attention earlier this year when they staged picketing and boycotts of supermarkets.

The major efforts now, however, involve writing congressmen concerning food prices and the national economy, studying the profit and loss reports of grocery chains and making monthly price comparisons.

Mrs. Herreras said.

Trigg and Roland Schultz, had joined searchers.

Trigg's father formerly was employed by the Plattsburgh Press-Republican.

Name Two Firms For $150,000 in Negligence Suit

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A steel company and a steamship line have been named defendants in a $150,000 negligence suit filed by the mother of a sailor who died in the sinking of the ore carrier Daniel J. Morrell.

The legal action was started Wednesday in U.S. District Court by Mrs. Catherine Witkowski of nearby Boston, N.Y. She acted as administratrix for the estate of her son, Chester Konieczka, 45, with whom she shared her home.

The defendants are the Bethlehem Steel Corp. and the Cambria Steamship Co. of Cleveland, Ohio.

Konieczka, a bachelor, was a fireman aboard the Morrell, which sank in Lake Huron during a storm Nov. 29. All but one of the ship's 29 crewmen, eight of them from Western New York, perished.

The suit was the first filed here in connection with the disaster. Two others have been filed in Ohio.

One of Mrs. Witkowski's lawyers, John E. Drury Jr., said it was decided to press the claim in Buffalo because the city is near Lackawanna, Bethlehem's South Feddick Road.

the Morrell began its last trip. He said Cambria was included in the suit because it was unclear whether Bethlehem owned the 66-year-old vessel or leased it from the steamship line. The suit asks that a jury award $100,000 for Konieczka's death and $50,000 to compensate for his injuries, pain and exposure when the ship sank. Mrs. Witkowski's home is in South Feddick Road.

Rocky Unveils Portrait of Ave

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Former Gov. Averell Harriman "was one of the great governors" of New York State, Gov. Rockefeller says.

The Republican governor made the comment about his Democratic predecessor Wednesday as he unveiled a portrait of Harriman that will hang outside the Executive Chamber in the Capitol.

It is traditional for a former governor to present a portrait of himself to be on view along with the other governors of the state.

Harriman, governor from 1955 through 1959, is now a roving ambassador for the United States.

Names Ogdensburg Lawyer County Judge

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller today appointed Edmund L. Shea, an Ogdensburg lawyer, to succeed the late Roger W. Daniels as judge of the St. Lawrence County Court.

Shea has served as counsel for the Ogdensburg Bridge Authority, a special assistant state attorney general and regional attorney for the Civil Service Employees Association.

Rockefeller said that Shea's appointment had been recommended unanimously by the County Bar Association.

Lights Will Dim Saturday at 5:30 For Green Event

For the 28th year, the bells of the Dutch Reformed Church on Woodstock's Village Green will ring out loud and clear at 5:30 p. m. this Saturday to herald the town's traditional Christmas Eve program.

This annual gathering for carols and a visit from Santa Claus was inaugurated almost three decades ago by the new defunct Woodstock Winter Sports Association. Active in the years following the Big Depression, the association maintained a toboggan slide on Ohayo Mountain at Bearsville, a ski area and ice skating pond.

In later years, the Christmas event for the entire township and visitors was sponsored by numerous civic groups, as well as the Dutch Reformed Church, the Fire Company, the American Legion and the Woodstock Square Club. The well loved "Pop" Franchling, who died of injuries suffered in a hit-and-run accident several years ago, revived the event almost singlehandedly when it was abandoned for a few years. The program has always managed to weld the Christmas spirit with neighborly conviviality.

The present Christmas Eve Committee is an organization with itself that was begun about a dozen years ago under the leadership of artist John Pike and Joseph Holdridge, local businessmen, who long played Santa before retiring from that role. Pike and Holdridge still help with the program, when they can, as do other Woodstockers who have been on the committee for 12 years or more, having served with previous groups.

This year's program will represent much more than the obvious gathering of Woodstockers to sing carols on the Green and introduce their children to Santa. The Christmas Committee, with public donations, will provide stockings of candy and fruit for each child attending, and will distribute Christmas baskets to those who are alone, ill or in need.

Anyone who knows of adults or children deserving of Christmas cheer and food baskets is asked to contact Paul DeLisio after 6 p. m. at his home.

Science Award Winner Named at Marlboro School

Throughout the United States, educators recognize the annual Bausch & Lomb Honorary Science Award as evidence of superior scientific aptitude.

In announcing Kirk Maurer as the 1967 winner, Principal Frederick Bement of Marlboro High School said, "These awards are especially significant. Today, everyone realizes the importance of the study of science in our secondary schools. The Bausch & Lomb Honorary Science Award provides recognition to senior students with the highest scholastic standing in science subjects."

Winners of the Honorary Science Award are eligible to compete for science scholarships, at the University of Rochester. Three or more scholarships are sponsored by Bausch & Lomb; the University provides an even

Science Teachers Hold Symposium

The Ontario Science Colloquium, recently formed by members of the Science Department of Ontario Central Schools, held its first meeting, "A Symposium on Blood," Monday at the home of Richard Nixdorf, physics instructor at Ontario High School. This symposium was the first designed to meet the objectives of the organization—the sharing of information and opinions among members of the Science Department in regard to recent advances in science and scientific thinking. Materials used in preparation for these discussions are gathered together in bound form and submitted to the high school library for use as a source of reference on the particular subject in question.

The discussion initially centered around Kinins, hormones produced in the blood and other tissues in minute quantities. Roger Strout, biology instructor, pointed out the strength of these minute quantities, their effects on the human body, and the experimental procedures used to detect them. Henry Boucher, biology instructor, initiated a discussion of atherosclerosis, a disease that affects the inside tissue of the major arteries of the body. Willis Witter, chemistry instructor, discussed the delicate body mechanism that controls the pH of the blood and discussed the principles of buffering and its importance in maintaining the delicate pH balance in the blood.

Richard Nixdorf, physics instructor, discussed the study of blood hemoglobin by X-ray diffraction techniques and the progress that has been made in the knowledge of the structure of these complex chemical compounds. Richard Wahl, general science instructor, initiated a discussion on the strengths of acids found in the human body and how the body protects itself from them. The program concluded with a microscope slide presentation of histological slides prepared by Andrew Angstrom, student teacher from State University at New Paltz.

The second meeting of the Science Colloquium has been set for late January and will have as its topic, "Drugs, and Their Effects on the Body." Topics to be covered will be narcotic type drugs, truth drugs, and hallucinogenic drugs. Science teachers from area schools who are interested in attending meetings may obtain more information by contacting Richard Nixdorf at Ontario Central High School, Boiceville.

Over 'Death of A President'

Publishing Firm Ready To Follow Settlement Lines Made With Look

NEW YORK (AP) — The chief counsel for Harper & Row said today the book publishing firm "will be very glad" to settle the Kennedy book controversy with Mrs. John F. Kennedy along the lines of her out-of-court agreement with Look magazine.

To Start Jan. 10

Requested deletions and modifications that pertain to the personal life of Mrs. Kennedy and her children will allow Look to publish a four-part serialization of the book, "The Death of a President," as scheduled. The first part of the 80,000-word series will be in the Look issue of Jan. 10.

When informed of the agreement reached Wednesday night, Edward S. Greenbaum, attorney for Harper & Row, said: "Harper & Row will be very glad to make a similar arrangement with Mrs. Kennedy."

Harper & Row officials requested a conference today with Simon H. Rifkind, attorney for Mrs. Kennedy.

Both Mrs. Kennedy and Gardner Cowles, chairman of the board of Cowles Communications, Inc., publishers of Look, issued statements shortly after the agreement was announced.

"I hope," said Cowles, "that the controversy between the Kennedy family and Harper & Row will be speedily resolved because Cass Canfield (chairman of the executive committee of Harper & Row) has been extremely helpful in the discussions concerning the serialization."

"The public should not be deprived of the opportunity to read" author William Manchester's manuscript, Cowles added.

Not Represented Wednesday

Harper & Row plans to come out in book form next April with the 300,000-word story of the assassination of President Kennedy. The firm was not represented at Wednesday's meetings which led to the Look agreement.

Mrs. Kennedy said in her statement that "Look magazine has agreed to remove or modify all those passages in the magazine version of 'The Death of a President' relating to the personal life" of herself and her children.

"These paragraphs," Mrs. Kennedy's statement continued, "were the sole reasons for the initiation of her legal action. Since every passage of a personal nature under contention for several months was either deleted by Look, or changed to her satisfaction, Mrs. Kennedy has withdrawn her suit."

The Cowles' statement said that the changes involved "approximately 1,600 out of 80,000 authorized words, but that they 'in no way affected the historical accuracy or completeness of Mr. Manchester's manuscript.'"

Mrs. Kennedy, in what was interpreted by some as an apparent but indirect allusion to President Johnson, said in her statement:

Jackie's Statement
"I have been told there are historical inaccuracies and unfair references in this book. That they have been written is unfortunate. However, it was clear before bringing this suit that historical judgments, even if inaccurate, could not properly be suppressed by a court of law. In time, history will deal fairly and justly with this period."

Several persons who have read the book reported that it shows a hostility by the Kennedys towards Johnson and depicts the President in an unfavorable light. Some of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's advisors felt that it could further strain the political relationship between Johnson and Kennedy and possibly have an adverse effect on the Democratic senator's political future.

No RFK Comment

A source close to the Kennedy family said earlier in the week that members of the family also were upset about the references to Johnson in the book, and that they felt Manchester had treated the President unfairly.

Robert Kennedy, vacationing in Sun Valley, Idaho, declined to comment on the Look agreement.

Manchester could not be reached immediately for comment.

Mrs. Kennedy said in her statement that "no material of historical significance has been altered nor has the historical record been impaired in the slightest by the modifications and deletions."

She said that neither she nor Robert Kennedy "has in any way approved or endorsed the material in the Look articles."

"The author, William Manchester, and the publisher of Look magazine have assumed complete and sole responsibility," she said.

Cowles said the changes "concern only the passages to which Mrs. Kennedy objected on personal grounds."

"We are satisfied," he said, "with the outcome of the discussions."

Richard N. Goodwin, a former aide to President Kennedy who is acting as Mrs. Kennedy's adviser, made the final revisions in the serialization.

There were at least 12 principal passages in the book that Mrs. Kennedy wanted adjusted. These included:

Adjustments Noted

—Her reported reaction of "that's absurd," when she was informed that Lee Harvey Oswald had been identified as her husband's assassin. "He (President Kennedy) didn't even have the satisfaction of being killed for civil rights," she was reported as having said. "It had to be some silly, little Communist."

—Manchester's detailed account of how she used petroleum jelly to slip her wedding ring from her finger and place it on the dead President's hand. The ring was later removed.

—An account in her own words of the last night she spent with the President before he was assassinated in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

—Quotations from a love letter to her husband.

—A passage relating that she was unable to make a decision on how to tell her daughter, Caroline, who was five at the time, that her father had been killed. The Kennedy family nurse, Maud Shaw, reportedly told Caroline of the death.

—A vivid account of how she tried to cover Kennedy's wounds after the shooting and how she refused to allow him to be taken into Parkland Hospital in Dallas until a Secret Service agent covered him with a coat.

—Details of family bickering over where the body of the President should be buried. Mrs. Kennedy finally chose Arlington National Cemetery.

Board Convened After Arrest of 12 CR Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — The Board of Education has its hearing room back and the 12 civil rights leaders who for two days formed a "people's board" to dramatize their charges of "failure to properly educate the children of the ghetto" are under arrest.

Just before being arrested Wednesday, the leader of the sit-in, the Rev. Milton A. Galamison, demanded, "We need a new board of education in New York when 85 per cent of the children are not fit to make a living."

Throw Up Pickets

"Arrests for dope and delinquency are so high, it doesn't take too much more to show that you need a new board of education," he said.

The 50 sympathizers in the audience cheered and 40 of them immediately threw up a picket line outside the Brooklyn headquarters of the board.

Galamison, pastor of the Siloam Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn; the Rev. Robert Nicholas of the East Harlem Protestant Parish; the Rev. John Powell of St. Benedict's Roman Catholic Church in Brooklyn; and the nine other men and women on the mock board were arrested one by one. They were paroled for a later hearing in Brooklyn Criminal Court.

The proposed $1.1 billion school budget, the president of the board, Lloyd K. Garrison, refused to let a woman who was not on the speakers schedule speak. Harlem and Brooklyn parents protested vigorously and Garrison adjourned the hearing.

The protestors then elected an "Ad Hoc Board of Education," whose 12 members sat in the board's plush seats and heard grievances from ghetto parents until Wednesday.

Confer With Lindsay

Garrison said Wednesday he had spoken about the situation to Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Shortly before 4 p.m., a school official asked the 12 to leave so the board could meet at 8 p.m. "We will have to be placed under arrest," Galamison replied. He turned to the audience. "We all know who should be arrested. If we were turning out automobiles like we're turning out people in the schools, we'd be out of business."

New Paltz Teachers to School

NEW PALTZ—Thirty members of the faculty of New Paltz Central School are participating in a weekly two-hour in-service workshop entitled, Improvement of Reading Services. P. Jerry Hutchins, supervisor of reading in Wappingers Falls, is the instructor. The proposal for the project was prepared by John L. Wyman, High School principal and approved by the New State Education Department. Accordingly, 50 per cent of the cost is paid by the state.

This is the third year that such a program has been given in the New Paltz Central Schools. Science experiments and modern mathematics have been the topics of previous workshops. Teachers are enthusiastic about the workshops and gain professionally from participation therein.

Chest Nears Goal

So far $9,942.40 has been collected or pledged in New Paltz for the Ulster County Community Chest. However, this amount falls $257.60 short of the goal of $10,200. Send contributions to John L. Wyman, New Paltz chairman, 28 Church Street, New Paltz.

Yule Vacation Starts

The New Paltz Central Schools (Duzine Gardiner and Central) closed Wednesday, at the end of the school day for Christmas vacation. They will reopen on Tuesday, Jan. 3.

Library Yule Party

The Regional Library Council of Orange and Ulster Counties held their Christmas meeting at New Paltz Central School from 3:30 to 5:00 on December 13th. Representatives and librarians from Washingtonville, Wallkill and Rondout Valley joined the librarian and Library Assistants of New Paltz High School in the high school library for the Christmas program. Two seniors from New Paltz, Uk Hong Jeun from Korea and Dawn Mbatha from South Africa told the group how Christmas is celebrated in their country and Mr. Dennis Soto, a member of the faculty at New Paltz, told about Christmas in his native Puerto Rico. After a brief business meeting conducted by Sylvia Scheiper, president of the Library Council, gifts were exchanged and refreshments were served in the high school cafeteria. All decorations and refreshments were prepared by Mrs. Constance Lewis, caterer, whose daughter is a member of the New Paltz Library Assistants.

Allocated $11 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York State has been allocated $11,057,993 on a population basis for two fiscal years to upgrade its highway safety program. The Commerce Department announced the fund Wednesday. States must match the money on a 50-50 basis. Under the highway safety law, 75 per cent of the funds are apportioned to the states on a population basis. The remainder can be awarded at the department's discretion. The safety programs must include mandatory automobile inspection and periodic examinations of motorists. New York State was awarded $4,400,354 for the current fiscal year and $6,657,639 for the next fiscal year. The difference is explained by a larger appropriation for the next fiscal year.

List Sampling Of Observances For Christmas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From bustling Japanese department stores to Brazilian beaches and an Arab checkpoint in Jerusalem, people of the world are making ready to celebrate the birthday of Christ.

Some Christmas customs, such as the Polish rush to buy trees, are familiar in many lands. Others, such as street dancing in Ghana, are not. But all add up to the holiday formula: Faith, feasting and festivity.

Thousands of pilgrims will line up at Mandelbaum gate in Jerusalem to cross into Jordan for services in Bethlehem at the Church of the Nativity, over the grotto where—tradition says—Jesus was born.

Bikini in Brazil

In Brazil, where Christmas usually brings crowds to the seashore, you can give your girl a bikini and not have to wait six months to see her in it. The holiday comes at the beginning of the Brazilian summer.

Here is a sampling of Christmas observances around the world:

JAPAN—Christmas has no religious meaning but store owners cashing in on an economic upswing have made it a commercial success. Sales, Christmas trees, Santa Claus and recorders lure Japanese to department stores in record numbers. Battery-operated toy monsters popularized by television are big sellers. Thousands of Christmas cakes with "Merry Xmas" written in chocolate across the top are sold at prices up to $2.

ITALY—Few Roman Catholic priests spoke out this year against the growing use of the yule tree instead of the creche and the trend to Santa Claus instead of the Good Witch Befana, who brings children gifts on Epiphany Day, Jan. 6.

SOVIET UNION—For the first time, Father Frost, Russia's jolly, bearded version of Santa Claus, is making house calls. So are his granddaughters, the Snow Maidens. Father Frost traditionally put gifts under yule trees as children slept Christmas morning. The Communists changed that, and now his day is New Year's. This year, Detski Mir, Russia's biggest children's store, announced that for a 33-cent fee parents could arrange for Father Frost or a Snow Maiden to deliver presents to children in person. The response was overwhelming. By coincidence, deliveries start Dec. 25.

CUBA—Religious observances and Santa Claus are being de-emphasized in favor of year-end fiestas and celebration of the 41st anniversary of Fidel Castro's victory Jan. 1. Food, drink and gifts are in short supply and rationed for "equal distribution."

GREAT BRITAIN—Turkeys at 63 to 70 cents a pound are "in" for Christmas dinners instead of the traditional goose. The teddy bear remains the favorite child's gift. The Bank of England says there is more cash in circulation than ever before, despite the economic crisis, and Christmas spending promises to set a record.

WEST GERMANY—A Dueseldorf shop offered a jeweled, silver Christmas tree for $250,000 but most retailers reported a trend toward practical gifts and away from impulse buying. The big sales increases of previous years were not noted. Tabletop auto racing and Gemini capsules from the United States are popular new toys. Old favorites include dolls, castles, stuffed animals and games.

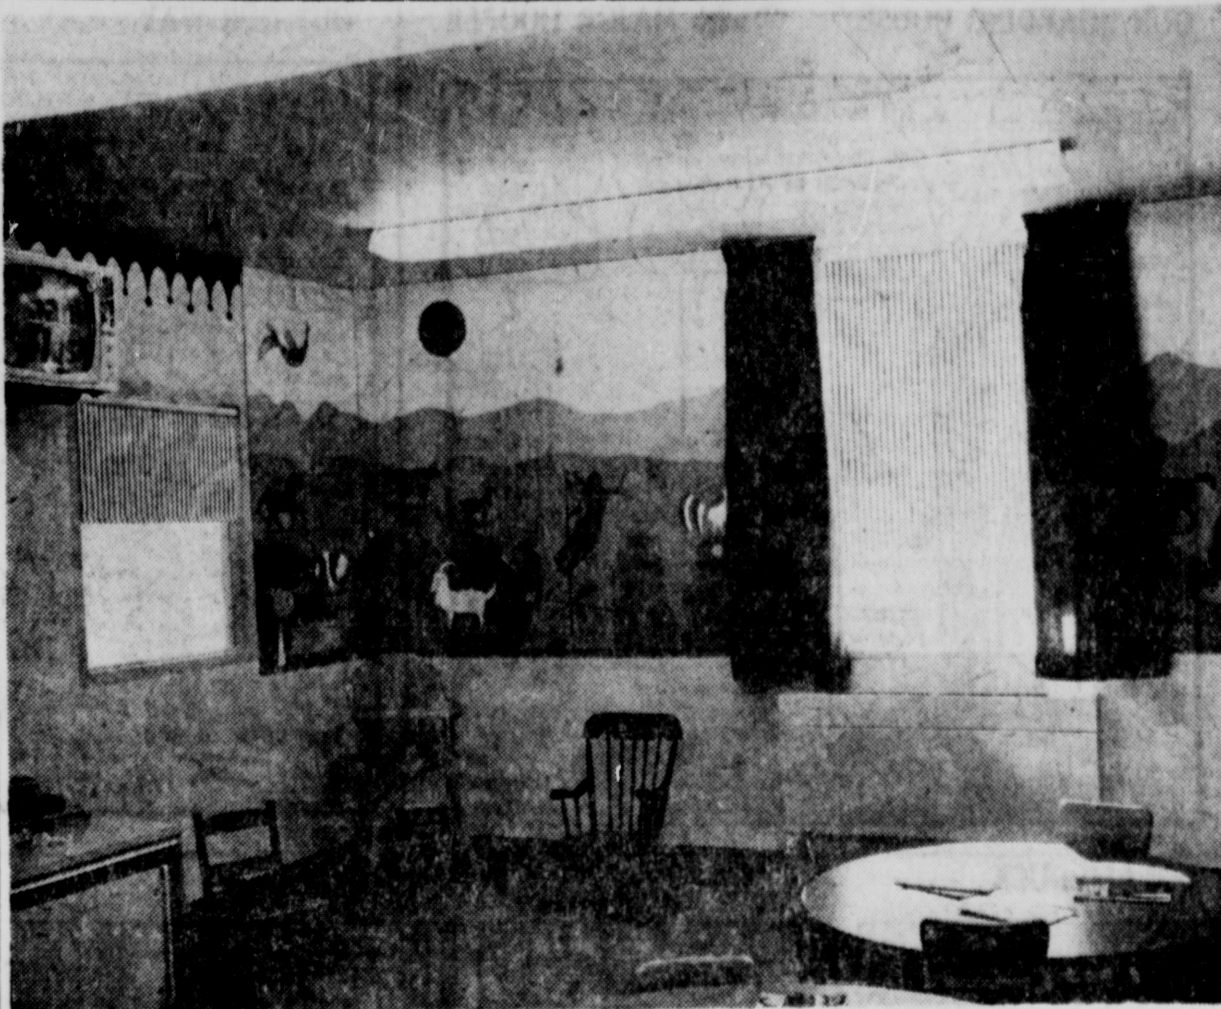

GHANA—In the first Christmas season since Kwame Nkrumah was toppled by an army revolt last February, Ghanaians are able once again to buy toy guns, rockets and fireworks. Nkrumah banned these items after an attempt on his life in 1962. Churches have scheduled Christmas Eve services and merry-makers are expected to fill dance halls in the larger towns. Thousands will dance in the streets of Accra, the capital. Businesses promise holiday bonuses of up to one week's pay.

The famous American general in the Revolutionary war, Israel Putnam, is credited with introducing Havana cigars into the American colonies. In 1762 Putnam served with the British forces in the occupation of Havana and later returned to Connecticut with a large supply of Havana cigars. His fame helped to enhance the prestige of the cigar.

Even Calming Effect in Parents' 'Anxiety Room'

Part of Woman's Will Is Used to Gaily Decorate Hospital's Pediatric Section

The Kingston Hospital's gaily decorated pediatric section is one of the few in the country to be so treated.

The work has been completed by Fred J. Johnston and Doris E. Lee as a memorial to their friend, Mrs. Mable Van Alstyne Marsh, who died July 4, 1965, leaving $140,000 in her will to The Kingston Hospital to be used for the benefit of the children's area. Her executors, Fred J. Johnston of Kingston, a close friend, and Miss Elizabeth Sheldon of Nassau, a grand-niece, agreed to accept the pediatric section of the new wing as meeting the terms of the will, provided $5,000 be used for decorative purposes.

Includes Murals, Prints

The projects, now completed, includes 10 murals by Doris E. Lee of Woodstock, one of America's leading women artists, as well as 22 framed prints, wall-papering and furnishings, and was kept within the cost figure only through the generous donation of their time and efforts by Johnston, who planned and supervised the project, and Miss Lee.

Mrs. Marsh was the widow of Fred Dana Marsh, noted mural painter and sculptor. Johnston used as theme for the entire decorative scheme Mrs. Marsh's famous American folk art collection, the largest ever assembled, which is now at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C.

With the aid of young apprentices and using the Art Students League building in Woodstock, Miss Lee completed and installed 10 murals. At the entrance is a painting of a carousel figure in the shape of a sea horse. The teenage hall features four offerings of American cigar store Indians.

Local Carvings Originally

Others include a mural in the Children's playroom showing a view across the Catskills with dozens of weathervanes on rooftops in the foreground, and at the end of the hall a cigar store figure of Punch. The original carving came from Kingston.

Several years before her death, Mrs. Marsh visited the Kingston Hospital to have X-rays taken, and while there—before completion of the new wing—she observed the former Children's Ward, which at the time was overcrowded and several cribs and beds had been set up in the corridors outside the ward. As a result of this experience, she left the bequest to the hospital. The new wing was subsequently completed.

The purpose of the decorative project, as Johnston explains, is to create a colorful and interesting area for the children, for whom hospital confinement is at best a depressing experience, and to whose real ills are often added the pangs of homesickness.

In addition to the Doris Lee murals, the section has been brightened with wallpaper borders in gay colors with amusing figures. Replacing the stark white sheets usually seen in hospitals are gaily flowered ones. Colonial furniture was created for the playroom by Robert Wemple, the hospital's chief engineer, and his competent staff. Also instrumental in helping the project was Miss Mary L. Finger, assistant administrator.

Illusion of Space

Gay awning borders and wallpaper were installed at the nurses' station. In the teenage TV room, a small room, a wallpaper mural in soft greens was used to give the illusion of space.

In the parents' waiting room, described by Johnston as "a room of anxiety," a calming effect was sought with scenic American wallpaper of Colonial Philadelphia, new furniture was purchased and every effort made to make it look like a handsome living room.

The collection of American folk art which inspired the decorative theme was begun by Mrs. Marsh's sister, Dr. Eleanor Van Alstyne, and was continued by Mrs. Marsh after the sister's death. Six months before Mrs. Marsh died, she announced that she was donating the collection to the Smithsonian. It had previously been housed in a private museum on the Marsh estate at Woodstock and had never been opened to the public.

STILL SOME WHO CARE
'Twas the night before Christmas and through Vietnam GI's were thinking of their dad and their mom. But the V.C. were snuggled in rice paddies here. Not giving a damn about the day that was near.

As GI's were talking of Christmas and home And having to spend this Christmas alone. While knowing in our hearts, that one day We'd bring the peace and make Charlie pay.

Now Christmas was here, and now it is done. And most of us spent it alone with a gun. But we gave up this one so the threat would cease. So we could spend the rest of our Christmas in peace.

Now this is just a little of how we all feel. To let you all know our freedom they won't steal. Yes we gave up a Christmas, some say it's not fair. But I just want you to know that there's STILL SOME WHO CARE.

Lawyer Fields—Gentlemen of the jury, you have heard the facts of both sides. Mr. Brown had a public fight with Mr. Smith. Mr. Brown had in his possession at the time one butcher knife, two razors, one set of brass knuckles, and a black-jack. Mr. Smith had on his person, one sickle, one hatchet, two meat saws, a cleaver, and an ice-pick. Both men plead 'Not Guilty,' each asserting a plea of self-defense. I judge you have reached a verdict.

Why We Say-- CHRISTMAS TREE

SPARED ONE: The Christmas tree had its origin in Rome where people hung gifts on trees in honor of their god, bacchus. . . Fir trees became Christmas trees in the eighth century when St. Winfred began to cut down an oak tree being used as an idol. Before he finished, lightning struck the tree, but spared a small fir tree beside it. For this reason, the fir tree was designated 'Christ's tree' and is used today.

'Sacred Cow' List Ebbing

Observers Expect Hot Albany Abort Debate

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The same elements in the Legislature that forced sweeping changes in New York's policy toward capital punishment and divorce are zeroing-in on a new objective—the state's rigid law on abortions.

Religious Overtones

A determined attempt will be made during the Legislature's 1967 session to liberalize the 84-year-old statute. Veteran observers thus are anticipating hot debate, with religious overtones.

Until recent years, the issues of capital punishment, divorce and abortion were regarded in the Legislature as "sacred cows"—subjects so delicate and so fraught with political peril that they were better left alone. But, when Democrats took control of the 1965 Legislature, they rammed through a bill virtually abolishing capital punishment, an objective they had pursued for many years while in the minority.

Emboldened by this success, they pressed forward again the following year — although controlling only the Assembly this time—to force broad revisions in the 179-year-old divorce law. GOP lawmakers joined them in the 1.66 effort.

Meanwhile, the same liberal-minded elements began exploring the possibility of liberalizing the law on abortions, as well. A bill was introduced, and public hearings were held.

Too Much for One Year

At the last minute, however, legislative leaders in both parties quietly passed the word to the sponsors to let this one ride for another year. Changing both the divorce and abortion laws might be too much to swallow in one gulp, they were told.

Now, the men who agreed to back off in 1966 are mounting a fresh assault on the abortion-law bastion. Assemblyman Albert H. Blumenthal, a member of the Democratic party's "reform" movement in Manhattan, is prepared to lead the effort. "I see no reason to delay action," Blumenthal told The Associated Press. "We're going to make every effort to pass a bill during the 1967 session."

Rocky in Favor

Supporters of the move received a boost this week when Gov. Rockefeller declared himself in favor of liberalizing the law. But they still will have to cope with hostile factors in the Legislature and on its fringes.

Blumenthal and his colleagues will face some formidable opposition—not only from lawmakers who take a conservative view on such matters generally but also, and perhaps primarily, from those who harbor religious convictions against abortion.

Major Opposition Looms

Major opposition is expected from the Roman Catholic Church, which teaches that abortion is tantamount to murder.

Historic Sites Are To Close Dec. 25

Superintendent Benjamin H. Davis of Roosevelt-Vanderbilt National Historic Sites announced today that the Home of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Vanderbilt Mansion and Vanderbilt Visitor Center will be closed Sunday, Dec. 25. The grounds to the Home of Franklin D. Roosevelt will also be closed, but the Vanderbilt grounds will remain open.

Davis added that both the Roosevelt Site and Vanderbilt Site, including the Home and the Mansion, will be open on Monday, Dec. 26, Sunday, Jan. 1 and Monday, Jan. 2. The museum in the Vanderbilt Visitor Center will also be open on those three days.

Both sites are open year-round with the above noted Christmas Day exception.

der. At the same time, Protestant Church groups have begun to push for relaxation of the law.

In recent weeks, the Protestant State Council of Churches and the Council of the Episcopal Diocese of New York both have recommended changes similar to those embodied in the 1966 bill.

Under the present law, abortions may be performed only when "necessary to preserve the life of the woman."

The 1966 measure would have broadened the law to permit physicians to terminate a pregnancy if they found it would seriously impair the mother's physical or mental health, if it resulted from rape or incest, or if it presented a risk that the child would be born with a serious physical or mental defect. The bill generally follows recommendations made by the American Law Institute in 1959.

No Major Revisions

Blumenthal, who heads the Assembly Committee on Health, said he would offer a new measure early next year, making some changes but none of major significance.

The problem that Blumenthal and like-minded legislators will face is to force the bill out of committee so that it can be brought to a vote. Without the cooperation of the Legislature's powerful majority leaders, they will have their hands full.

At least one of those leaders, Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, is openly cool to the idea.

"I think it's too soon to pass a bill," he told a reporter. "There hasn't been enough study."

But Travia left the door slightly ajar, adding, "If the sponsors can show me before the session is ended that they have explored this thoroughly enough, that might be a different matter."

Travia's Republican counterpart, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, took a non-committal stance.

"I have an open mind on this subject," he said through a spokesman.

Indications are that the legislative leadership would prefer to sidetrack the issue for further study, and this could happen—but there may be some fireworks first.

President Sends Yule Greetings To Scouts of U. S.

President Johnson's Christmas greetings to the Boy Scouts of America was made public today by Oliver A. Tweedy, president of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

President Johnson said "As Boy Scouts learn and express the ideals of America, they assure us of the qualities of leadership and concern for others that will achieve a world of peace and justice for all."

President Johnson, honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America, was an active scout leader in Texas, serving on the scouting committee. In 1964 he received the Silver Buffalo Award for distinguished service to boyhood.

His greeting to the nation's 5,732,708 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers, and adult leaders, sent to the Rip Van Winkle Council by Chief Scout Executive Joseph A. Brunton Jr., follows:

Mrs. Johnson and I are delighted to send our warmest holiday greetings to the Boy Scouts of America and to your dedicated volunteer leaders.

In this nation, youth is our present as well as our future. And in these times as in years gone by, the Boy Scout movement strengthens as it preserves our heritage.

As Boy Scouts learn and express the ideals of America, they assure us of the qualities of leadership and concern for others that will achieve a world of peace and justice for all.

You have our best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a New Year filled with the joys of goodwill and brotherhood with which Scouting is forever endowed.

Houghtaling was awarded a $500 U.S. savings bond as first prize, for suggestions dealing with city finances. Second, a $250 bond went to Mrs. Clausi "for an outstanding job in helping to collect fees." Each of the others received a $50 bond. (Police Photo)

Seek Red Hook Site for Swim, Recreation Area

RED HOOK — The chairman of the Red Hook Recreational Development Committee today disclosed that his group is interested in viewing land of not less than five acres in the township which would be suitable as a site for a swimming facility and other recreation equipment.

Willis G. Weisz, chairman, said, "We already have been generously offered assistance from several town residents in obtaining land. However, we would like to be made aware of any other tracts in the township that could possibly be used for a recreational area."

Weisz said interested property owners could contact him about possible sites. He lives in Red Hook.

More than 25 townspeople have joined the citizens committee, which is seeking to develop a recreation area for the use of residents of Red Hook township and the Red Hook Central School District.

Plans are moving ahead for incorporation of the committee as a non-profit corporation, Weisz said. A meeting of sub-committee chairmen has been scheduled for Jan. 4 to discuss finances, land acquisition, publicity, incorporation, engineering and by-laws. The meeting is set for the Town Hall, South Broadway, at 7:30 p. m.

Survivor Will Testify About Sinking in Huron

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Dennis Hale, sole survivor of the ore carrier Daniel J. Morrell, will testify Friday from his hospital bed about what happened when the ship sank in a Lake Huron storm.

Twenty-eight crewmen died when the Morrell went down Nov. 29.

Hale, 26, of Ashtabula, Ohio, is convalescing at Ashtabula General Hospital. The Coast Guard Board of inquiry will go there to hear his testimony.

Thomas Burns, 51, a former third mate on the Morrell, told the five-man board Wednesday the ship was in good condition when he left it in August.

The Morrell took "a little water" through her hull but "that's common with all the lakers," Burns said. Burns said he also sailed on the Morrell in 1965 and has worked for Bethlehem Steel Corp., operator of the Morrell, for two seasons.

Burns told the board the company decides if a ship is to sail to pick up a cargo, but the captain decides in what weather the ship should sail or anchor.

He said the Morrell's captain, Arthur I. Crawley, had a "good reputation."

Indian Point Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservation Center Inc., cannot intervene in proceedings on an application by Consolidated Edison Co. of New York to construct a nuclear power plant near Indian Point, N.Y., the Atomic Energy Commission has ruled.

In a decision Wednesday, the commission upheld one of its licensing boards, which originally denied the group's application to intervene on the ground it filed to late.

A provisional permit has been granted to the utility firm to build a second nuclear facility at the company's Indian Point site.

Navy Recruiter

CHIEF JOHN W. DRAKE

The local Navy recruiter at the Main Post Office, Chief Emil Slivka, has a new assistant, Chief Boatswain's Mate John W. Drake. Chief Drake replaced Chief John M. Gibbons who retired Nov. 18. Chief Drake, a 16 year veteran of naval service, recently returned from Vietnam where he was commander of a 57-foot minesweeper. He and his wife, Joyce, have three children, Donna, Darcy and Darren.

Youngsters Will Try Anew, Seek Money for Viet

ALTAMONT, N.Y. (AP) — Four youngsters, filled with Christmas hope, are going to try again to "do something" for children in war-torn South Vietnam, even though their first effort was something less than a smashing success.

The four, a 13-year-old and three 12-year-olds, decided to hold a book sale to raise money to send to the children.

They collected 350 books and put them on sale, using the village train station as their store. They managed to sell 150 of the painfully gathered volumes. But they received only $9.

At that point, Larry Wagner, mayor of this village southwest of Albany, suggested the children try again.

Michale Barker, the 13-year-old leader, says they'll do just that, even though the money won't reach the South Vietnamese children until after Christmas.

The others are Becky Barker, Danny McKenny and Darla Klenoiz, all 12.

Ice Cream Plant Gutted by Fire

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — An early morning fire gutted the Darling Ice Cream Co. plant here today, destroying much of the building and forcing a family of four to flee from a second-floor apartment.

A company official estimated damage to the one and two-story brick building and its contents at about $75,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whalen and their two children, Catherine, 8 weeks, and Charles, 3, were treated for smoke inhalation at St. Joseph's Hospital. No one else was reported injured.

Whalen, who said he had fallen asleep while watching television, told firemen that he was awakened by an explosion shortly before 3 a.m. He said he saw flames from a window and led his family to safety.

Fred Patuna, city fire marshal, said it appeared the fire started in an office section at the front of the building and spread to the roof through an elevator shaft.

The cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

So Wednesday, Terry had some official visitors at his room in Wilson Memorial Hospital in this village near Binghamton. They were troopers from the nearby Vestal Barracks. With them they brought the official State Police tie, chevrons, shoulder patch, hat and a model police car.

"All he said was 'thank you,' but his eyes sure lit up," said Trooper Donald S. Barlow. Terry is the son of Mrs. Edward S. Hambalek of Endicott.

Speculate on Viet Civilian Deaths in 2 Decades of War

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — How many civilians are becoming casualties in South Vietnam?

The exact number of victims in two decades of fighting may never be known. Even today no accurate record is kept of battle-connected deaths and injuries among the 16 million civilians.

Gives Average

Figures from Vietnamese and American public and private sources indicate that this year's civilian toll has averaged about 1,000 a month, with at least three times that many wounded.

If the figure on deaths is correct, the loss of 12,000 civilian lives this year would nearly parallel the battle deaths of American and Vietnamese military personnel. This total, based on figures available through Dec. 10 for the Americans and through November for the Vietnamese, is 13,270.

The guesses on civilian deaths, the best available from official sources here, are far below an estimate published today in the U.S. magazine Ramparts. It has an article by William F. Pepper saying that "conservative estimates" put civilian deaths currently at 100,000 a year.

Visited Short Period

Pepper is executive director of the New Rochelle (N.Y.) Commission on Human Rights and instructor in political science at Mercy College, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. He spent several weeks in Vietnam last spring.

"The horror of what we are doing to the children of Vietnam — 'we,' because napalm and white phosphorus are the weapons of America — is staggering," his article says.

"Nearly two years ago Hugh Campbell, former Canadian member of the International Control Commission in Vietnam, said that from 1961 through 1963, 180,000 Vietnamese civilians died in the war. This figure was borne out by officials in Saigon.

Denies Estimate

Campbell, now a magistrate in British Columbia, denied that he had ever made any such estimate and said he had never had occasion to prepare such an estimate, either as a member of the ICC or for articles he has written. He said a similar figure was given in an article written by the World Federalist Organization in Victoria, B.C., several years ago for which he supplied a foreword.

"According to conservative estimates, another 55,000 died during 1964 and 100,000 in each of the two escalated years since, or at least 415,000 civilians have been killed since 1961.

"Since the males over 16 are away fighting — on one side or the other — it's clear that in the rural villages which bear the brunt of the napalm raids, at least 70 per cent and probably more of the residents are children.

"In other words, at least a quarter of a million of the children of Vietnam have been killed in the war. If there are that many dead, using the military rule of thumb, there must be three times that many wounded — or at least a million child casualties since 1961."

Here in Saigon a U.S. adviser with the Vietnamese health service called these figures "very high."

"We do not have the statistics to disprove such an estimate but observations in the hospitals and streets will show there just aren't that many children who have been wounded," he said.

Jailing of Yank In USSR to Hurt Trade Relations

By FRED W. COLEMAN

MOSCOW (AP) — The sentencing of a young American to three years in a Soviet labor camp is expected in Moscow to hurt chances for U.S.-Soviet trade increases, something the Soviets want.

Buel Ray Wortham, 25, of North Little Rock, Ark., was sentenced Wednesday in Leningrad for stealing an antique statue of a bear from a Leningrad hotel and changing about $75 for black market rubles. He plans to appeal.

Wortham's congressman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., filed an affidavit to the court testifying to Wortham's good character. Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and in a key position to affect the fate of the East-West trade bill in Congress.

The American Embassy termed Wortham's sentence "harsh and out of all proportion to the relatively minor legal infractions with which he was charged."

The Embassy expressed satisfaction, however, that the court freed Wortham's friend and codefendant, Craddock M. Gilmour Jr., 24, of Salt Lake City. Gilmour was fined $1,111 on the lesser charge of giving Wortham money to change illegally.

Four visiting U.S. congressmen warned Soviet officials last week that a harsh verdict in the trial would hurt chances for the trade bill. They stressed Mills' role.

The Soviets have long expressed interest in buying more from the United States. But American restrictions have left U.S.-Soviet trade at a small percentage of the potential. The trade bill is designed to remove some of these restrictions.

Feted Wednesday At Dinner by Fellow Workers

LAWRENCE D. CRAFT

Retiring County Clerk Lawrence D. Craft of Ellenville was tendered a testimonial dinner Wednesday evening at Dick McCarthy's Brookside Restaurant on Lucas Avenue extension. The surprise dinner was given by employees of the county clerk's office and the Motor Vehicle Bureau office, a number of former employees and friends of Craft.

Served Since 1955

The dinner, attended by 48 members of Craft's staff and friends, was tendered to honor the genial county clerk who will be retiring Dec. 31, after serving the county since January 1, 1955. Craft was elected to the office of county clerk in November 1954 and will be ending his fourth term. Incidentally, Craft was also observing his birthday.

Among the guests in addition to Mrs. Craft and their daughter, Bonita Craft, a student at St. Bonaventure College, were Former Deputy County Clerk Ward Tongue; former Deputy County Clerk Clifford S. Van Valkenburgh; and Mrs. Van Valkenburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Killian of Albany; Mrs. Henrietta Nathan, a former employee and Mrs. John Anderson, who recently retired.

Serving as master of ceremonies was County Clerk Elect Albert Spada, who praised the qualities of Craft as a "boss" and presented him with a handsomely framed testimonial plaque upon which was engraved a message of appreciation. Employees of the County Clerk's office and

Regrets Promise

TRENTON (AP)—Gov. Richard J. Hughes said today he regretted a campaign pledge against construction of a jet airport in Morris County's Great Swamp area.

"I do have regrets that I took this pledge," Hughes told a news conference. "I think I did it hurriedly."

The governor said he was "worried sick" over the possibility that existing air congestion in the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area might result in fatal crashes.

Navy Planes Hit Railroad Spans, Cluster of Cars

SAIGON (AP)—Navy A-1 intruders blasted two rail bridges and a cluster of freight cars in a night attack at Viny in North Vietnam Tuesday.

Commenting on the heavy antiaircraft fire directed at the jets, Lt. (J.G.) Nick Carpenter of Cincinnati, Ohio, said, "I thought it was Christmas, not the Fourth of July." His bombardier-navigator was Lt. (J.G.) Dick Slaasted of Racine, Wis.

Following Carpenter's jet was an intruder piloted by Lt. Acmdr. Everett Foote of Virginia Beach, Va., who said the bombs hit on target and "the whole sky lit up, all hell broke loose."

Other pilots on the strike were Lt. Cmdr. Paul D. Stephenson of Elkhart, Kan., and Lt. (J.G.) Gary H. Tobey of Corning, N.Y.

North Vietnamese bridges were the targets of other Enterprise pilots. The Don Lac bridge was destroyed and the Son Kinh Bridge was damaged.

Credited with knocking out two wooden bridges were Lt. Cmdr. Thomas P. Scott of Clarksburg, W. Va.; Lt. Bob F. Brekenock of Jacksonville, Fla.; Lt. (J.G.) William C. Bowes of Wantagh, N.Y., and Lt. (J.G.) Donald E. Williams of Lafayette, Ind.

The guests also presented Craft with a check to buy such a memento from his friends "as he desired." Mrs. Craft was presented with an orchid corsage. Arrangements for the dinner were under the supervision of Mrs. John Conner, an employee in the County Clerk's office.

Prospective Bride Of Robert Mathews

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McKiernan, Mabletsville, Millbrook, announce the engagement of their daughter Susan, to Robert E. Mathews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter B. Mathews of Rosendale.

Miss McKiernan, a 1963 alumna of Our Lady of Lourdes High School and a 1966 graduate of St. Francis Hospital School of Nursing, is a member of the staff at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Mathews, a 1963 alumnus of Our Lady of Lourdes High School, is now a senior at Marist College and is a candidate for the BA degree in June.

Legion Auxiliary 150

The spirit of Christmas was extended to the Veterans' Hospital in Albany recently when members of the Ladies Auxiliary of American Legion Post 150 assisted with the Christmas Gift Shop there. All gifts are donated to the shop and hospital patients make their selections for members of their family. There is no cost to the patient for these gifts.

Local area women assisting with the gift shop included the Mmes. Kay Donato, president of Auxiliary Post 150, Mollie Maurer, Patricia Heppner, Francis Cahill and Jean Delaney.

The hospital gift shop is a yearly project sponsored by the Auxiliary.

WIVES IRKED AT EXCLUSION

Dear Mrs. Post: A man in my husband's office is about to retire and the three men and three women who make up the staff plan to take him to a nightclub for a farewell party. The men are married, the women are not. I am writing for three furious wives: what do you think of this deal? Fran

Dear Fran: The party would get out of hand if you wives were included, necessitating the addition of three more men to keep it even. However, if you want to show this to your husband, a dinner at a restaurant, no more would be in much better taste than an evening in a nightclub.

"Happy Birthday" Sung in Most Restaurants

Dear Mrs. Post: We are going to celebrate my husband's birthday by taking a group of friends to a restaurant for dinner. I am ordering a birthday cake ahead of time and I would like to know if it is in good taste for me to start every one singing "Happy Birthday"? Mrs. Roth

Dear Mrs. Roth: Depends on the restaurant. If there is an orchestra, they'll probably play it anyway, and some restaurants even have singing waiters who do the honors. Otherwise, in a quiet, luxury-type restaurant it would be too conspicuous to sing yourselves; in an informal steak house it would be fine.

Widow Ponders Refusing Proposals

Dear Mrs. Post: This will be my second marriage. How can I gracefully refuse other marriage proposals from men who have always been courteous to me. Does one say the proper thing in person, on the phone or by letter? R.F.M.

Dear R.F.M.: I can't help thinking of all the women who would love such a problem. Too bad you can't share the wealth. Those who have honored you by a proposal of marriage surely deserve more than a phone call. Tell them in person that you value their friendship, and hope to retain it, but that your feelings are not such that you feel you could marry them.

"How to Plan and Budget Your Wedding" by Elizabeth L. Post, is now available to readers of this paper. Teacher Lectures On Modern Ways In School System

Memorizing many facts in today's rapidly changing world is being de-emphasized in the school systems according to Mrs. Marian Gregory, faculty member, Kingston Consolidated School System. Mrs. Gregory was guest speaker at a meeting of the St. Joseph's Parent's Association on Tuesday, Dec. 13.

In her talk Mrs. Gregory stated the need for new teaching devices is being met in the expanding study of history and geography. Children are being taught by an "inductive" method at an early age and that generalizations and concepts are being emphasized while memorizing many facts in today's rapidly changing world is being de-emphasized.

Members of the Association enjoyed a social hour afterwards with exchange of gifts.

SYNAGOGUE NEWS

Ahavath Israel

Friday evening, Dec. 23, the first Friday evening services to be held in the new Ahavath Israel synagogue at 100 Lucas Avenue, will begin at 8 p. m. and will be a family service. Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman will deliver a sermon entitled "A New Light on Faith." Cantor Larry Jacobs will chant the liturgy assisted by the Ahavath Israel choir.

The children of members of the congregation who are celebrating their birthdays in December, and the members who have had their wedding anniversaries in December, will be honored at this service. Their names will be announced and the rabbi will bless them, and a reception will be held in their honor at the Oneg Shabbat.

Following are the names of the birthday celebrants: Bonnie Brett, Helen Horowitz, Amy Lipton, Ronald Strauss, Cheryl Camhi, Elaine Lipton, Richard Gossett, Sheryl Weinstein, Sharon Kestel, Harold Sossner, Alan Kirschner.

The following will celebrate their wedding anniversaries: Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Werbalowsky, Mr. and Mrs. David Greenwald, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Camhi, Mr. and Mrs. David Weinstein, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horowitz, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Smoller, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Plasker, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Semolof, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kronick, Mr. and Mrs. Yale Zuckerman.

The Oneg Shabbat will follow in the auditorium after the services. The hostesses will be Mmes. Murray Greene, Henry Jacobs and Irving Scher. Mrs. Larry Jacobs, chairman.

Saturday religious services will begin at 9 a. m., and the regular service at 9:30 a. m. The Bar Mitzvah of Ronald Strauss, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strauss, will be celebrated during these services, at which time the rabbi will give the Bar Mitzvah celebrant his religious charge. Cantor Larry Jacobs will chant the liturgy. The Bible reading for this Sabbath is the last portion of the Book of Genesis, known as "Vay-echi". Rabbi Schechtman will summarize the reading, with the stress on the important message found therein. A reception in honor of the Bar Mitzvah will be held following the services in the auditorium.

Due to the winter vacation, there will be no USY meeting, and no Hebrew school classes this week.

'International Living' Scholarship Will Be Made Available to Qualified Student

An Ulster County Ambassador Program has been established which will provide a scholarship for an Ulster County high school student to join an out-bound group of the Experiment in International Living for a two month trip to Turkey in the summer of 1967. The Experiment in International Living was founded in 1932. It is an independent, nonprofit, educational organization financed by fees, foundation grants, gifts, and government contracts. United States headquarters are situated at Putney, Vt., home of its founder, Donald B. Watt. Four regional offices are maintained in this country and international operations are conducted through national Experiment offices or representatives in more than 45 countries on six continents.

The Experiment's programs are based on the conviction that one best learns to understand another people and their culture by living among them as a member of a family. Accordingly, the heart of these programs is the experience of living with a family in another country, usually for one month. From this vantage point, each experimenter has the opportunity to understand and appreciate a new culture by living it, and to develop respect and admiration for the people who have introduced him to it. Participants are carefully selected, but there are no restrictions because of race, creed or national origin. Under the guidance of a mature, carefully-trained leader, men and women between the ages of 16 and 30, in groups of about ten, travel each summer to 40 or more countries in Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America and the Middle East, for a stay of approximately two months. Each Experimenter spends a month as a "son" or a "daughter" of a family in the country visited. The Ulster County Ambassador will go to Turkey. During the second month the group makes an informal tour throughout the country. The concluding four or five days are spent in a major city.

Through contributions from civic and service groups, a scholarship has been established for an Ulster County high school student to participate in the Experiment program as a member of a regular out-bound group. The student to be selected must have completed the junior year and have attained the age of 17 by July 1, 1967. Later through public talks or by showing slides or movies the Ambassador shares his or her experiences and insights with the sponsoring community. All Ulster County high schools have been contacted concerning this opportunity and application forms are available from the guidance counselors.

The Mature Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a preceding column I told you that the first thing I did to teach my 4-year-old daughter to read was to choose a story I loved (and still do)—Carlo Collodi's "Pinocchio."

The second thing I did was to establish us most cozily together on a sofa. The third was to begin to read her the book.

In Chapter 6 Pinocchio burns his wooden feet off by leaving them in a fire and going to sleep. In Chapter 7 his footless state makes it impossible for him to open the door to his papa Geppetto. "Oh, mommy," cried the child, "he can never let his daddy in if he hasn't any feet!"

"No, he can't," I said. "But wait a minute. Here, Geppetto gets into their house through the window! I bet he's going to be just furious at that silly puppet! No, here's what he says: And apparently, very kindly. My little Pinocchio, how did you manage to burn your feet?" There I stopped reading. With my finger under the next word, I said, "That first letter is an F, Judy. It sounds like fff. The last letter is a T. It sounds like til. What do you suppose that word could be that begins with fff and ends with tth? Any myself made the sounds of the F and the T."

"Feet!" shrieked my daughter. "That's what Geppetto said!"

That's all I did to teach my 4-year-old to read. At every point of intolerable suspense in "Pinocchio," I stopped reading as I'd stopped at the word "feet" and asked her to make the sounds of the next word's consonants with me—a word that had already been used in the situation so that its sense was familiar and had to be gotten over in order to get us out of the suspense.

Children will learn to read if it's worth the trouble to learn to. But it is not worth the trouble to learn if what you're given to read are stupid books.

Our educational theorists must learn that we human beings are willing to struggle for words, for love, for anything else only if we see promise at the end of the struggle.

Halfway through "Pinocchio" my daughter was finding words like "puppet" and "donkey" a cinch. At its end she had become familiar with both the look and the sounds of all the alphabet's consonants—and she was able to supply words' vowels from the sentence sense. Brilliant? No. Just happy, enchanted, so in love with a book.

Florence Hasbrouck, James Robert Morris Exchange Marriage Vows in Tillson Church

It was a double ring wedding ceremony for Florence Christine Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge, N. Y., and James Robert Morris of Phoenix, Ariz., on Saturday, Dec. 17, 1966 in Friends Community Church, Tillson, N. Y. The couple exchanged their vows before the Rev. Richard B. Talley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Winkler of Phoenix, Ariz.

Billy Dunn was organist for the occasion and traditional wedding selections were sung by Mrs. Roy Webber.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of floral brocade in chapel length. Her stylized headpiece of Alencon lace and crystals held a veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of symbidium orchids with showers of Stephanotis.

Miss Lynn Webber of Stone Ridge was the bride's maid of honor. She wore an empire sheath of garnette silk velvet, a matching bow headpiece and short tulle veil. Her flowers consisted of garnette roses with deep pink and white baby carnations.

Miss Sally Ann Emmerling of Kripplbush, N. Y. served as a bridesmaid in a pale pink crepe gown. John Moreland of Verona, N. J. was the best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris will reside in Newport, R. I.

Ore., was best man and Brent Webber of Stone Ridge served as usher.

A reception was given in The Brookside Restaurant in Hurley after the church ceremony. The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed as a secretary in the office of Attorney Lloyd R. LeFever, this city.

Mr. Morris is a graduate of Washington High School at Phoenix, Ariz. He is serving with the U.S. Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris will reside in Newport, R. I.

Temple Emanuel

Regular Sabbath Eve services will be conducted at Temple Emanuel Friday 7:45 p. m. Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn will discuss the 12 beautiful panels designed by Kurt Matzdorf which decorate the Torah Ark as part of the sermon entitled, The Father's Blessing. The sermon will be based on the evening's Torah portion Genesis Chapter 49 when Jacob blesses his 12 sons.

Mrs. Saul Goldfarb will kindle the Sabbath candles and Dr. Saul Goldfarb will lead the congregation in chanting the Kiddush. Peter Goldfarb, son of Dr. and Mrs. Goldfarb was married last Sunday to Miss Linda Hartman at Temple Emanuel.

Participating in the Torah service will be Richard Kalish, Edwin Wetterhahn and Howard Kramer. There will be a special dedicatory ceremony for the new American and Israeli flags which were given to the congregation by Edwin Wetterhahn and Richard Kalish. The Oneg Shabbat after the service will be sponsored by the Temple Emanuel Sisterhood.

During the memorial service the memories of the following persons will be invoked: Julius Brown, Barlette Blum, Annie Hynes, Bella Kletzke and Sidney Wetterhahn.

During the public school recess there will be no religious school, Hebrew school or adult study classes. The adult study class will be meeting Tuesday evening, Jan. 3. The next post confirmation discussion meeting will be Wednesday, Jan. 4. Hebrew School resumes Thursday, Jan. 5 and religious school Saturday morning, Jan. 7.

Friday, Dec. 30, a special student's homecoming Sabbath service will be held at the temple to welcome back members of the congregation who are home on vacation from their respective colleges and private high schools. A number of students will be participating in the service. The Oneg Shabbat after service will be held in honor of all young adults in the congregation.

Philharmonic Announces Limited Seating Capacity for Rubinstein Benefit Concert

Many New York music lovers have problems other than air pollution and parking these days. A special announcement in the New York Times, Sunday, Dec. 18, stated "Arthur Rubinstein's three concerts in Carnegie Hall on the evenings of January 7, 27 and February 12 are sold-out. Mr. Rubinstein's tour is completely booked and we regret that we cannot add any more dates. We will, therefore, have to wait until next season for Mr. Rubinstein's return."

Residents of the Hudson Valley, however, still have the opportunity to hear a Rubinstein recital in Newburgh Free Academy, Newburgh, on Friday, Jan. 13 at 9 p. m. According to Raymond G. Kenyon, development director for the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, Inc., a limited number of reserved seats are available at a $10 donation per seat. Tickets may be obtained from the Philharmonic office at 54 Noxon Street, Poughkeepsie.

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic, which has chapters in Ulster County, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh, is directed by Claude Montoux, son of the late Pierre Montoux, world famous conductor.

Food for Americans
BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For a perfect New Year's Eve party, combine good companionship, the spirit of gaiety and a buffet rich with special things to eat. Then Happy 1967 to all. You will find this pineapple shrimp mousse very special for the festive buffet. Beautiful to look at and delicious. Serve on a fine platter or tray, garnished with cornucopias of Danish ham and pineapple rings.

- PINEAPPLE SHRIMP MOUSSE
2 cups cooked shrimp, finely chopped
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sauteed or white dinner wine
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon dill weed
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons seasoned salt
1 cup mayonnaise
1 (1-lb. 4 1/2 oz.) can crushed pineapple
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons finely chopped pimento
1 cup whipping cream

Lightly cook shrimp, onion and curry in butter a few minutes until thoroughly heated. Be careful not to brown. Add lemon juice and whip in electric blender (if blender is not available, whip very fine). Sprinkle gelatin evenly over wine; heat over low heat, stirring until dissolved. Combine with shrimp, mustard, dill, paprika, seasoned salt and undrained pineapple. Blend in mayonnaise. Chill. When mixture begins to thicken, stir in celery, green pepper and pimento. Turn into 7-cup mold. Chill firm. Makes 10 servings.

DISTINCTIVE HOLIDAY DISH—An artistic accomplishment is this Duckling Casserole, masterfully flavored with a combination of orange juice and aromatic bitters. It is suggested as the main attraction on a buffet, served from a gleaming chafing dish.

Duckling Casserole Makes Holiday List

Don't duck duck just because chicken and turkey cookery has become so imaginative and adventuresome in recent years. Duck is something else again. It carries with it an aura of elegance that no other bird, except perhaps a Christmas goose, can equal. This is not everyday food. It dignifies an occasion. Despite its superior air, duck is not difficult to prepare. This recipe simple and logical and it is suggested as the main attraction on a buffet, served from a gleaming chafing dish and flavored with orange slices.

- Duckling Casserole
1 duckling, about 5 pounds, thawed and cut into serving pieces
2 tablespoons Angostura aromatic bitters
1 1/2 cups brown rice
1 can (6 oz.) sliced mushrooms
1 medium onion, chopped
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
2 teaspoons salt
1 can (6 oz.) frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed
2 cups water or duckling broth made from bones and giblets
6 carrots, sliced
1 green pepper, chopped
Brush duckling pieces thoroughly with Angostura. Chop a few pieces of the duckling fat and fry them in a large skillet until pieces are crisp. Remove crisp pieces and brown duckling pieces in the fat on all sides. Cook duckling slowly for 30 minutes covered. Butter a 3-quart casserole and pour rice into it. Top with duckling pieces. Spoon 1/4 cup of the duckling drippings in the skillet over the pieces of duckling. Combine mushrooms and their liquid, onion, poultry seasoning, salt, orange juice and water. Pour mixture evenly over duckling. Add carrots and green pepper. Cover and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40 to 50 minutes or until duckling and rice are tender. Transfer to chafing dish for elegant buffet service. Yield: 6-8 servings.

Kurt Laser Jr. will participate in the junior ski races at Whiteface Mountain in the Adirondacks during the school holiday. Mrs. Edwin Brown of South Street entertained the members of Chapter APEO at her home Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Elsie Morse, Main Street, attended the Christmas party of the Past Noble Grands Club held at the Highland IOOF Hall Monday night. Under the auspices of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, an apple tree pruning demonstration was given Friday afternoon at the orchards of Kurt Roehrs, west of the Hurd farm. A crew of professional pruners who have been working in this section demonstrated some of the new methods of tree pruning. Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Laser attended the annual Christmas party of the Shawangunk Mountain Ski Club held at the Bontecou Ski slopes in New Paltz Thursday night. Supervisor Joseph Martorana attended a session of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors in Kingston Monday night when the 1967 Ulster County budget was presented.

For a Hospital Bed
MELBOURNE (AP) — Melbourne doctors are making use of Australia's first dial-a-bed service for hospital patients. Nine big public hospitals are in the scheme and more are preparing to join. The service reduces the time it takes to get a hospital bed for people who suddenly become ill.

Jackie's Sister Will Make Theatre Debut; 'Philadelphia Story'

LONDON (AP) — The dark-eyed young woman in the salmon pink above-the-knee dress tossed her head and said with just a little bravado in her low, husky voice: "I'm taking a terrible risk. But I think I shall make it." This is the way Lee Radziwill, the former Caroline Lee Bouvier, sums up her coming debut in show business. The 33-year-old sister of Jacqueline Kennedy, wife of Prince Stanislas Radziwill and mother of two children, will stride onto the boards of the Ivanhoe Theater in Chicago next June to play the leading role of Tracy Lord in "The Philadelphia Story."

She flies to Chicago from her London home June 9 for rehearsals and the play opens June 20 for a four-week run. The role is that of a wealthy young heiress, not exactly foreign to her as it wasn't to Katherine Hepburn when she made it famous. "I've always wanted to be an actress," Lee Radziwill said in an interview. "At school and in good try," she said. "But for college I did some things. But then I married, and then I had children, and then there were the political years." What does the Kennedy clan those when John F. Kennedy, think of this new venture? Mrs. her brother-in-law, was Presi-Radziwill balked at answering. She would say only one thing Lee Radziwill was her sister's about her intimate association confidante and frequent travel-with the Kennedys: "I hate touch football."

"If I've learned one thing, it's this: It takes a heap of money to make a house a home!"

Today in History

Today is Thursday, Dec. 22, the 356th day of 1966. There are 9 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1944, German panzer units isolated and demanded the surrender of the 101st Airborne Division in Belgium. The temporary commander of the 101st, Gen. Anthony McAuliffe, gave his famous reply: "Nuts."

On this date: In 1807, Congress passed the Embargo Act, prohibiting all foreign commerce and forbidding all foreign vessels to sail from U.S. ports.

In 1894, French Capt. Alfred Dreyfus was publicly degraded on a charge of selling French military secrets to the Germans. He later was exonerated.

In 1941, Britain's Winston Churchill arrived in Washington to confer with President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In 1944, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed to Allied forces fighting the "Battle of the Bulge" in Belgium to turn the enemy's great gamble into his worst defeat.

Ten years ago—full-scale Anglo-French troop withdrawals from Egypt's Suez Canal Zone were completed. A United Nations emergency force then took over temporary control of the area.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan issued a joint communique at the end of a two-day conference in Hamilton, Bermuda. The communique said the Bermuda talks would form the basis for continued cooperation between the United States and Britain during the coming months on a great variety of questions.

One year ago — The United States and South Vietnam ordered a 30-hour Christmas truce. The Allies, however, kept their troops on alert in the South Vietnamese war zones.

AAA Gives Tips On Winter Driving

The Automobile Club of New York today urged motorists planning Christmas weekend trips to check conditions along their route before leaving home.

If both skies and highways are clear, about 1,300,000 cars—carrying an estimated 3,850,000 persons—will be on the road over the 3-day holiday weekend in the metropolitan area, the Auto Club said. Many roads in rural areas although open to traffic, may be snow-covered.

As a guide to safe holiday motoring, the Auto Club offered the following safety rules:

Carry chains or equip the rear wheels with snow tires as protection against sudden snow or slippery roads. Also carry along a shovel and bag of sand or rock salt in the trunk of the car.

Don't stop in the roadway or otherwise block traffic to gaze at Christmas displays or store windows.

Avoid drowsiness by keeping at least one window partially open.

Be extra alert for children

Yule Dinner Cost Will Depend on Locale of Shopper

By SALLY RYAN

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's Christmas in the supermarket. Food shoppers may select turkey or broilers, rib roast or ham, lamb or veal, geese or a brace of ducklings for Christmas dinner, depending on family traditions.

Turkey prices are likely to be a little higher than they were for Thanksgiving in most areas. Broiler prices have dropped with the big supply of birds.

Rib roast probably will be more expensive than it was last Christmas, but ham should be lower. There is much more pork this winter than there was a year ago, when prices were beginning to soar.

Lamb, Veal High

Lamb and veal remain high—there's just not much around. How much Christmas dinner will cost will depend a great deal on where you live — and how carefully you shop.

Meat prices have remained high on the West Coast while they have been dropping in the Midwest and East. "There's no rhyme or reason for higher prices," said Bud Kavalec, Western State Meat Packers Association representative in Los Angeles. "We should be lower."

Rises Out West

The Department of Agriculture in Chicago reports that live cattle prices on the West Coast have been averaging about $1 for 100 pounds higher than in the Midwest.

Carcass beef prices in Los Angeles have risen 3 cents to 41½ cents a pound in the past seven weeks. Food chains report they have absorbed some of the increase and are running fewer specials.

In Portland, Ore., trade sources said the East made a quicker adjustment to prices that got out of line and that prices in Oregon should be dropping soon.

In Seattle, a spokesman for Seattle Packing Co., a subsidiary of Cudahy Packing Co., says beef prices are higher because of freight rates to the coast and labor costs.

Elected but Locked Out

MT. VERNON, Ill. (AP) — Former Sheriff Dewey Barton won the race for the Jefferson county clerk's office, but he needed a locksmith to open the door. Barton, a Republican, replaced outgoing clerk, Lester Davis, and when Davis prepared to hand over the keys he discovered he didn't have them. He left the keys in the clerk's office and it was locked. When no key could be found to unlock the door, a locksmith managed to open it.

SIDELINE VIEWS

By ED PALLADINO

'Tis the season of cheer, so our yuletide greetings to go to the following:

Jim Tyrell, of 'Soundoff' fame
Monty Stickle, football's his game.
The two Mikes, DeMico and Perry,
May all your holidays be merry.
Harry Thayer, with his Editorial of the Air,
Richie Amato, he handles the mail with care.
Irvin J. Thomas, City Editor Supreme,
John J. Gilligan, who has a good team.
Charlie Tiano, the hard working boss,
Andy Murphy, who owns a boss.
Allen Finkelson, my globetrotting friend,
Wesley Westrum, more greetings I send.
Jon Doyle, who manages the movie,
Pete Ferraro, whose music is groovy.
Dottie Narel, the society whiz,
Jumpin' Joe Uhl, the best there is.
Seither and Smith, who coach the Sawyers,
Richter and Feeney, a couple of lawyers.
Big Al Cawein, still looking for a kill,
William Hurley, they call him Bill.
Frank Provenzano, our own 'Toots' Shor',
Fred J. Davi, he smiles more and more.
Miller and Sheppard, of New Paltz State,
Charlie Douglas, he's never been late.
Jean and Bob, the Dolans who ski,
Hugh Reynolds, a bowler he won't be.
George Svirsky, a Giant fan of renown,
James Gilpatrick, he always lets you down.
Walter Scott Clark, who covers the news,
Frank Bonavita, he sells the booze.
Frank 'Yip' Koenig, an athlete he was,
Fred Bayona, cut hair he does.
Jimmy Kiernan, he doesn't grow tall,
Mike Ferraro, who powders the ball.
John P. Meehan, they call him 'Chick',
Little of Santa Claus, his name is St. Nick.
John and Jack, and Shadydale Air Wing,
Frank VanEtten, they nicknamed him 'Bing'.
All the members of the Kingston Guild,
May all your Christmas stockings be filled.
Robert Bain, who is our chief,
All the Yankee fans, who had plenty of grief.
All those whom I might have missed,
Hope you're all on Santa's list.
In closing this poem, I'd like to say,
May Holiday happiness come your way.

Action Slated Tonight, Friday At Auditorium

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Fulton-Montgomery, which sports a nifty 6-1 record and an offensive powerhouse that has averaged close to 100 points in a game, is the club to beat at the first annual Ulster Community College basketball tournament gets underway tonight at the Municipal Auditorium.

The upstarts will oppose Trenton Junior College of New Jersey in the 7:30 p. m. opener. The host club faces Staten Island Community in the 9 o'clock contest.

Winners of tonight's tilts will play Friday at 9 for the championship. Losers will battle at 7:30 for consolation honors.

Though they aren't seeded number one, the Senators of Ulster must be given a solid chance to capture honors.

Senators Have 5-1 Mark

Coach Mike Perry, who has compiled an excellent record in a little more than one year as basketball coach at the local school, has his team off to a 5-1 mark this season.

The Senators have defeated Albany Pharmacy, 115-91; Fashion Institute, 100-65; Adirondack, 47-46; Dutchess, 93-59 and Kingsborough, 97-92. The only setback was to Orange, 79-68.

Ulster features a fast break, good outside shooting and a tenacious defense. If there is a weakness, it's the inconsistent rebounding, mostly due to lack of height.

Returning from last year are captain Tony Marinos, George Wright and Howard Shulman. Aiding this trio are talented first year players Steve Berry, Rick Rodriguez and Ed Connor.

With four talented clubs in action, the first annual event promises to provide some outstanding action and the Auditorium is expected to draw good crowds for both evenings.

Attendance Down Daily Average Up At Monticello

Total attendance was down by 60,192 but the average daily attendance (5536) was up 1.92 per cent during the 1966 season at Monticello Raceway.

The contradiction is explained by the difference in dates. In 1966 there were 117 nights plus four matinees for 121 dates and attendance of 669,889.

In 1965, Monticello played 134 dates, 130 singles and four matinees, with attendance of 730,081.

Total handle was down 2.17 per cent from $45,961,148 in 1965 to $40,601,588 this year. Average handle also dropped from $342,994 to $335,550. A shorter season and bad weather in the opening month were important factors in the shrinking figures.

Other important figures: Top attendance, 14,731 (all-time record on July 16); top daily double payoff, $827; low top double, $24,570; low twin double, $6,400; top perfecta payoff, $54,480; low perfecta payoff, $7,800.

Top drivers — dashes, R. Camper, 61; doubles, R. Camper, 12; triples, G. Gilmour, R. Cormier, 2 each.

Monticello staged 1,096 races and returned $2,756,213 in taxes to the state. Total payoff to bettors was $34,101,054.

Credit Rogers With Bull Rush

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If the Chicago Bulls finally do nail down that playoff spot they are trying for, Guy Rodgers' assistance will be a big factor.

Rodgers had 24 assists Wednesday night — a National Basketball Association high for the year — in leading the Bulls to their fifth consecutive victory, 110-107 over the New York Knicks at Chicago.

Rodgers leads the league in assists with just over 11 per game, and he passed the Knicks just dizzy enough for the Bulls to withstand a final New York rush at victory in the closing minutes.

The Bulls led 95-71 early in the fourth quarter, but with Willis Reed and Howard Komives each scoring 12 points in the final period, the Knicks closed the gap to three points with 39 seconds left.

But the fourth-place Bulls stalled out the remaining seconds and moved just one game away from Detroit, third in the Western Division, and two games back of runner-up St. Louis.

In other NBA games, St. Louis beat Baltimore 118-108 at Charleston, W. Va., and Philadelphia turned back San Francisco 129-123 on the West Coast.

Beacon Bulldogs Bomb SHS

Dutchess Five Wins by, 90-54

Garry McCray fired in 34 points to lead the Beacon High Bulldogs to a 90-54 pounding of Saugerties High, in a DCSL basketball game Wednesday at Beacon.

The Sawyers, who saw their record slip to 1-4, played one of their better games but were murdered off the boards by the high powered Bulldogs.

Beacon, 35-27 leaders at the half, outclassed the Sawyers, 55-33, after the recess. The Bulldogs out-rebounded Saugerties 31-9 off the offensive boards and held a 24-18 edge at the defensive end.

High Scoring Whiz McCray, who was voted the MVP in the loop as a sophomore two years ago but sat out last year for a variety of reasons, is once again gunning for top honors. Saugerties coach Bud Smith said the Bulldog bomber dominated the game in just about every phase.

The Sawyers attack was well-balanced with three men hitting double figures led by George Hollister's 16 points. Ed Mager hit for 14 and Jack Keenen rimmed ten.

Steve Quill was the only other Bulldog in double figures but was the key man on the Beacon fastbreak.

Saugerties is idle over the Christmas vacation. They will face Cardinal Farley in a league game Jan. 6 at home.

The JV's also got bombed by Beacon, 73-26. John Carrington led the locals with nine points.

Award Pittsfield

6th Atlantic Team
MALDEN, Mass. (AP) — The western Massachusetts community of Pittsfield has been awarded the sixth franchise in the new North Atlantic Football League.

Wayne Nourse, assistant commissioner of the new pro league, said the Pittsfield franchise was awarded Wednesday to a group headed by G. Robert Downing, 27, of Hartford, Conn., a former Pittsfield resident.

Other franchises have been granted: Asbury Park, N.J.; Schenectady, N.Y.; Meriden and Bridgeport, Conn.; and Nashua, N.H. An application from Brattleboro, Vt., is under consideration.

3-Sport Standout Sets Season High

Greg Cappillino burned the nets for 40 points last night to lead Highland to a Hard-fought 77-72 victory over host Onteora in a UCCC basketball game.

Cappillino, hitting from the foul line with a high arching jump shot, gunned in 14 points in the first quarter. Onteora rose to the occasion to tie the game at 18 all at the end of the quarter.

John Howland got hot for Onteora in the second quarter, hitting 11 of his 15 points to give the Indians a 37-33 half time lead.

Highland bounced back with 21 points in the third quarter to take a 54-52 lead into the final stanza.

Thwarts Zone Defense

Onteora Coach Wes Kissel went to a 1-3-1 zone defense to stop Cappillino from the outside but Greg moved inside for several key baskets.

In the end it was Cappillino who supplied the final thrust for Highland, hitting 4-5 from the foul line in the last 90 seconds. He was 8-10 from the charity line for the night.

Tom Canino supplied 18 points to the Highland attack while Moore was high for the Indians with his 22. Howland had 15 for the Indians and ace Brian Kelly hit for a dozen. Kelly had some tough luck and was quite a bit off his 26 per scoring average.

The win put Highland at 2-2 in the UCCC while Onteora dropped to 1-3. The Indians take on Marlboro in the Duke's gym in their next outing.

Cousy's Eagles Are Flying High

BOSTON (AP) — Boston College is making a big move for national ranking as New England's only unbeaten major college basketball team.

The Eagles streaked to their eighth victory by overpowering Massachusetts 75-67 for the championship of the first Boston Garden Christmas Basketball Tournament Wednesday night before a crowd of only 2,603.

Coach Bob Cousy proved that he still has a winning touch on the garden court as he guided BC to triumph over previously unbeaten Syracuse and then Massachusetts in the two-day meet.

Syracuse took third place in the tournament by defeating Manhattan 99-87 with the help of a 10-point outburst in the second half. Vaughn Harper scored 26 points and grabbed 21 rebounds for Syracuse, which has a 6-1 mark.

In the only other game involving an Upstate New York team, St. Bonaventure capitalized on a three-point play in the closing minutes for a 57-55 victory of Kent State of Ohio.

Playing in Olean, the Bonnies' Ed Ahearn dropped in a two-point and converted an ensuing foul shot with one minute and 17 seconds to go.

Kent led most of the first half but St. Bonaventure held a 28-23 advantage at halftime.

George Carter had 19 points and Ahearn 13 for St. Bonaventure, which has won four and lost two.

Campbell Debut Thing of Beauty

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kenny Campbell probably will remember the night of Dec. 21, 1966 all his life.

Starting for the first time in his college career, Campbell threw in 38 points to lead the 10th-ranked Vanderbilt Commodores to a 116-92 basketball victory over Northwestern.

A 6-footer from Oak Ridge, Tenn., the 21-year-old Campbell hit on 17 of 26 field goal attempts to tie a Vandy record in the game at Nashville.

Campbell's feat made him the Wednesday college basketball player of the night. His performance overshadowed the return to action tonight of the UCLA Bruins, top-ranked in The Associated Press poll, and Lew Alcindor, their prize 7-foot-1½ sophomore.

UCLA and Alcindor play host to the Colorado State University Rams in the Bruins' first game since routing Duke nearly two weeks ago.

Louisville, No. 2 in the AP poll, No. 5 Michigan State and No. 6 New Mexico also chalked up victories on a night replete with intersectional contests.

Playing at home, Louisville defeated St. Louis 75-68. On the road, Michigan State bounced back from its Tuesday setback by New Orleans Loyola, to whip Tulane 76-66 and the New Mexico Lobos beat Creighton at Omaha 79-68.

Illinois smothered Stanford 81-67, Toledo routed Duquesne 89-58, Oklahoma City downed Baylor 103-89, Purdue took Army in overtime 79-69, Iowa humbled California 72-62, Drake upset Colorado 77-72 and Tulsa overcame Utah State 67-52. All were home court triumphs.

Iowa State exploded for 62 points in the second half to whip Texas 101-87 for the championship of the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz. Boston College beat Massachusetts 75-67 in the final of the Boston Garden Invitational and Akron won the Rubber City Classic in its home town by downing Bucknell 87-60.

Canadiens Top Maple Leafs, 6-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The long-standing feud between the Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs is a perfect arrangement for Yvan Cournoyer.

The Canadiens and Leafs, who set a barrage of Stanley Cup brawling records during the National Hockey League playoffs last spring, went at it again Wednesday night, much to Cournoyer's delight.

The slight right winger, who gets on the ice only on power plays, converted three times while Toronto was short-handed and led the Canadiens to a 6-2 victory over the Leafs.

In other games, New York and Chicago both won and remained tied for the NHL lead. The Rangers got two goals from Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and walloped Boston 5-1 while the Black Hawks got a pair from Bobby Hull and handed Detroit its 14th straight road loss, 6-4.

Davos Resort To Host School

The annual Christmas Race Camp is scheduled Dec. 27-29 at Davos Ski resort at Woodridge, Peter Martini, director of the Davos ski school, announced.

Camp is open to racers from the Rip Van Winkle Ski Council and non-affiliated junior skiers. Registration is limited to 50 skiers. Program includes training in slalom, giant slalom and downhill racing. Lodging and meals at Davos are included.

On the weekends of Jan. 28-29 and February 4-5, Davos will host the United States Eastern Amateur instructors exam.

Martini has raced extensively in Europe and this country and coached racing the last three years in America.

Cementon Club Elects Murray

Thomas Murray, Jr. of Cementon has been elected president of the Cementon Sportsman Association for 1967.

Other officers named at the December meeting were: John Meo, Catskill, vice president; Paul Pavlovich, Saugerties, secretary; Joseph Peckovitch, Cementon, treasurer. Sam Zinkow and Frank Giordano of Cementon were elected trustees.

Year end reports showed the club was active in stocking of fish and game. The club also initiated trap shooting on the clubhouse grounds and opened a new outdoor pavilion.

Opening Games Slated Dec. 26

Eight teams, including Holy Trinity at Utica, have been announced for the first annual Coleman Holiday Basketball Tournament Dec. 26-27-29 at the municipal auditorium.

The tournament entries besides the Utica squad are: St. Francis De Sales of Phoenicia, St. Augustine's (Highland), St. Mary's St. Catherine Labourer, St. Joseph's and Immaculate Conception of Kingston; and St. Mary of the Snow (Saugerties).

First round games scheduled for Monday:

2 p. m.—St. Augustine's vs. St. Francis; 3 p. m.—Holy Trinity vs. St. Mary's (Kingston).

7:30 p. m.—St. Catherine's vs. St. Mary's (Saugerties); 8:30—St. Joseph's vs. Immaculate Conception.

Semi-finals will be played starting at 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday, Dec. 27. The finals are scheduled Thursday, Dec. 29, with presentation of trophies after the contest.

Trophy Awards

Team and individual trophies will be presented to first, second and third place teams and members. Individual trophies will be awarded to the All-Star team and the Most Valuable Player.

The John A. Coleman Trophy will be awarded to the team displaying the best sportsmanship. The tournament is sponsored by John A. Coleman Catholic High School of Kingston and is under the direction of P. J. Taaffe, athletic director at the school. The public is invited and tournament and individual game tickets will be sold at the door.

Jim Nance MVP In American FL

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Nance, the bruising Boston fullback who stopped looking in the mirror for Jim Brown and started shedding weight for Mike Holovak, was named today the Most Valuable Player in the American Football League by The Associated Press.

Nance romped off with the honor just as he did with the AFL's rushing record, polling 20 of the 27 votes cast in The AP poll by three-man committees of sportswriters and sportscasters in each of the nine league cities.

His only competition came from Kansas City quarterback Len Dawson, who guided the Chiefs to the Western Division crown, and his own teammate, linebacker Nick Buoniconti. Dawson received six votes and Buoniconti one.

But Nance completely outdistanced the field by easily breaking the league rushing record and finishing with a total of 1,458 yards gained on the ground—a record unmatched by any sophomore pro with the exception of Brown, who gained 1,527 yards for Cleveland of the National League.

Before Nance could do that, however, he had to start thinking about the weight he was carrying around—both physically and mentally. The mental aspect came from the comparisons made between Brown and Nance, who followed in his footsteps at Syracuse University.

And so Nance went virtually nowhere on the ground in his rookie year last season while his weight went virtually everywhere on his body—and before he knew it he was up around 245 pounds and benched by Coach Holovak. But he did begin to make the transformation in the final four games.

"I forgot Jimmy Brown and the comparisons and for the first time in months I wanted to play football," Nance says honestly. "As for the weight I wasn't playing much—not concentrating on what I was doing—and the weight kept going up while I didn't even notice it."

This year, at a not-so-svelte but oh-so-effective 235 pounds, Nance gained 100 yards or more in eight games and bettered the 200-yard mark on two occasions while bettering the league rushing record of 1,121 yards set by Paul Lowe.

Hockey Strike Is Nearing End

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — The defiant Springfield Indians appeared ready to accept advice of counsel and end a rebellion today against Eddie Shore, hard-nosed owner of the American Hockey League club.

The Indians, who walked out in protest of player suspensions Monday, returned to the ice for a one-hour unsupervised practice Wednesday as Shore tried to obtain other players for a game with Providence Friday night.

The squad worked out after representatives conferred by telephone with Alan Eagleson, a Toronto attorney who represents many hockey stars a sin-dividuals. Eagleson later flew to Springfield.

"I advised the players that they must practice and play Friday night's game, and otherwise honor their contracts," Eagleson said.

Eagleson said he hoped to meet with Shore. However, the fiery club owner, still as tough talking as he was during days as a hard-hitting National Hockey League defenseman, gave no assurance he would see the lawyer.

The Indians have demanded that Shore reinstate four suspended players.

AFL Players Pick

Nine for Third Down Trophy

Nine American Football League players were cited today by NEA (Newspaper Enterprise Association) for its annual Third Down Trophy.

The recipients are recognized for their uncanny ability to execute the crucial play in pro football, the "big one" the winners execute.

Lance Alworth of San Diego is the only repeater from last year. Bobby Burnett, Buffalo Bills' rookie halfback, is the first rookie ever picked by his peers for the NEA team.

The nine players will receive their individual trophies in a halftime ceremony to be televised nationally by NBC-TV at the AFL All-Star game in Oakland, Calif. on Jan. 21.

21,000 Super Bowl Tix Sold in 2 Days

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Super Bowl — championship of the two professional football leagues—has received 21,000 orders for tickets in two days.

The first contest matching the winners of the National and American football leagues will be played Jan. 15 in the 92,000-seat Memorial Coliseum.

A spokesman said the ticket demand was the heaviest in Coliseum history for a short period of time.

Negro Will Call Plays for South

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Negro quarterback will direct the South attack for the first time Monday when college all-star teams tangle in the Orange Bowl in the 19th annual North-South football game.

This will be Hank Washington, 6-foot-3, 205-pound West Texas State passer who was fifth in the nation during the past season with a completion average of 58 per cent.

Washington led the country in total offense until hurting his arm late in the year.

South Coach Darrell Royal of Texas said he would open at quarterback with Bo Burris of Houston but Washington will see half the action.

Rites for Ball Player

GLEN RIDGE, N.J. (AP) — Funeral services will be held Friday for Dr. Edward F. Farrell, a former major league baseball player and native of Johnson City, N.Y., who died Tuesday in St. Barnabas Medical Center at the age of 64.

Farrell, a dentist, was a former infielder for the New York Giants, Boston Braves, Chicago Cubs and New York Yankees. He played in the late 1920s and early 1930s.

Farrell lived in Glen Ridge for the past 26 years.

He leaves his widow, Helen, two sons, and five daughters.

Ski Minne Opens

Ski Minne on the Minnewaska Trail at Lake Minnewaska was one of the first to offer skiing this season.

With the snow making equipment supplying the base and about seven inches of natural snow, both the J-bar and the T-bar lifts were used this past week-end.

More snow has been added the past few days and skiing should be excellent for the Holiday Season.

Dallas Doomsday Defense Plans To Smother Starr

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys' chances of beating Green Bay Jan. 1 for the National Football League championship might well hinge on the performance of their front four.

For the information of Bart Starr, Green Bay's great quarterback, this fearsome foursome has been doing things to quarterbacks that disconcert them, to put it mildly.

The quartet — George Andrie and Willie Townes at ends, Bob Lilly and Jim Colvin at tackles — set a National Football League record for trapping the quarterback this year.

They did it 60 times during the season, three times more than the record set by Baltimore in 1964.

Against Pittsburgh the front four trapped the quarterback 12 times — a single game record.

This foursome average almost 260 pounds a man.

Most of the Soviet Union lies farther north than Minnesota.

Relate Incidents In Forest Service Hot Shots' Work

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some have red scars on their faces, hands swollen to twice normal size, ears partly burned away. Grafted skin criss-crosses raw but healing flesh.

They are the 14 survivors of a 25-man U.S. Forest Service team called El Cariso Hot Shots — specialists in going after the hottest spots of brush fires. They wore Army-style green leathers as a symbol of their reputation.

28th Fire

Rich Leak, 19, recalled from his bed in Los Angeles County General Hospital: "That was my 28th fire in two years. This was a busy summer. We'd been all over the western states. We only had about 10 days off all summer."

Summer had ended, but on the hottest Nov. 1 in local history the Hot Shots had been called from their base in Cleveland

Riverside County. While they were fighting a nearly controlled

2,100-acre fire in Pacoima

Canyon near Los Angeles, a break fire storm flashed over

of flame burned 11 of them fatally.

Ed Cosgrove, 22, an Army veteran, talked about the flames

that burned his face, hands, elbows

and legs and withered his right ear:

"We were strung out in a line, moving down the canyon, cutting

a firebreak. All of a sudden

I could hear Gorden King, the crew chief hollering, 'Get up to the safety zone!' And here came the fire.

"Some of the guys tried to run, but there was no time. As soon as I felt it on my back, I hit the ground and took real

burns out the lungs.

"I just flattened out and covered my head. I don't know how I lived."

The men on either side of him

died.

Professional firefighters said it was the worst disaster among their trade that they could recall.

What of the Hot Shots' future?

Said Cosgrove:

"We're still the best. You'd better believe it. And we're get-

ever."

Release County's Public Welfare Figures for Sept.

Ulster County's Public Assistance and Medical Assistance figures for September were $247,486 according to figures released by the state Department of Social Welfare. It was divided among 5,320 recipients.

According to the Medical Assistance schedule, $100,650 was divided among 1,240 beneficiaries for an average of $87.17 per person.

Under Public Assistance, 281 recipients in 36 families received $3,194 and 1,230 persons under the dependent children program, involving 283 families, received $39,074. Under other portions of the overall assistance program, a total of 2,040 welfare recipients received $73,409; 382 old age recipients got $21,178; and 111 disabled persons received $8,107.

Assistance to the blind totaled $506 to eight persons; and 28 persons on home relief received $1,350.

Statewide, expenditures of $80 million were made in behalf of 912,000 persons, indicating an increase of five per cent in recipients and 28.7 per cent in expenditures over August.

Edelmuth Will Leave Cabinet

Of Garraghan

Former Mayor William F. Edelmuth, who has served as city assessor during this first year of Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan's administration, is not to continue in that post next year, it was learned today.

He will leave it, as of Dec. 31, to devote full time to Gateway

Industries and other interests of which he was recently elected for his 10th term as president.

Mayor Garraghan said he will later announce who is to succeed

Edelmuth.

Long active in Civic and

alted ruler of Kingston Lodge 550,

BPO of Elks, and in 1947 became president of the New York

State Elks Association.

He had served many years as chairman of the U.S. Savings

Bond Division of Ulster County,

Ignatius Loyola Post 1769, Catholic War Veterans. He is a member of the Kingston Veterans Association and has held state offices in veterans groups. He is

Cite 8 in State For Hero Awards By Carnegie Fund

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Eight New York State residents were cited today by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission for acts of heroism. Three of the awards were given posthumously and involved the same act of heroism.

The three posthumous awards went to Ashley Norman Smith, 37, of Sayville; William Earl Shaner, 23, of Ronkonkoma; and James Charles Lawler, 25, of Mastic Beach.

Died in Act

Smith, a park maintenance man, Shaner, a school teacher, and Lawler, a dredge hand, died attempting to help save Leon F. Sirutis from drowning at Sail-or's Haven last May 21.

Sirutis, a 17-year-old schoolboy, was wading in the surf in the Atlantic ocean off Fire Island when he was knocked down by a breaker and swept away from shore by a strong rip tide.

Sirutis was carried to another boy who was wearing a rubber suit and had a surfboard. When they lost the board, they held to each other and called for help.

Smith and Shaner ran to the water's edge, picked up a surfboard, entered the cold water and waded 45 feet from shore in the rip tide area. They then swam 15 feet farther with the board between them. The surf overturned the board, and they were submerged.

Ran 700 Feet

Lawler ran 700 feet to the water's edge and, taking with him a life preserver, he waded and swam to 200 feet from the beach, where Sirutis and the other boy were 10 feet apart in water 10 feet deep.

Lawler, who appeared exhausted, gave the preserver to the boy, who said he did not need it and threw it to Sirutis.

Treading water feebly, Lawler was carried farther seaward. Sirutis and the other boy managed to swim out of the rip tide into an area of breakers, which swept them shoreward. The other boy reached the beach.

James C. Del Giudice, 41, Genesee Drive, Commack, tied a rope around his waist and entered the water, taking with him a surfboard.

While persons on the beach held the end of the rope, Del Giudice waded and swam 60 feet to Sirutis. He held the boy on the board, and the surf swept them into wading water.

Seen Floating

Del Giudice, after helping Sirutis to shore, noticed Smith floating 100 feet from the beach. With the rope still tied around him, he took a life preserver and waded and swam to Smith.

He held Smith on the preserver while those on shore pulled them to the beach. Smith was dead on arrival at a hospital. Bodies of Shaner and Lawler were recovered.

Del Giudice also was cited by the hero commission. He received a bronze medal and $750. The other New York winners:—Edward P. Woodruff Jr., 16, Olean, saved Elaine M. Langdon, 4, from being struck by a train on June 20, 1965. He received a bronze medal and $500.

—Kent Hamilton Brown, 12, Middletown, saved Matthew J. Podniesinski, 6, from drowning on Feb. 10, 1965. He received a bronze medal and $500.

—Myron C. Tucker, Sr., 38, Lake Luzerne, saved an indeterminate number of persons from burning in Corinth, on Nov. 30, 1964. He received a bronze medal and $750.

—Enrique A. Negron, 55, The Bronx, attempted to save a policeman from a gang attack on May 22, 1965. He received a bronze medal and $750.

LBJ Ranch Ready For Christmas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—All is ready for Christmas at the LBJ Ranch, with holly and mistletoe, a tree and turkey.

The family of President Johnson plans to open its gifts Christmas Eve, the Texas White House said today.

Wreaths Are Up
Johnson's ranch house on the banks of the Pedernales River 65 miles west of Austin had Christmas wreaths of green spruce, pine cone and bronze bells on the doors.

The Christmas tree—a 6-foot balsam—was in the President's office. Atop it was an angel in a blue brocade dress, the gift of German friends years ago.

Also among the decorations was a hand-crafted wreath given the President by the Northern Cheyenne Indians of Montana.

The holly and mistletoe came from the ranch land. In one living room, a reindeer head hat rack got a red nose for a stunt as Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer.

Family Gathering
Here for Christmas will be the President and Mrs. Johnson, older daughter Lynda; younger daughter Luci and her husband Patrick J. Nugent; and other relatives the White House did not name.

The main Christmas meal will be served early Christmas afternoon. It will include turkey, both domestic and wild; the traditional cornbread stuffing of the South; string beans with almonds; sweet potatoes with rolls; and cranberry salad.

For dessert, it's ambrosia—orange and coconut—a traditional Southern dish and angel food cake.

Copper coins were introduced in China in the 200's B.C.

North Korea Joins Support of Hanoi With Aerial Tutors

WASHINGTON (AP)—North Korea has joined in the Communist world's support of North Vietnam by supplying a contingent of pilots who apparently are tutoring Hanoi's flyers in aerial operations.

U.S. Intelligence confirmed the presence of 25 to 50 North Koreans in North Vietnam in recent days, it was learned.

Sources said today the North Koreans arrived six to eight weeks ago, but are not known to have participated in any engagements with American planes.

One source categorized the Koreans as counterparts to U.S. military teams assigned to some foreign countries to provide technical training and assistance. Another, however, suggested they might be in North Vietnam for some training of their own in a combat zone.

The exact role of the North Koreans was not spelled out officially but, government spokesmen said, they have been flying out of Hanoi's main bases.

It is too early to attach significance to the North Korean entry into the war picture, sources said.

North Vietnam has a small air force of Soviet-made planes. The Pentagon credits Hanoi with 15 to 20 MIG-17s, 40 to 50 older MIG-15s and MIG-17s and six old Russian IL-28 bombers. There have been unconfirmed reports that the Soviets have provided 100 more planes in recent weeks.

The North Vietnamese planes, however, have not been a major obstacle to U.S. planes striking at military targets in the north. For this reason, and because the administration seeks to avoid escalating the war, the United States has refrained from bombing Hanoi's air bases, officials said.

Officials said North Korea has a competent air force, largely because of Soviet help. The North Korean pilots by and large have been trained by the Soviets and in Soviet planes.

Three Are Injured In Olive Accident

A car owned by Thomas J. Colby, 18, of Easton, Minn., and operated by John Phelan, 20, of Shokan, was involved in an accident on Samsonville Road, Town of Olive, shortly before midnight. Trooper Robert Molloy of Lake Katrine substation investigated.

Taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors' ambulance was the operator of the car, Phelan and the owner, Colby, who received chest injuries. Also injured and taken to Benedictine Hospital, according to the police report, was Louise Vanacore, 18, of Shokan. She suffered a mild concussion and a fractured nose.

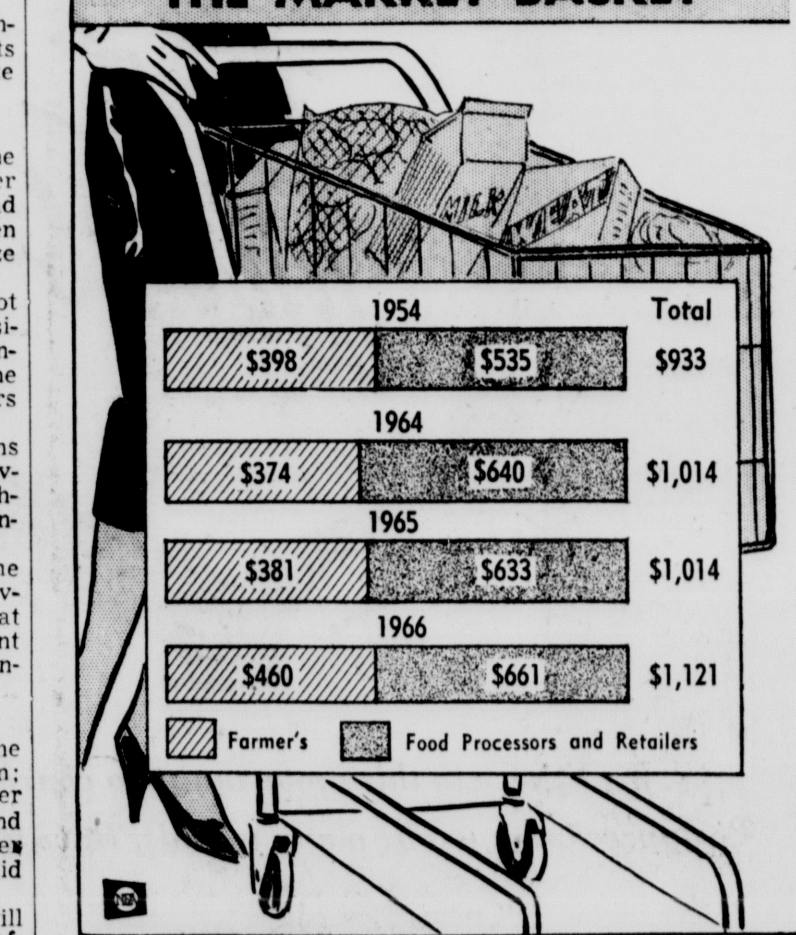

Also in the car, which was traveling north on Samsonville Road, was John Howard, 19, of Spillway Road and Stephen Thayer, 17, of Shokan.

It was reported the operator lost control of the car while negotiating a right curve, skidded on ice went off the left side of the road and struck a tree. The left fender and side of the car was damaged.

One measure of where higher food prices are going is the "Market Basket," an Agriculture Department breakdown of how much of an average family's annual food bill goes to farmers and how much to middlemen, the food processors and retailers. The department's figures show that this year the farmer's share, after lagging behind increases in the rest of the economy or more than a decade, rose substantially. Coupled with continuing increases in the middlemen's share, it brought the market basket bill to a new high.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced today on the heaviest trading of the week, lending hope to Wall Street that a typical vanguard rally may be in the making.

The tradition for a rise in stock prices between Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve is a very strong one. Prices gained ground in anticipation of this, brokers said, and also in a logical rebound from four days of decline.

The advance gathered strength despite the tendency of the market to pull back on Thursdays.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.9 at 296.6 with industrials up 2.5, rails up 1.3 and utilities up 1.0. Metals, aerospace issues, tobacco, drugs and motors were among the advancing groups.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.62 at 881.05.

Wilson & Co. was up 6 at 61 1/2 on 15,000 shares after rising to 61 1/2 on a 20,000-share block. Ling-Temco-Vought has offered $62 a share for 750,000 shares of the stocks. LTV rose more than 3.

American Broadcasting was up 2 1/2 at 87 1/2. International Telephone was off a fraction.

Late Wednesday the Federal Communications Commission gave a green light to the proposed merger of ABC with IT&T.

Anacoda climbed 3 points. Xerox 2, New York Central nearly 2.

Western Union rose 1 1/2 to 38 1/2 on 20,000 shares.

HERCULES LISTS SITE

Hercules Incorporated today announced its 80-million-gallon methanol plant would be built on the Mississippi River in Iberville parish, Louisiana. An application for a municipal bond issue was filed today with parish authorities, for voter approval, to finance purchase of land and to construct the plant. Decision to build the methanol plant was disclosed by Hercules last week. The company has two other methanol plants in Missouri and California.

The plant would be built to replace the clubhouse razed by fire on June 6.

Planning Board Says Study Of Historic Site Near End

The Ulster County Planning Board noted at its recent meeting that a survey of historic buildings in the county is about 75 per cent completed.

The Junior League of Kingston, composed of women from all over the county, has been assisting the planning board by cataloging all buildings built prior to 1850. The location of each building surveyed has been mapped as well as listed and described as to its historical significance.

Twelve members attended the annual planning board meeting held in the County Office Building. In attendance were: Kenneth Clark, Raymond Crutcher, Deyo Johnson, Wilford Kopp, John Kuehn, Alan McCorkle, John Scribano, Reiner Thibben, William van Benschoten, Benjamin Webster; planning director, Richard Ehler, and secretary, Ronell E. Braun.

Webster was reelected chairman of the planning board for 1967. Webster had filled the unexpired term of Ralph Brach, who resigned in the fall of 1966.

Webster is a Woodstock resident and is also the chairman of the Woodstock Town Planning Board, and has been active in planning in Woodstock since the late 1940's. Webster is also a member of the Board of Directors of Central Hudson for the past three years.

Clifford Beal, a resident of the Town of Lloyd and also active on the Town of Lloyd Planning Board and its present chairman, was reelected for his second term as secretary of the board. Beal has been with Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company for the past 25 years, and has served as claims manager for Central Hudson since 1953.

Comprehensive Plan
In March of 1966, the planning board started preparation of a prospectus for a county comprehensive planning program. Several meetings were held with the Industrial Development Committee of the board of supervisors.

The board of supervisors authorized the planning board to make application to the appropriate state and federal agencies last month, and application was filed with the New York State Office of Planning Coordination on December 9, and with the Regional Office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development on December 16.

The County comprehensive plan will seek an overview of future development in the county by analyzing the various assets and liabilities of the county and seeking solutions to county-wide problems through county action or cooperative municipal action wherever desirable and feasible. The plan will not only be useful to county and local governments and planning boards, but also to the private groups and businessmen in their future planning. Once the application is approved by the state and federal agencies, the program is slated to be completed in four years.

County Water Study
The intermunicipal water study commenced in February. Inventories of present water usage, supply and distribution were completed early in the study. Future water demands have been projected for study areas. Engineers have investigated surface sources such as possible upland sources, as well as the Hudson River as a source. Investigation of ground water resources is now underway along with the legal investigation of New York City reservoirs as a future source of supply.

The final report is expected to be available in February of 1968 and is expected to be of such detail that decisions regarding the best alternatives for water sources, treatment and transmission and approximate cost and financing methods of each alternative can be readily evaluated. However, the final report is not expected to be detailed conclusion drawn from which actual construction can immediately follow.

Federal-State Aid Coordination
The supervisors designated the County Planning Board as a clearing house for information and assistance regarding state and federal aid programs, and several municipalities took advantage of this service in 1966.

The Planning Board prepared specifications for property maps, acceptable to the State Board of Equalization and Assessment to insure that if state legislation were passed to make county property maps mandatory then Ulster's proposal would be eligible. Later the board arranged interviews with the three consultants that presented proposals to prepare property maps and record system for Ulster County with a committee composed of three supervisors, president of the assessors association, and two county planning board members. A final report was prepared and presented to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors recommending that the county enter into such a program.

Local Assistance
The planning director has worked full time on the major programs of the planning board besides providing research and information on a daily basis to business and industry interested in locating Ulster County. The planning director continued to provide technical assistance to local planning boards that requested assistance in 1966, as well as work with state and federal agencies and answer all requests for information and assistance.

Over 200 persons attended the Conference on Natural Beauty sponsored by the New Paltz State University College at New Paltz. As shown by the attendance and by the transcript of that conference, Ulster's citizens are interested in the preservation of the important assets of this County, and also that there are a variety of approaches to accomplish that task.

Sewerage Study
The supervisors designated the county planning board as the agency to pursue a county-wide sewerage planning study in October. The Planning Board and Health Department prepared an application in December which was filed with the State Department of Health.

The Data Book information and format was completely revised for the 1966 edition. The new Data Book contained more maps and charts than previously, and several sections were enlarged since the last edition.

Over 300 Data Books were distributed free to local government planning boards, schools, and institutions in the first week after it was published, and over 200 books were purchased in the last quarter of 1966.

Find Body of Buffalo Woman Cut, Beaten
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The beaten and stabbed body of a biochemist's wife was found today in her home and detectives said they wanted to question her husband.

A babysitter, arriving to care for an infant, discovered the body of Mrs. Teresa Freeman, 36, just inside an entrance of the house on the city's north side, police said.

Mrs. Freeman's daughter, under one year of age, was alone in the house. Police said the infant was unharmed.

Detective Chief Ralph V. DeGenthart said the body had been wrapped in newspapers and an attempt had been made to burn the paper.

He said nothing in the house had been disturbed and suggested robbery was not the motive.

Mrs. Freeman's husband, James, was reported to have gone to New York City Tuesday.

Homicide detectives said they had issued an alarm for him. Freeman owns a clinical laboratory at 163 Broadway.

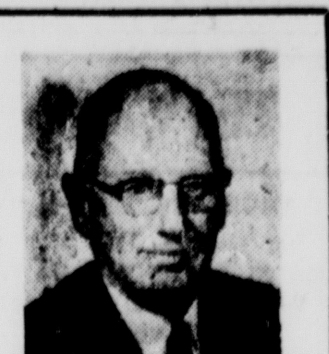

His home is at 224 Highgate St.

Local police said early this afternoon that they had received no trace of the car of Anita Schoonmaker, of Box 172-A, Route 3, Kingston, reported stolen Wednesday afternoon. It was taken from near 38 St. James Street.

Recession - Resistant
Stocks for Special Gifts

Q "I would like to give our three children—ages 17, 19 and 21—Christmas gifts of high grade stocks and would appreciate your advice. We are interested in longterm growth for them and current return is no consideration. We would like to follow this program every year for all special occasions."

—W.C.

A I am glad to advise you on such a thoughtful objective. There is a minimum commission of $6 on purchases of $100 or more so that it would be to your advantage to buy individual issues in multiples of $400 to $500, if you are in a position to do so. I am not going to recommend for your purpose such ultra-fast growth stocks as Polaroid or Xerox, since these are highly volatile and sell at well over 50 times earnings.

I prefer issues with above average growth which seem able to resist any future recession. My selections would include American Hospital Supply; Bristol-Myers and Avon Products. As further suggestions, I like Plough, Inc.; Litton Industries and General Foods.

Q "I am interested in city or state tax-exempt bonds which you often mention. Are they like E bonds? Is the interest paid monthly or yearly and are they safe? I worry greatly about the safety factor."

Paper-like Garb Available Again, Pass Calif. Test

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A fire department order for a department store chain to stop selling paper-like dresses has been rescinded, and the dresses are back on sale.

The dresses — priced from $2 to $40 — passed state tests and were found acceptable, said Fire Capt. Jake Dukes. They were ordered removed from sale at Joseph Magnin Stores after a customer questioned whether they were safe.

"The dress tested by officials of the Los Angeles Fire Department was not a paper garment," said Louis Segal, fire prevention chemist — engineer with the state fire marshal's office. "It was a polyester plastic imposed on glass fibers."

"This material is indeed flammable, but no more so than many dresses hanging in closets all over the United States," Segal said.

Winter Bows In Officially

Albany, N. Y. (AP) — Winter began on a quiet note for most New York State residents at 2:29 a.m. today.

The Weather Bureau said light snow or flurries would greet the new season, but indicated no major storms were in the offing. Temperatures dipped into the teens overnight and edged into the high 20s during the day.

Four American Women to Arrive in Hanoi Today

MOSCOW (AP) — Four American women were expected to arrive in Hanoi today. They hope to meet with North Vietnamese leaders and to see how American bombing raids have affected North Vietnam.

The women all affiliated with peace organizations, left Moscow late Sunday night. They were invited by the Women's Union of North Vietnam and promised a meeting with President Ho Chi Minh in Hanoi.

A spokesman for the women's organization, reached by telephone in Hanoi, said the Americans had not arrived yet. She said she did not know when they would arrive or where they would stay and refused to answer other questions.

The Americans have planned to spend 10-14 days in the North Vietnamese capital.

A spokesman for Aeroflot, the Soviet airline, said the plane the Americans took from Moscow landed in Peking Tuesday. The airline said there are two planes a week from Peking to Hanoi, on Monday and on Thursday. The Americans were expected to take today's plane.

They are Mrs. Joe Griffith, 32, of Itasca, N.Y.; Mrs. Grace Newman, 39, of New York City; Miss Barbara Deming, 49, of Cape Cod, Mass.; and Mrs. Diane Bevel, 24, of Chicago.

A spokesman for the Chinese embassy in Moscow, asked about their activities in Peking, said, "We do not know anything. It is impossible for us to get information on this subject."

Delay Ordering 1,800 Back to Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal appeals court delayed today—possibly until late Friday afternoon—a decision on whether 1,800 striking steelworkers will have to go back to work at a Kokomo, Ind., factory producing materials needed to manufacture warplanes for Vietnam.

The three-judge U.S. Court of Appeals extended until 5 p.m. (EST) Friday a stay in execution of an order by U.S. Dist. Judge Leonard P. Walsh ordering the strike halted for 80 days under the Taft-Hartley law.

Impractical Theft

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — A thief snatched from a car what may be some impractical loot — unless he's a large thief.

The loot was clothing belonging to Jim Srodes, on the staff of recently elected Congressman Nick Galifianakis in North Carolina's 5th district. Srodes was en route from Washington to his family home in Tampa, Fla.

The thief should be easy to spot if he tries to wear the suits. Srodes is a 290-pounder and wears size 48 extra long.

City Teachers See Experimental Teaching Method

Some 30 math teachers from Kingston High School and the two junior high schools attended a seminar-workshop at IBM Kingston. The session was arranged by Edgar Stevens, head of the Kingston City Schools mathematics department, with the cooperation of Sam Fratoni, of IBM.

Francis Stern-Montagny, former Kingston Board of Education member employed by IBM suggested a strong emphasis on mathematics for all students, including potential school dropouts. He pointed out that almost every vocation requires math in some form. Simple or basic math is part of everyday work.

Thomas Armstrong, of IBM personnel department, explained the testing program used by the corporation in selecting people for particular positions. He pointed out that arithmetic reasoning is the best single predictor of success in almost every field.

Joseph Whitaker, instructor in customer engineering, then introduced the main topic of the meeting—Computer Assisted Instruction—a highly sophisticated type of teaching device using an IBM computer. At the outset, it was made very clear that this program is in the experimental stages. By means of a typewriter input, an instructor or teacher can create a course of study which is stored in the memory bank of a computer. A person or student wishing to take the course would need to have available a typewriter terminal connected to the computer. The student simply types the answers to the questions presented by the computer on a printed sheet. The questions are presented one at a time and a correct answer is required before the next question is asked. If the student fails to answer correctly, then the computer will go back and lead the student through a different sequence of questions in order to correct the mistake.

Whitaker also listed several distinct advantages of such instruction and gave each teacher an opportunity to write a short unit of study into the computer so they could see how such a unit would appear to students.
